Hammarskjold In Talks With Egypt To Protect Peace

LONDON, Nov. 16 (UP) — United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold conferred with Egyptian President Gamal-Abdel Nasser in Cairo Friday night in urgent negotiations to save the Middle East truce.

As the talks got underway, Britain reported that Egyptian saboteurs struck at Port Said's water supply in an apparent attempt to blockade Anglo-French occupation troops in the uneasy city.

Hammarskjold flew into the Suez Canal zone with the second contingent of 100 soldiers of the UN international emergency force, marshaled to prevent a new outbreak of war in Egypt.

He hastily inspected the blue-helmeted peace troops, then flew on to Cairo where he plunged into talks with Nasser and other Egyptian officials. The talks were aimed at lifting the last roadblocks to actual deployment of the international troops.

It was understood that Hammarskjold told Nasser during their 90-minute conference that the occupation force will be bound only by the UN assembly resolution to preserve peace.

Sources said he told the Egyptian president the UN would be impartial and would not recognize unilateral demands from other "interested parties" in carrying out its mission.

But the UN mission was threatened by reports that saboteurs breached Port Said's only water supply line during the night.

The water level dropped dangerously at the Port Said end of the "sweet water" canal, which carries drinking water to the arid Suez Canal zone from the Nile river at Cairo. The break was located at El Qantara, in Egyptian held territory just south of Ango-French lines.

Prime Minister Anthony Eden ordered an investigation of the sabotage. But a spokesman said it was up to the UN to take "further steps." At the same time, the British admiralty said Egyptian authorities have laid mines in the approaches to Alexandria, Egypt's main port on the Mediterranean and headquarters of the Egyptian fleet.

Hammarskjold's trip to Cairo coincided with these other far-flung developments in the Middle East crisis:

Fifty Colombian and 50 Norwegian soldiers arrived at Abu Suweir airfield near Ismailia to boost UN police forces already in the zone to 192. Hundreds of other troops were backed up in the Na-

Mine, Mill And Smelter Leaders Indicted As Reds

DENVER, Nov. 16 —UP— A federal grand jury Friday indicted 14 officials of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers on charges they filed false anti-Communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board.

The indictments specifically alleged conspiracy to defraud the federal government by seeking the services of the NLRB without qualifying for them.

Named as "co - conspirators" were four Communist leaders in the nation, though these four were not indicted.

Federal District Judge Jean S. Breitenstein issued warrants for arrest of all 14 and set bonds for each at $5,000.

The 14 included the following:

Maurice Travis, San Pablo, Calif., former union president who previously was convicted of falsely denying Communist Party affiliation. He was sentenced to eight years in prison and only this week appealed for a reversal

Navy Orders New Task Force Into Atlantic Waters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (UP)— The Navy disclosed Friday it will send another powerful task force into the Atlantic Monday headed by the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

The force also will include the attack carrier Lake Champlain and a number of destroyers. It will engage in a "training operation" between Norfolk, Va., and Mayport, Fla.

The nation's long-range strategic bombing force apparently is engaged in stepped-up exercises within the continental United States.

There also was speculation another naval task force, probably built around two aircraft carriers, may be dispatched to the Indian Ocean area on the other side of the Suez Canal.

Defense officials have declared the stepped-up U.S. military actions are not intended to be "provocative" but are "prudent" in view of the war activity and threats in the Middle East.

The Air Force said its strategic bomber activity was "routine training" which was not linked necessarily with the Middle East crisis but was not divorced from it entirely either.

While the naval movements were described merely as 'training," the show of force even across the Atlantic could not help but be observed by belligerents or would-be belligerents in crisis areas.

Deployment of the Saratoga and the Champlain will bring to 15 the number of U.S. aircraft carriers now arrayed in the Pacific, Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

East Coast, Gulf Ports Paralyzed By Strikers; 10,000 Idle At Orleans

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 —UP— Striking longshoremen tired up cargo ships Friday on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. The walkout threatened to spread to the West Coast, Alaska and Hawaii.

Some 50,000 members of the Independent International Longshoremen's Association idled ports from Portland, Me., to Houston, Tex. More than 200 merchant ships, many bulging with Christmas cargo, were stranded by the walkout. Longshoremen handled only military cargo at Army and Navy docks.

Cost of the strike was placed at $20 million a day by the New York Board of Trade which asked President Eisenhower to declare a national emergency and invoke the Taft-Hartley law.

'This is by far one of the biggest threats which we have faced to the economic well-being of the people of our country in several years," the board said in a tele-

British Jamming Cairo Radio After 'Wild Statements'

PORT SAID, Egypt, Nov. 16 (AP)— The commander of British-French forces in Egypt announced today they were jamming Cairo radio in an attempt to block out "some very wild statements which are unsettling the population."

Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell said the jamming started last night. Earlier Cairo radio had been broadcasting a report that the British yesterday had bombed Port Said again because of continuing Egyptian resistance.

Stockwell said the Egyptian population here in Port Said "are in fact settling down very well."

"I feel more thoroughly relaxed than I have for some time," Stockwell told a news conference.

Abnormally Cold, Wet Weather In South Forecast

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Weather Bureau expects the next 30 days to be a little cooler than normal for this time of year in much of the nation.

A midmonth report today said: "The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for the period from mid-November to mid-December calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over most of the nation except for above normal in west coast states and in the northern plains. Greatest departures are indicated in states bordering the Gulf of Mexico.

"Precipitation amounts in excess of normal are expected along the Gulf coast and Atlantic seaboard. Subnormal amounts are predicted west of the Continental Divide and in the upper Mississippi Valley. In other areas about normal precipitation is indicated."

Jackson Hopeful Teachers' Salary Fund To Be Found

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 16 (AP) — Education Supt. Shelby Jackson said today he is "confident that Louisiana will find a way to pay our teachers adequately."

He issued a statement urging teachers to "uphold their splendid professional standards and see to it that Louisiana's children are not denied their heritage to secure an education."

The 1956 Legislature approved a higher salary schedule, then killed a tax bill to finance it. With the Louisiana Teachers Assn. convention opening next Monday at New Orleans, some teachers are calling for a strike.

"We appreciate the co-operation of the Legislature, state officials and the people in providing the funds that we now have," said Jackson, "but it is urgent that sufficient dedicated revenues be provided immediately to implement the new salary schedule.

"We earnestly solicit the whole-hearted co-operation of every citizen in the state to work on a nonpartisan basis immediately with the Legislature, state officials and school people in realizing these obectives so that every boy and girl can have the best teachers possible at all times."

Cool Weather To Last Another Day

Partly cloudy and continued cool with occassional rain was forecast for Louisiana today. Sunday is expected to be cloudy but a little warmer.

Arkansas is expected to be fair and warm with the temperatures in the low 60's.

The maximum temperature recorded at Selman field Friday was 52, and the low was 40 degrees.

'If Sales Tax Doesn't Pass'

Howard Outlines Program Of Austerity For Monroe

Speakng before the Monroe Optimist Club, Mayor Jack Howard yesterday outlined steps, including the closing down of the City Zoo, that will be taken to offset Monroe's deficiency of $917,136 to operate the city in 1957 if his proposed one-cent sales tax fails in the November 27 election.

In explaining his reasons for proposing the five year tax, Howard said that unless "drastic measures" are taken by January 1 the city would not have enough money to properly maintain its three principal departments — fire, street and police.

With an actual debt currently running at over $15 million dollars, the city will need, according to a booklet circulated at the meeting by Howard, $2,346,662 for operation funds.

The mayor pointed out that the general fund income at the present is $1,429,526 leaving a deficiency in operating funds of $917,136 annually.

"We have borrowed all we can borrow and we can't pay it back," he said. "Right now we're receiving items marked C.O.D."

Howard's program in case the tax fails will include, he said, the following steps:

1. City Zoo will be closed down, a step that will save the city $10,000;
2. Rates will be raised on the City Golf Course, will make $7,000;
3. City parks will be closed down will save $21,000;
4. Admittance charges to Swayze Natatorium, will make $21,000;
5. Fire Department will be cut from 100 men to 75, will save between $100,000 and $115,000;
6. Street Department will be cut by 40 to 50 per cent, will save approximately $150,000;

U. S. Wins Effort To Prevent Seating Of Peiping Regime

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP) — A feud apveloped today between Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) and Indian diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon as the U. N. General Assembly shelved for another year the issue of whether to seat Communist China.

Menon, head of the Indian delegation, blasted Knowland, a member of the U. S. delegation, for a statement the senator made last night accusing him of fronting for Russia on the issue. Menon said it was "a disservice to the cause of international friendship." He called on the chief U. S. delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., to disown the statement, but Lodge declined to comment.

Knowland, who had given out the pronouncement on behalf of himself alone, told reporters, "The results speak for themselves. My statement stands."

Texan Claims He Killed Motorist Near Alexandria

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—A 22-year-old Texan today walked into headquarters and told police he killed a man between Lake Charles and Alexandria Wednesday morning and drove his car into a roadside bayou.

Detective Sgt. John Pinero said the man, identified as Dalton Rayford of Tyler, Tex., told officers, "I'd like to make a confession of a killing."

Rayford said the unidentified man made an indecent proposal to him and he struck the victim several blows at the back of his head.

He said the man failed to respond and appeared dead so he concluded that he killed him.

Rayford told officers he drove the car onto a side road, depressed the accelerator with a pencil and headed the car into the bayou. The victim was in the car, he said.

Rayford was hitchhiking from Tyler to Houston, he said, when the man picked him up.

He described the victim as about 30, short, and weighing about 142 pounds, and said he was driving a 1953-1954 model car with an Alabama license plate.

Rayford said he hitchhiked to Beaumont, Tex., but then decided to turn himself in because his conscience was worrying him. A man who gave him a ride to New Orleans advised him to tell police his story, he said, after he asked advice.

Police said Rayford did not know in which of three parishes between Alexandria and Lake Charles the alleged slaying took place. He was held for authorities in Rapides, Allen and Calcasieu parishes.

Rebel Bands Free 1,000 Comrades In Attacks On Hungarian Rail Traffic

VIENNA, Nov. 16 (UP) — Hungarian rebels raided a railroad station and rescued more than 1,000 of their comrades from a train deporting them to Russian slave camps, eyewitness reports from Budapest said Friday night.

Sabotage was reported on rail lines to the Soviet Union as the Hungarians struck back against the deportation of freedom fighters.

But the solid phalanx of striking workers was reported cracking under the promises of puppet Premier Janos Kadar for a three-phase Soviet troop withdrawal and establishment of a coalition government.

The Budapest Central Workers Council voted over strong opposition to end the nationwide strike Saturday.

But rebels continued to call for support against the regime.

Military resistance now appeared to be centered on efforts to save rebels from seizure and deportation to Russia.

Students were reported to be the particular target of the Russians.

Dramatic Escape

Romanian Family Flees Communism At Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 16 (UP) —A Romanian family broke away from communism Friday in a daring escape from officials of the Romanian embassy who seized their baby in a vain attempt to use him as a hostage.

Hundreds of Argentines gathered in the street outside the embassy and cheered as they watched the family's successful bolt for freedom.

The street drama unfolded after the father, an embassy employe, had been convicted by a kangaroo court of becoming "too bourgoise" and ordered deported to his Communist homeland.

Argentines rescued the mother, Mrs. George Coman, when she climbed over a second story balcony of the building and dangled over the ground, screaming for help. Her kidnaped nine-month-old son later was handed over to Argentine officials who protested that since he was born here he was an Argentine citizen.

A crowd of 300 saw the rescue of Mrs. Coman by stepladder and cheered when the baby was borne from the building.

Mrs. Coman said she had been menaced by Minister Anton Moisescu with a burning cigaret lighter and beaten about the face and body with fists. She said she was told her baby would be killed.

"They are pigs," Mrs. Coman said after her ordeal. "They would have killed us."

Mrs. Coman, 29, her husband George, an embassy chauffeur and their two children were being escorted from the embassy to drive to the airport when they began to resist their return to their homeland.

Coman, 31, pulled a pistol which he had taken from Moisescu's desk and started to run with his four-year-old son, Gig, toward a policeman. He shouted to his wife to follow with the baby, Luciano.

Marine Gets One Year, Cashiered For Mistreatment

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Nov. 16 (UP)— A 19-year-old Marine who enforced his men's physical training with a bared bayonet drew a sentence of one year at hard labor and a bad conduct banishment from the corps Friday.

A 10 - member general court martial sentenced Frederick A. Renton of New York City, to imprisonment, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, a bad conduct discharge and reduction from private first class to private.

Renton, a former drill instructor at this sprawling Marine "Boot Camp," pleaded guilty to two charges that he forced recruits to balance on their toes and elbows over a bayonet pointed at their stomachs.

The court, in a two-day trial, convicted him of knocking a recruit to his knees, and of violating a base regulation forbidding instructors from touching recruits except to correct their clothing or posture.

The court, which convicted Renton Thursday, deliberated 41 minutes Friday before bringing in the sentence. Renton, a dark-haired youth, stood at attention while the edict was read.

His attorney hustled the youth and his mother, who witnessed the trial, into a nearby room where they refused to talk to a reporter.

Renton was later returned to the brig where he has been confined since being convicted of violating a restricted status shortly after the mistreatment charges against him were filed. He was broken from corporal to Pfc for violating restriction.

Renton's conviction and sentence will be automatically reviewed by convening authorities before the verdict is final. The charges against him were the most serious filed here since the April 8 "death march" drowning of six recruits.

Hoover Blasts Russian Action Against Rebels

Cites Rejection Of UN Inspectors By Kadar Regime

UNITED NATIONS, Nov. 16 (UP) — The United States called Friday for immediate United Nations action to end the forcible deportation of free Hungarians to Siberia.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. said the U.S. would support any changes in the schedule of the current General Assembly to permit the Hungarian fighting and deportations to be considered at once.

"We cannot remain silent," Hoover said in a policy speech at the start of the assembly's general debate, "while Hungarian men, women and children are forcibly deported because they dared to express their patriotic feelings in defiance of their Soviet oppressors.

"That is why the U. S. believes that the assembly must take an immediate initiative to meet this tragic situation."

Hoover, representing the recuperating Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, spoke a few hours after the assembly, by a 47-24 vote with 8 abstentions, decided to give no consideration to Red China's demand for the Chinese UN seat for at least another year.

Debate on the Chinese issue was marked by a bristling reply by India V. K. Krishna Menon to Sen. William F. Knowland criticism of the Indian as "floor leader for the Soviet drive to bring Communist China into the UN." Knowland, Krishna Menon said, should "go to see a doctor or a psychopath, or something."

The brunt of Hoover's speech was on the Hungarian situation.

"Soviet forces have not been withdrawn," he said. "We now hear shocking reports that the barbarism of mass deportation is being inflicted on the Hungarian people...

Total Eclipse Of Moon Scheduled For Late Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP) — There'll be magic in the sky tomorrow night when the moon goes into total eclipse.

Joseph M. Chamberlain, chairman of the Hayden Planetarium here, said the full moon will start to enter the faint shadow of the earth about 10 p.m. CST.

About two and one-half minutes later, he said, the darker inner shadow of the earth will begin to cover the moon's face. By about 12:08 a.m. Sunday morning, the moon will be completely covered by the darker shadow.

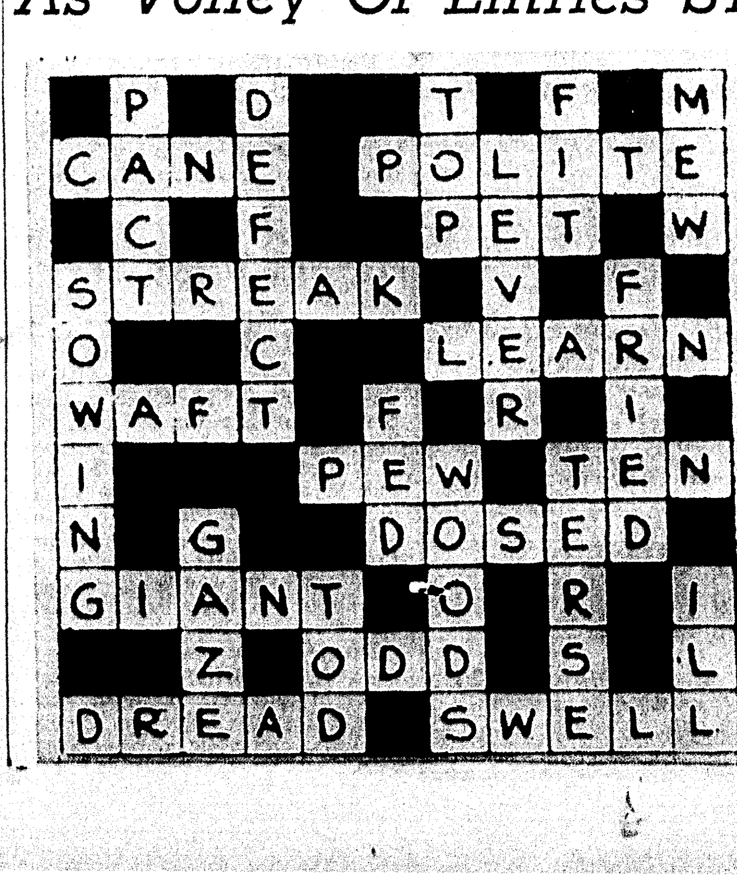
This will be the only total eclipse of the moon this year and the last one visible in the United States until 1960.

The ancients often referred to the eclipse as "blood on the moon" and as an "omen of trouble."

Actually, the change in the moon's appearance will be caused by its moving completely into the path of the earth's great shadow. The sun will be on one side of the earth and the moon on the other. As the eclipse becomes total most of the sun's rays will be shut off from the moon because the earth will be in the way.

The moon still will be visible. Its color will be a shade of red, depending on the amount of haze in the atmosphere.

$175 Crossword Jackpot Is Spared As Volley Of Entries Short Of Mark



By BONANZA BILL

There were no winners in this week's Morning World Crossword puzzle competition, and the jackpot worth $175 was spared.

This means that the jackpot offered with the next edition of the crossword puzzle which will be published in the World Monday and Tuesday, will carry a value of $200.

Here are explanations of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzle solution:

CLUES ACROSS:

6. The word "sport" suggests CANE rather than CASE as the CASE could be quite dignified. A "lad" would hardly wear a CAPE.

7. POLITE is preferred. The clue says "you are not likely to". This does not suit POLICE for you not only definitely WILL NOT gain anything (there is no "not likely to" about it) by abusing the POLICE but you will probably lose something - your liberty possibly or the financial obligation of a fine. With ordinary POLITE men you are not likely to gain anything

He issued a statement urging teachers to "uphold their splendid professional standards and see to it that Louisiana's children are not denied their heritage to secure an education."

The 1956 Legislature approved a higher salary schedule, then killed a tax bill to finance it. With the Louisiana Teachers Assn. convention opening next Monday at New Orleans, some teachers are calling for a strike.

"We appreciate the co-operation of the Legislature, state officials and the people in providing the funds that we now have," said Jackson, "but it is urgent that sufficient dedicated revenues be provided immediately to implement the new salary schedule.

"We earnestly solicit the whole-hearted co-operation of every citizen in the state to work on a nonpartisan basis immediately with the Legislature, state officials and school people in realizing these obectives so that every boy and girl can have the best teachers possible at all times."

Cool Weather To Last Another Day

Partly cloudy and continued cool with occassional rain was forecast for Louisiana today. Sunday is expected to be cloudy but a little warmer.

Arkansas is expected to be fair and warm with the temperatures in the low 60's.

The maximum temperature recorded at Selman field Friday was 52, and the low was 40 degrees.

UN Votes To Shelve Debate On Red China

U. S. Wins Effort To Prevent Seating Of Peiping Regime

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP) — A feud apveloped today between Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) and Indian diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon as the U. N. General Assembly shelved for another year the issue of whether to seat Communist China.

Menon, head of the Indian delegation, blasted Knowland, a member of the U. S. delegation, for a statement the senator made last night accusing him of fronting for Russia on the issue. Menon said it was "a disservice to the cause of international friendship." He called on the chief U. S. delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., to disown the statement, but Lodge declined to comment.

Knowland, who had given out the pronouncement on behalf of himself alone, told reporters, "The results speak for themselves. My statement stands."

Texan Claims He Killed Motorist Near Alexandria

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—A 22-year-old Texan today walked into headquarters and told police he killed a man between Lake Charles and Alexandria Wednesday morning and drove his car into a roadside bayou.

Detective Sgt. John Pinero said the man, identified as Dalton Rayford of Tyler, Tex., told officers, "I'd like to make a confession of a killing."

Rayford said the unidentified man made an indecent proposal to him and he struck the victim several blows at the back of his head.

He said the man failed to respond and appeared dead so he concluded that he killed him.

Rayford told officers he drove the car onto a side road, depressed the accelerator with a pencil and headed the car into the bayou. The victim was in the car, he said.

Rayford was hitchhiking from Tyler to Houston, he said, when the man picked him up.

He described the victim as about 30, short, and weighing about 142 pounds, and said he was driving a 1953-1954 model car with an Alabama license plate.

Rayford said he hitchhiked to Beaumont, Tex., but then decided to turn himself in because his conscience was worrying him. A man who gave him a ride to New Orleans advised him to tell police his story, he said, after he asked advice.

Police said Rayford did not know in which of three parishes between Alexandria and Lake Charles the alleged slaying took place. He was held for authorities in Rapides, Allen and Calcasieu parishes.

Rebel Bands Free 1,000 Comrades In Attacks On Hungarian Rail Traffic

VIENNA, Nov. 16 (UP) — Hungarian rebels raided a railroad station and rescued more than 1,000 of their comrades from a train deporting them to Russian slave camps, eyewitness reports from Budapest said Friday night.

Sabotage was reported on rail lines to the Soviet Union as the Hungarians struck back against the deportation of freedom fighters.

But the solid phalanx of striking workers was reported cracking under the promises of puppet Premier Janos Kadar for a three-phase Soviet troop withdrawal and establishment of a coalition government.

The Budapest Central Workers Council voted over strong opposition to end the nationwide strike Saturday.

But rebels continued to call for support against the regime.

Military resistance now appeared to be centered on efforts to save rebels from seizure and deportation to Russia.

Students were reported to be the particular target of the Russians.

Dramatic Escape

Romanian Family Flees Communism At Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 16 (UP) —A Romanian family broke away from communism Friday in a daring escape from officials of the Romanian embassy who seized their baby in a vain attempt to use him as a hostage.

Hundreds of Argentines gathered in the street outside the embassy and cheered as they watched the family's successful bolt for freedom.

The street drama unfolded after the father, an embassy employe, had been convicted by a kangaroo court of becoming "too bourgoise" and ordered deported to his Communist homeland.

Argentines rescued the mother, Mrs. George Coman, when she climbed over a second story balcony of the building and dangled over the ground, screaming for help. Her kidnaped nine-month-old son later was handed over to Argentine officials who protested that since he was born here he was an Argentine citizen.

A crowd of 300 saw the rescue of Mrs. Coman by stepladder and cheered when the baby was borne from the building.

Mrs. Coman said she had been menaced by Minister Anton Moisescu with a burning cigaret lighter and beaten about the face and body with fists. She said she was told her baby would be killed.

"They are pigs," Mrs. Coman said after her ordeal. "They would have killed us."

Mrs. Coman, 29, her husband George, an embassy chauffeur and their two children were being escorted from the embassy to drive to the airport when they began to resist their return to their homeland.

Coman, 31, pulled a pistol which he had taken from Moisescu's desk and started to run with his four-year-old son, Gig, toward a policeman. He shouted to his wife to follow with the baby, Luciano.

Marine Gets One Year, Cashiered For Mistreatment

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Nov. 16 (UP)— A 19-year-old Marine who enforced his men's physical training with a bared bayonet drew a sentence of one year at hard labor and a bad conduct banishment from the corps Friday.

A 10-member general court martial sentenced Frederick A. Renton of New York City, to imprisonment, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, a bad conduct discharge and reduction from private first class to private.

Renton, a former drill instructor at this sprawling Marine "Boot Camp," pleaded guilty to two charges that he forced recruits to balance on their toes and elbows over a bayonet pointed at their stomachs.

The court, in a two-day trial, convicted him of knocking a recruit to his knees, and of violating a base regulation forbidding instructors from touching recruits except to correct their clothing or posture.

The court, which convicted Renton Thursday, deliberated 41 minutes Friday before bringing in the sentence. Renton, a dark-haired youth, stood at attention while the edict was read.

His attorney hustled the youth and his mother, who witnessed the trial, into a nearby room where they refused to talk to a reporter.

Renton was later returned to the brig where he has been confined since being convicted of violating a restricted status shortly after the mistreatment charges against him were filed. He was broken from corporal to Pfc for violating restriction.

Renton's conviction and sentence will be automatically reviewed by convening authorities before the verdict is final. The charges against him were the most serious filed here since the April 8 "death march" drowning of six recruits.

Hoover Blasts Russian Action Against Rebels

Cites Rejection Of UN Inspectors By Kadar Regime

UNITED NATIONS, Nov. 16 (UP) — The United States called Friday for immediate United Nations action to end the forcible deportation of free Hungarians to Siberia.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. said the U.S. would support any changes in the schedule of the current General Assembly to permit the Hungarian fighting and deportations to be considered at once.

"We cannot remain silent," Hoover said in a policy speech at the start of the assembly's general debate, "while Hungarian men, women and children are forcibly deported because they dared to express their patriotic feelings in defiance of their Soviet oppressors.

"That is why the U. S. believes that the assembly must take an immediate initiative to meet this tragic situation."

Hoover, representing the recuperating Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, spoke a few hours after the assembly, by a 47-24 vote with 8 abstentions, decided to give no consideration to Red China's demand for the Chinese UN seat for at least another year.

Debate on the Chinese issue was marked by a bristling reply by India V. K. Krishna Menon to Sen. William F. Knowland criticism of the Indian as "floor leader for the Soviet drive to bring Communist China into the UN." Knowland, Krishna Menon said, should "go to see a doctor or a psychopath, or something."

The brunt of Hoover's speech was on the Hungarian situation.

"Soviet forces have not been withdrawn," he said. "We now hear shocking reports that the barbarism of mass deportation is being inflicted on the Hungarian people...

Total Eclipse Of Moon Scheduled For Late Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP) — There'll be magic in the sky tomorrow night when the moon goes into total eclipse.

Joseph M. Chamberlain, chairman of the Hayden Planetarium here, said the full moon will start to enter the faint shadow of the earth about 10 p.m. CST.

About two and one-half minutes later, he said, the darker inner shadow of the earth will begin to cover the moon's face. By about 12:08 a.m. Sunday morning, the moon will be completely covered by the darker shadow.

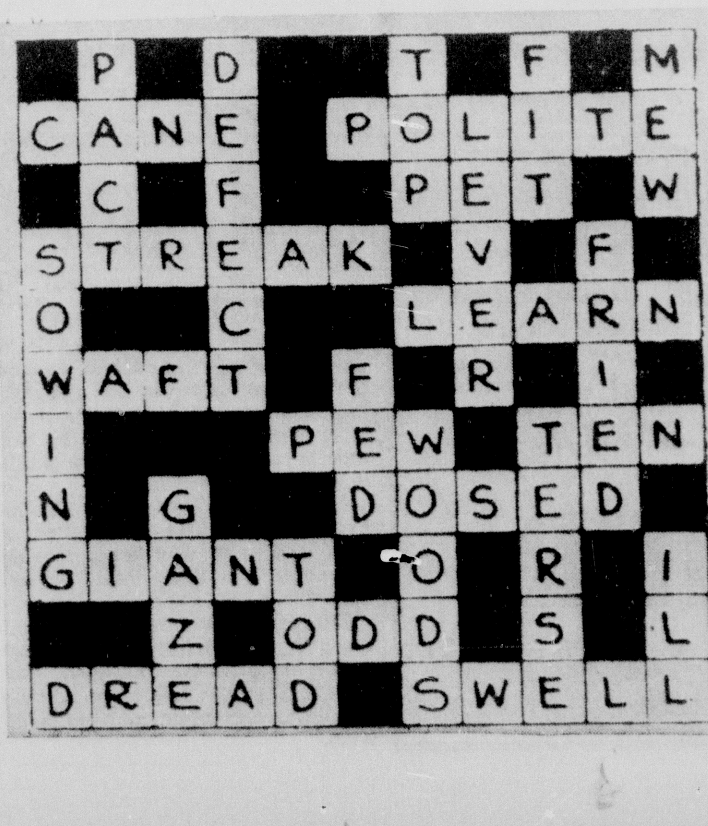
This will be the only total eclipse of the moon this year and the last one visible in the United States until 1960.

The ancients often referred to the eclipse as "blood on the moon" and as an "omen of trouble."

Actually, the change in the moon's appearance will be caused by its moving completely into the path of the earth's great shadow. The sun will be on one side of the earth and the moon on the other. As the eclipse becomes total most of the sun's rays will be shut off from the moon because the earth will be in the way.

The moon still will be visible. Its color will be a shade of red, depending on the amount of haze in the atmosphere.

$175 Crossword Jackpot Is Spared As Volley Of Entries Short Of Mark



By BONANZA BILL

There were no winners in this week's Morning World Crossword puzzle competition, and the jackpot worth $175 was spared.

This means that the jackpot offered with the next edition of the crossword puzzle which will be published in the World Monday and Tuesday, will carry a value of $200.

Here are explanations of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzle solution:

CLUES ACROSS:

6. The word "sport" suggests CANE rather than CASE as the CASE could be quite dignified. A "lad" would hardly wear a CAPE.

7. POLITE is preferred. The clue says "you are not likely to". This does not suit POLICE for you not only definitely WILL NOT gain anything (there is no "not likely to" about it) by abusing the POLICE but you will probably lose something - your liberty possibly or the financial obligation of a fine. With ordinary POLITE men you are not likely to gain anything

Nehru Says Tenseness In Mid-East May Yet Cause Major War To Develop

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 16 (UP)— Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru warned Friday that the tense Middle East situation still might develop into a major war.

"The world appears now to be in the grip of a fevered war psychology and I am reminded of the months preceding the last great war," Nehru told the Indian parliament.

Nehru, in a wide-ranging speech, attacked both Soviet actions in Hungary and the Anglo-French occupation in the Suez Canal zone. He urged that Russia withdraw its troops from Hungary.

The Indian leader accused Britain and France of plotting to keep their occupation forces in the canal zone in what would be a "clear violation" of the United Nations charter.

Nehru said there had been an improvement in the Suez situation since the fighting ceased, but he warned there were "numerous tendencies" which could lead to new hostilities.

He praised Egypt and backed the Egyptian contention that the main task of the UN police force was to ensure that Israeli forces withdraw to positions inside the 1949 truce borders.

Turning to Hungary, Nehru said:

"The recourse to force and armed intervention in Hungary not only cost the lives of many brave men and women but also checked progress toward greater freedom."

He suggested, however, that the Hungarian slaughter might not have occurred if the British and French forces had not attacked Egypt.

"It is possible that what happened on one count produced its reaction on the other and both created a serious international situation," he said.

adopted a U. S. resolution whereby it decided not to consider at its current 11th session any proposals to exclude Nationalist China or seat Red China. It turned down India's request that the question of Chinese representation be put on the session's agenda.

The vote for the U. S. postponement resolution was 47-24, a ratio of 2-1, with 8 abstentions.

Last year, when the U. N. had 19 fewer members, a similar resolution passed 42-12, with 6 abstentions.

Voting against the U. S. proposal today were the Soviet bloc, Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, India, Indonesia, Nepal, Norway, Sudan, Sweden, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia. Eight in the group are new members. Four — Afghanistan, Egypt, Syria and Yemen—had abstained last year.

Abstaining today were Cambodia, Israel, Jordan, Laos, Libya, Portugal, Saudi Arabia and Tunisia. Six of these are new members.

Among those siding with the United States were several that bucked the general Arab and Asian-African tendency to favor getting Red China here now, and also certain neutralists.

These included Austria, Ethiopia, Iceland, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Liberia, Morocco, Pakistan, the Philippines and Thailand.

In Washington, administration sources said the government was keeping a close watch on the strike but had no immediate plans to obtain a Taft-Hartley injunction against the strikers. The administration, which obtained an 80-day injunction to halt the last similar strike in 1953, also was watching the West Coast where Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union might join the walkout.

Meanwhile, representatives of the ILA and the New York Shipping Association met at City Hall here with Mayor Robert F. Wagner and federal mediators in an attempt to end the strike which began with the expiration of the twice-extended contract at midnight Thursday.

Although both sides were reported in tentative agreement on a 38-cent hourly package increase, the ILA rejected a demand by the shippers that work gangs handling cargo be cut from 20 to 16 men. The shippers indicated they have eased upon that issue. The union claims it would lose 20 per cent of its membership by such a reduction.

Sixty two ships were idled in New York harbor alone, where the ILA pulled 25,000 Longshoremen off their jobs. The Italian line's Saturnia, first trans-Atlantic liner to dock since the strike began, had 250 tons of general cargo in its holds, mostly Cmristmas gifts.

Other cargo remained untouched in the holds of 33 ships at Philadelphia, 31 at Baltimore, 26 at New Orleans, 23 at Houston and Galveston, Tex., and 10 at Boston. About 10,000 longshoremen were off the job at New Orleans, the nation's second largest port. Only a handful of the ILA's 60,000 members were on the job to handle military cargo.

Aemand Deportation Halt

"The brutual suppression of freedom by alien domination will leave an indelible mark on the conscience of the world."

Cuba has presented a resolution asking the assembly to demand that Russia halt its deportations and return to Hungary any Hungarian prisoners now in Soviet territory. Hoover indicated full U. S. support for this measure.

Hoover said the U. S. welcomed the cooperation with the UN's call to cease military operations, withdraw forces and implement the world police force in the Middle East.

But he denounced the threat of Russia and Red China to send "volunteers" into the area.

"It is the clear duty of all," he said, "including those who engaged in hostilities, to refrain from introducing forces into the area of recent hostilities, other than those of the UN emergency force."

In occupied Port Said, Anglo-French authorities announced a joint command was being formed to reopen the Suez Canal apparently from both ends.

European diplomats said that more than 1,000 foreigners in Port Said were planning to flee the city in fear that the UN force will be unable to protect them from Arab hate.

While the police asked questions, an official darted from the embassy, grabbed the baby from Mrs. Coman's arms and ran back inside.

The Romanians then used the baby as a lure to seize Mrs. Coman.

A maid then came out with the baby in her arms and appeared to offer the child to its mother. When Mrs. Coman moved towards the embassy door men leaped out and dragged her, screaming, inside.

Minutes later, she appeared on a second story balcony, dangling there until rescued. Her attempted kidnaping and her escape recalled the case of Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina, a Soviet schoolteacher who leaped to freedom from a window of the Soviet embassy in New York, Aug. 12, 1948.

Mrs. Coman was rescued with a stepladder and she and her husband were brought to federal police headquarters where they told their story.

surrendered voluntarily Stockwell said.

Six rifles were laid out on a pavement during the night to be picked up by military patrols.

The British and French have asked any Egyptians still holding arms to put them out quietly in the street and promised there would be no retribution.

Stockwell also announced that four Eqyptian police officers who had returned to duty had now been arrested. He did not explain why, but the best indication was that the four police officers had been working more against the British than for them. The names of the four officers were not released.

Stockwell said he had agreed that 10 United Nations observers who went through lines last Tuesday "can pass back and forth across the cease-fire line as they wish."

But he said he had heard nothing further about any plans the United Nations may have to take over from the British-French forces here.

Stockwell said sandbag strongpoints being built at strategic intersections of Port Said were a precaution "in case of an international security situation."

that an armed insurgent band rescued one group in a raid on the Celged railroad station southeast of Budapest.

In some districts, railroad workers who had not joined the nationwide strike on Oct. 23, walked off the job to prevent the prison trains from moving.

Tracks were blown up and switches jammed in some areas, especially around the Russo-Hungarian frontier town of Zahon.

Kadar fought desperately to end the general strike and halt the last scattered rebel resistance.

In a meeting with the Centrao Workers' Council of Budapest he was reported to have offered:

1. A three-phase troop withdrawal.

2. Formation of a coalition government including all parties.

These coupled with his promise Thursday for free and honest elections, were similar to pledges made by Titoist Premier Imre Nagy before his ouster Nov. 4 and the onslaught of Russian troops and tanks.

Kadar was said to have proposed that if the general strike ended, Red army troops would retire first to their barracks in Budapest. Then all reinforcements sent in to crush the rebellion would be removed. And finally, he would open early negotiations with the Russians for complete withdrawal from the country.

The puppet premier also had promised an end to deportation of rebels to Russia.

Edwards broke away while being returned to his cell to await sentencing. He raced through the courts building and jumped through a window. At least two shots were reported fired at him.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 16 (AP)— The Vatican radio sharply criticized the West today, declaring that it had failed to halt bloodshed in Hungary.

"The Western world, lavish with protests, did not succeed in stopping the slaughter of men and freedom perpetrated by Soviet divisions."

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 16 (UP)— The Texas Co. disclosed Friday that eight tankers are scheduled to dock at the Port of Houston Monday to pick up one million barrels of oil for France.

A company spokesman said he "guessed" the reason for the shipment was "to relieve their oil shortage caused by the Suez situation."

The tankers are owned by Caltex Co., a subsidiary of the Texas Co. Each has a 130,000-barrel capacity.

adopted a U. S. resolution whereby it decided not to consider at its current 11th session any proposals to exclude Nationalist China or seat Red China. It turned down India's request that the question of Chinese representation be put on the session's agenda.

The vote for the U. S. postponement resolution was 47-24, a ratio of 2-1, with 8 abstentions.

Last year, when the U. N. had 19 fewer members, a similar resolution passed 42-12, with 6 abstentions.

Voting against the U. S. proposal today were the Soviet bloc, Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, India, Indonesia, Nepal, Norway, Sudan, Sweden, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia. Eight in the group are new members. Four — Afghanistan, Egypt, Syria and Yemen—had abstained last year.

Abstaining today were Cambodia, Israel, Jordan, Laos, Libya, Portugal, Saudi Arabia and Tunisia. Six of these are new members.

Among those siding with the United States were several that bucked the general Arab and Asian-African tendency to favor getting Red China here now, and also certain neutralists.

These included Austria, Ethiopia, Iceland, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Liberia, Morocco, Pakistan, the Philippines and Thailand.

IN KOREA — Specialist Third Class George Wendell Keller, Jr., of Lake Providence, is serving in Korea as a member of the 7th Infantry Division. A wireman with the Third Battalion Headquarters Company of the division's 32nd Regiment, Keller entered the Army in 1954. He was stationed at Fort Hood, Tex., before being assigned to the Far East in October 1955. The 20-year-old soldier attended Lake Providence High School.

gram to Mr. Eisenhower.

In Washington, administration sources said the government was keeping a close watch on the strike but had no immediate plans to obtain a Taft-Hartley injunction against the strikers. The administration, which obtained an 80-day injunction to halt the last similar strike in 1953, also was watching the West Coast where Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union might join the walkout.

Meanwhile, representatives of the ILA and the New York Shipping Association met at City Hall here with Mayor Robert F. Wagner and federal mediators in an attempt to end the strike wh'h began with the expiration of the twice-extended contract at midnight Thursday.

Although both sides were reported in tentative agreement on a 38-cent hourly package increase, the ILA rejected a demand by the shippers that work gangs handling cargo be cut from 20 to 16 men. The shippers indicated they have eased upon that issue. The union claims it would lose 20 per cent of its membership by such a reduction.

Sixty two ships were idled in New York harbor alone, where the ILA pulled 25,000 Longshoremen off their jobs. The Italian line's Saturnia, first trans-Atlantic liner to dock since the strike began, had 250 tons of general cargo in its holds, mostly Cmristmas gifts.

Other cargo remained untouched in the holds of 33 ships at Philadelphia, 31 at Baltimore, 26 at New Orleans, 23 at Houston and Galveston, Tex., and 10 at Boston. About 10,000 longshoremen were off the job at New Orleans, the nation's second largest port. Only a handful of the ILA's 60,000 members were on the job to handle military cargo.

quest for admission of UN observers into Hungary has been rejected. This means that we must redouble our support of his efforts. At the same time, we must give urgent consideration to the next steps the UN can take.

Aemand Deportation Halt

"The brutual suppression of freedom by alien domination will leave an indelible mark on the conscience of the world."

Cuba has presented a resolution asking the assembly to demand that Russia halt its deportations and return to Hungary any Hungarian prisoners now in Soviet territory. Hoover indicated full U. S. support for this measure.

Hoover said the U. S. welcomed the cooperation with the UN's call to cease military operations, withdraw forces and implement the world police force in the Middle East.

But he denounced the threat of Russia and Red China to send "volunteers" into the area.

"It is the clear duty of all," he said, "including those who engaged in hostilities, to refrain from introducing forces into the area of recent hostilities, other than those of the UN emergency force."

In Naples, it was reported Italian planes may be asked to join the present three-plane Swiss airlift because at the present rate, it would take one and a half months to move in all the 6,000-man international force.

In occupied Port Said, Anglo-French authorities announced a joint command was being formed to reopen the Suez Canal apparently from both ends.

European diplomats said that more than 1,000 foreigners in Port Said were planning to flee the city in fear that the UN force will be unable to protect them from Arab hate.

against their Communist escorts brought more police.

While the police asked questions, an official darted from the embassy, grabbed the baby from Mrs. Coman's arms and ran back inside.

The Romanians then used the baby as a lure to seize Mrs. Coman.

A maid then came out with the baby in her arms and appeared to offer the child to its mother. When Mrs. Coman moved towards the embassy door men leaped out and dragged her, screaming, inside.

Minutes later, she appeared on a second story balcony, dangling there until rescued. Her attempted kidnaping and her escape recalled the case of Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina, a Soviet schoolteacher who leaped to freedom from a window of the Soviet embassy in New York, Aug. 12, 1948.

Mrs. Coman was rescued with a stepladder and she and her husband were brought to federal police headquarters where they told their story.

British Jamming

surrendered voluntarily Stockwell said.

Six rifles were laid out on a pavement during the night to be picked up by military patrols.

The British and French have asked any Egyptians still holding arms to put them out quietly in the street and promised there would be no retribution.

Stockwell also announced that four Eqyptian police officers who had returned to duty had now been arrested. He did not explain why, but the best indication was that the four police officers had been working more against the British than for them. The names of the four officers were not released.

Stockwell said he had agreed that 10 United Nations observers who went through lines last Tuesday "can pass back and forth across the cease-fire line as they wish."

But he said he had heard nothing further about any plans the United Nations may have to take over from the British-French forces here.

Stockwell said sandbag strongpoints being built at strategic intersections of Port Said were a precaution "in case of an international security situation."

Rebel Bands

that an armed insurgent band rescued one group in a raid on the Celged railroad station southeast of Budapest.

In some districts, railroad workers who had not joined the nationwide strike on Oct. 23, walked off the job to prevent the prison trains from moving.

Tracks were blown up and switches jammed in some areas, especially around the Russo-Hungarian frontier town of Zahon.

Kadar fought desperately to end the general strike and halt the last scattered rebel resistance.

In a meeting with the Centrao Workers' Council of Budapest he was reported to have offered:

1. A three-phase troop withdrawal.

2. Formation of a coalition government including all parties.

These coupled with his promise Thursday for free and honest elections, were similar to pledges made by Titoist Premier Imre Nagy before his ouster Nov. 4 and the onslaught of Russian troops and tanks.

Kadar was said to have proposed that if the general strike ended, Red army troops would retire first to their barracks in Budapest. Then all reinforcements sent in to crush the rebellion would be removed. And finally, he would open early negotiations with the Russians for complete withdrawal from the country.

The puppet premier also had promised an end to deportation of rebels to Russia.

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 16 (AP)— "It seemed strange that he didn't have any identification," said deputies as they booked a 19-year-old Crockett, Tex., Negro for vagrancy.

It was even stranger when they learned his name: Seamus Strange.

OBERLIN, La., Nov. 16 (AP) — Raymond T. Holcomb, 18, of Porterville, Cal., died in a hit-run traffic accident near here yesterday.

Officers said Holcomb, stationed at England Air Force Base, Alexandria, La., was a passenger in a car that crashed off the highway when sideswiped by another vehicle that didn't stop.

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 16 (AP) Fire destroyed a 48-year-old Jewish temple here today. No injuries were reported.

Officials said the building was valued at $150,000 when built in 1908.

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 16 (AP) —Donald Rufus Edwards, 22-year-old Negro, was captured soon after he escaped from sheriffs tonight after being convicted of aggravated rape.

Edwards broke away while being returned to his cell to await sentencing. He raced through the courts building and jumped through a window. At least two shots were reported fired at him.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 16 (AP)— The Vatican radio sharply criticized the West today, declaring that it had failed to halt bloodshed in Hungary.

"You can send an international police force to the Suez," said a radio commentator, "but you can't send one to Hungary because the Soviets oppose it.

"The Western world, lavish with protests, did not succeed in stopping the slaughter of men and freedom perpetrated by Soviet divisions."

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 16 (UP)— The Texas Co. disclosed Friday that eight tankers are scheduled to dock at the Port of Houston Monday to pick up one million barrels of oil for France.

A company spokesman said he "guessed" the reason for the shipment was "to relieve their oil shortage caused by the Suez situation."

The tankers are owned by Caltex Co., a subsidiary of the Texas Co. Each has a 130,000-barrel capacity.

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 16 (AP) — Angelo LaMarca twice confessed the July 4 kidnaping of little Peter Weinberger. But he cl med an accomplice abandoned the infant to its death—with his knowledge and consent.

"The baby .. was still alive," said that part of LaMarc's statements which detailed the abandonment. However, the 32-day-old child had been long dead when its body finally was recovered Aug. 24, after LaMarca's arrest.

Adams County's Spending Probed By Miss. Auditor

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP) — The state auditor and the Legislative Investigating Committee disclosed today they are investigating expenditure of public funds by the Adams County Board of Supervisors.

State Auditor Boyd Golding would confirm only that such an investigation is under way. Sen. Stanton Hall of Hattiesburg, chairman of the legislative committee, confirmed that his group also is looking into matters in the Mississippi River county.

Golding and several staff members, Hall and his committee and Golding's chief accountant were at Natchez earlier this week in connection with the probe, it was learned.

Golding's chief accountant is Dexter Barr, director of the State Department of Auditing. The state auditor said a formal announcement regarding the investigation would be made at the proper time.

Disclosure of the investigation comes shortly before a special election in Adams County to fill the District No. 3 supervisor post, left vacant by the death of Hillary W. Carter. There are five candidates in the race.

Neither Hall nor Golding would name individuals questioned nor describe the kind of activities being looked into. Hall did say his committee has twice visited Natchez and said testimony taken in hearings there would be reviewed Nov. 27-28 at a meeting of the committee in Jackson.

Golding said, "We have not completed our investigation and I do not wish to say where the irregularities will fall. A formal report will give the full details at a later date when our investigation is complete."

Golding recently told the Mississippi Assn. of Chancery Clerks convention that many investigations are under way throughout the state regarding discrepancies and "faked invoices" on purchase of equipment. He also mentioned, without being specific, that an investigation is under way into a department of state government at Jackson.

The auditor's office this year investigated handling of money by the Benton County superintendent of education, the former Neshoba County superintendent of Education and the Neshoba County hospital administration.

In each case, Golding sought to reclaim for the state or county those monies he said were misused. The Benton County case resulted in criminal prosecution.

Constant Dollar Revenue Outsteps National Average

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 16 (AP) — The Public Affairs Research Council said today Louisiana revenues, measured by "constant" dollars, outstepped the national average in their increase from 1942 to 1954.

Louisiana revenues jumped 111 per cent in the period, as measured in dollars of constant value, the independent research agency said, compared to an average increase of 51 per cent for the nation.

In its monthly news analysis, Par said the per capita income rise for the period was even more sharp, more than three times the national average. Louisiana per capita income went up 81 per cent compared to a 27 per cent national average increase.

Louisiana revenues exceeded expenditures for the 12-year period, PAR said, while 21 states failed to achieve balanced budgets in 1954.

PAR said Louisiana has reduced its debt in terms of constant dollars, while the trend in other states has been for higher debt.

Using purchasing power of the dollar in 1947 as a basis for comparison, PAR said Louisiana cut its debt 40 per cent in the period 1942-54, while the national average was a 50 per cent increase.

PAR said Louisiana also showed a per capita personal income increase of 27 per cent in terms of constant dollars, compared to a 17 per cent national increase. Ten states showed a decrease in per capita income during the period.

Red Tactics Encourage Nasser To Get 'Tough'

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The latest Russian notes to Britain, France and Israel indicate that she, like everyone else, is willing to soft-pedal for a time until the situation in Egypt becomes clearer.

However, she is apparently encouraging Egypt's President Nasser to drive a hard bargain over removal of invading forces.

It appears, though, that the Anglo-French invaders will have to get out regardless of any dissatisfaction with the terms which Dag Hammarskjold can get from Nasser. They got themselves off base with world opinion, and are in no position to argue.

If, therefore, Hammarskjold succeeds in making the cease-fire effective, the United Nations will be faced immediately with the task of seeking some permanent Arab-Israel-Suez settlement.

In any study of the basis for such settlements it is necessary to remember that the trouble does not merely go back to the Aswan Dam or to the resurgence of nationalism in Eyypt after World War II.

It goes back to 1914 when Britain, after 30 years of running Egypt as though she owned it, formally declared the country a protectorate. When World War I ended in 1918 the anti-British revolutionary movement in Egypt was well under way.

Britain deported the revolutionary leaders, and produced an open revolt which was put down by force.

That only made matters worse. Britain had to start compromising and this continued until she was finally forced out of the country only recently.

Anthony Eden forgot two things when, under pressure from France, he returned to the use of force in Egypt.

He forgot that it wouldn't work in 1919 and that there was less chance of it working now.

He forgot that in 1922 Britain had proclaimed Egyptian independence.

But he remembered that under that proclamation and under subsequent treaties which Egypt had repudiated Britain had the right to protect British Empire communications and foreign interests in Egypt.

France and Britain chose to act under these pretexts, and under the pretext of stopping an Israeli-Egyptian war which bore all the earmarks of Anglo-French collusion.

Now, even if the shaky cease-fire can be maintained and the Allied troops go home, the bases for any sort of general settlement in the Middle East have become even more complicated than before, if that is possible.

Zeigler Taken To Mental Hospital For Observation

Loyal Zeigler, 50-year-old ex-convict, charged with murder in the brutal slaying of a 30-year-old Texas woman here on September 13, was taken to the East Louisiana State Mental hospital yesterday for observation.

Order for Zeigler's observation had been issued by Judge David I. Garrett in Fourth District court.

Zeigler was taken to the hospital by Ouachita parish sheriff deputies.

Zeigler was indicted in October by the parish grand jury for the Sept. 13 slaying of a Gladewater, Tex., woman, Myrtie Mae Mills in the 300 block of McKinley street.

He was later taken into custody and has been held in the parish jail since that time.

Zeigler's trial has been tentatively set for February.

Stennis Predicts Natchez Parkway Paving By 1966

PORT GIBSON, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP) — Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) messaged the Natchez Trace Assn. last night that he has a definite committal that the entire Natchez Trace Parkway would be paved by 1966.

Stennis was unable to attend the meeting.

Elbert Cox of Richmond, Va., regional director of the National Park Service, told the meeting the service expected within the next 10 years to complete at least the greater part of the Natchez Trace."

He said more work — $4,169,514 worth — has been under contract on the parkway this year than ever before in the 20 years since paving began.

The trace is an early-day trail between Nashville, Tenn., and Natchez.

Parkway Supt. Malcom Gardner said 79 miles have been paved between Jackson and Tupelo and another 12 miles of paving leading north from Natchez would be ready for use in a few weeks.

Robert Bell, highway department engineer, reported most of the delay in paving has been in acquiring rights of way in the 48 miles between Alcorn in Jefferson County and Ridgeland, just north of Jackson.

"The difficulty is that we must get a right of way up to 800 feet wide and, unfortunately, some of that which we still must obtain goes through oil fields in this part of the trace," he said.

East Carroll Teachers Take No-Strike Stand

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 16 (Special)—Mrs. Mary Alice Jackson, president of the East Carroll Parish Teachers Association, stated today that the entire membership of the group has taken a definite stand in the matter of striking for higher pay.

A statement issued by Mrs. Jackson said in part, "The teachers of East Carroll Parish believe that the present situation does not justify a strike. The relationship of teachers and pupils should be on a higher plane. Teachers cannot disregard their pupils' welfare to such an extent as to cause the closing of schools."

In other parts of the statement issued by the group, they lamented the publicity that had been given to the radical attitude of some teachers and expressed themselves as feeling that the more conservative views should be brought to light also. They reiterated their stand toward the rightness and necessity of a raise and urged the cooperation and support of the local and state officials in the teaching profession, the public local and state officials, and of the members of the Louisiana legislature to help obtain the needed funds.

Mrs. Jackson's statement went on to say, "Under normal conditions the opinions of teachers are their own private concerns, but due to the wide publicity about a strike, we felt that silence on our part might be interpreted as our approval of a method to obtain a raise in salary."

The membership of the parish organization includes all the white teaching and administrative personnel.

District Quotas Of Oil Allowable Reported By State

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 16 (AP)— The Louisiana Conservation Department today announced the district destribution of a November hike in daily oil allowables.

Production was increased some 75,000 barrels daily for the remainder of November and will go up another 25,000 barrels daily in December because of the Middle Eastern crisis.

By districts, the original November figures, present figures and December figures are, in that order:

Houma 168,705; 199,174 and 206,743.

Lafayette 149,740; 172,774 and 178,577.

Lake Charles 69,309; 79,339 and 81,670.

New Orleans 220,122; 259,151 and 269,677.

Monroe 63,184; 68,193 and 68,481.

Shreveport 63,828; 67,478 and 68,323.

Neither Hall nor Golding would name individuals questioned nor describe the kind of activities being looked into. Hall did say his committee has twice visited Natchez and said testimony taken in hearings there would be reviewed Nov. 27-28 at a meeting of the committee in Jackson.

Golding said, "We have not completed our investigation and I do not wish to say where the irregularities will fall. A formal report will give the full details at a later date when our investigation is complete."

Golding recently told the Mississippi Assn. of Chancery Clerks convention that many investigations are under way throughout the state regarding discrepancies and "faked invoices" on purchase of equipment. He also mentioned, without being specific, that an investigation is under way into a department of state government at Jackson.

The auditor's office this year investigated handling of money by the Benton County superintendent of education, the former Neshoba County superintendent of Education and the Neshoba County hospital administration.

In each case, Golding sought to reclaim for the state or county those monies he said were misused. The Benton County case resulted in criminal prosecution.

Constant Dollar Revenue Outsteps National Average

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 16 (AP) — The Public Affairs Research Council said today Louisiana revenues, measured by "constant" dollars, outstepped the national average in their increase from 1942 to 1954.

Louisiana revenues jumped 111 per cent in the period, as measured in dollars of constant value, the independent research agency said, compared to an average increase of 51 per cent for the nation.

In its monthly news analysis, Par said the per capita income rise for the period was even more sharp, more than three times the national average. Louisiana per capita income went up 81 per cent compared to a 27 per cent national average increase.

Louisiana revenues exceeded expenditures for the 12-year period, PAR said, while 21 states failed to achieve balanced budgets in 1954.

PAR said Louisiana has reduced its debt in terms of constant dollars, while the trend in other states has been for higher debt.

Using purchasing power of the dollar in 1947 as a basis for comparison, PAR said Louisiana cut its debt 40 per cent in the period 1942-54, while the national average was a 50 per cent increase.

PAR said Louisiana also showed a per capita personal income increase of 27 per cent in terms of constant dollars, compared to a 17 per cent national increase. Ten states showed a decrease in per capita income during the period.

Red Tactics Encourage Nasser To Get 'Tough'

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The latest Russian notes to Britain, France and Israel indicate that she, like everyone else, is willing to soft-pedal for a time until the situation in Egypt becomes clearer.

However, she is apparently encouraging Egypt's President Nasser to drive a hard bargain over removal of invading forces.

It appears, though, that the Anglo-French invaders will have to get out regardless of any dissatisfaction with the terms which Dag Hammarskjold can get from Nasser. They got themselves off base with world opinion, and are in no position to argue.

If, therefore, Hammarskjold succeeds in making the cease-fire effective, the United Nations will be faced immediately with the task of seeking some permanent Arab-Israel-Suez settlement.

In any study of the basis for such settlements it is necessary to remember that the trouble does not merely go back to the Aswan Dam or to the resurgence of nationalism in Eyypt after World War II.

It goes back to 1914 when Britain, after 30 years of running Egypt as though she owned it, formally declared the country a protectorate. When World War I ended in 1918 the anti-British revolutionary movement in Egypt was well under way.

Britain deported the revolutionary leaders, and produced an open revolt which was put down by force.

That only made matters worse. Britain had to start compromising and this continued until she was finally forced out of the country only recently.

Anthony Eden forgot two things when, under pressure from France, he returned to the use of force in Egypt.

He forgot that it wouldn't work in 1919 and that there was less chance of it working now.

He forgot that in 1922 Britain had proclaimed Egyptian independence.

But he remembered that under that proclamation and under subsequent treaties which Egypt had repudiated Britain had the right to protect British Empire communications and foreign interests in Egypt.

France and Britain chose to act under these pretexts, and under the pretext of stopping an Israeli-Egyptian war which bore all the earmarks of Anglo-French collusion.

Now, even if the shaky cease-fire can be maintained and the Allied troops go home, the bases for any sort of general settlement in the Middle East have become even more complicated than before, if that is possible.

Stennis Predicts Natchez Parkway Paving By 1966

PORT GIBSON, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP) — Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) messaged the Natchez Trace Assn. last night that he has a definite committal that the entire Natchez Trace Parkway would be paved by 1966.

Stennis was unable to attend the meeting.

Elbert Cox of Richmond, Va., regional director of the National Park Service, told the meeting the service expected within the next 10 years to complete at least the greater part of the Natchez Trace."

He said more work — $4,169,514 worth — has been under contract on the parkway this year than ever before in the 20 years since paving began.

The trace is an early-day trail between Nashville, Tenn., and Natchez.

Parkway Supt. Malcom Gardner said 79 miles have been paved between Jackson and Tupelo and another 12 miles of paving leading north from Natchez would be ready for use in a few weeks.

Robert Bell, highway department engineer, reported most of the delay in paving has been in acquiring rights of way in the 48 miles between Alcorn in Jefferson County and Ridgeland, just north of Jackson.

"The difficulty is that we must get a right of way up to 800 feet wide and, unfortunately, some of that which we still must obtain goes through oil fields in this part of the trace," he said.

Zeigler Taken To Mental Hospital For Observation

Loyal Zeigler, 50-year-old ex-convict, charged with murder in the brutal slaying of a 30-year-old Texas woman here on September 13, was taken to the East Louisiana State Mental hospital yesterday for observation.

Order for Zeigler's observation had been issued by Judge David I. Garrett in Fourth District court.

Zeigler was taken to the hospital by Ouachita parish sheriff deputies.

Zeigler was indicted in October by the parish grand jury for the Sept. 13 slaying of a Gladewater, Tex., woman, Myrtie Mae Mills in the 300 block of McKinley street.

He was later taken into custody and has been held in the parish jail since that time.

Zeigler's trial has been tentatively set for February.

East Carroll Teachers Take No-Strike Stand

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 16 (Special)—Mrs. Mary Alice Jackson, president of the East Carroll Parish Teachers Association, stated today that the entire membership of the group has taken a definite stand in the matter of striking for higher pay.

A statement issued by Mrs. Jackson said in part, "The teachers of East Carroll Parish believe that the present situation does not justify a strike. The relationship of teachers and pupils should be on a higher plane. Teachers cannot disregard their pupils' welfare to such an extent as to cause the closing of schools."

In other parts of the statement issued by the group, they lamented the publicity that had been given to the radical attitude of some teachers and expressed themselves as feeling that the more conservative views should be brought to light also. They reiterated their stand toward the rightness and necessity of a raise and urged the cooperation and support of the local and state officials in the teaching profession, the public local and state officials, and of the members of the Louisiana legislature to help obtain the needed funds.

Mrs. Jackson's statement went on to say, "Under normal conditions the opinions of teachers are their own private concerns, but due to the wide publicity about a strike, we felt that silence on our part might be interpreted as our approval of a method to obtain a raise in salary."

The membership of the parish organization includes all the white teaching and administrative personnel.

District Quotas Of Oil Allowable Reported By State

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 16 (AP)— The Louisiana Conservation Department today announced the district distribution of a November hike in daily oil allowables.

Economic Highlights

"What a Country!" is the happy title of a feature article in the October issue of Fortune, written by Gilbert Burck and Sanford Parker. It has to do, primarily, with the ever-changing American market and consumer spending.

As everyone knows, this spending has increased at a great rate. It was $200 billion in 1950, and this year, the Fortune article says, it will come to $242 billion. In 1960 it is expected to reach $282 billion (in terms of constant 1956 dollars). Family cash income, after taxes, now averages $5,400—the projected 1960 figure is $6,000.

But this increase is not all of the story of "What a Country!" by any means. Equally impressive is a change in direction of the spending—toward what is called "spend better." For instance, the famous Paris fashion showings are traditionally attended only by representatives of a comparatively few high-priced specialty shops. But last summer, to the amazement of many, a representative of a leading mail-order house wes present. As Messrs. Burck and Parker write, "What it amounted to was an announcement to the world that the U. S. had achieved a living standard so high and a prosperity so widely distributed that the nation's largest purveyor to the average man, simply to keep abreast of the market, had found itself obliged to keep abreast of the latest in haute couture. . . . The vast majority of American consumers are no longer content with minimum standards, but demand the abundance, quality, and style used to differentiate the good life from ordinary living." The typical consumer is getting more and more demanding—because he can afford to be.

This is changing old concepts "saturated" markets. As an example, the Fortune article says that the electric iron market has been considered more than 90 per cent "saturated" for 25 years. Yet more and more irons are sold—sold in much greater quantity than the replacement factor alone demands. This is becoming true of all manner of commodities.

As part and parcel of the trend, a new kind of competition has appeared and become a powerful force. It is inter-industry competition, and was relatively unimportant in past times. The Burck-Parker article makes its workings plain in these words: "The new Buick competes with that vacation in Florida, the desire to move from a three-bedroom house to a four-bedroom house competes with the urge to buy a bigger power boat next spring, and in countless smaller decisions every day there is competition between better-quality food and better-quality clothes, more high-fi records and the camera, etc., etc." This advanced state of discretionary spending has led economists astray. For example, when auto sales sagged badly last spring some felt that the economy as a whole was due for a hard blow. But that did not happen—because people spent the money for other things, and total spending remained high.

All this, of course, does not mean that the American economy is nothing but sweetness and light, without a problem or a built-in danger. But it does show that the economy has grown almost beyond the wildest expectations—and that the fruits of it, as demonstrated by material living standards, are more widely shared than in any the modern world has known.

Fallacies And Truths

Reader's Digest has printed an article, prepared by the American Economic Foundation, on a number of widely held economic fallacies.

One fallacy is that "government has something to give the people which it does not first have to take away from them." The truth: "Government is never a source of goods. Everything is produced by the people, and everything that government gives the people it must first take from the people. Government benefits are raised through taxes . . . ."

Another fallacy is that ". . . the workers of any nation can improve their welfare by increasing their pay without increasing their production." The truth: "Because wages are the principal cost of everything, wage increases (without corresponding increases in production) simply increase prices and do not improve the welfare of the worker."

Still another fallacy is that "the owners of industry get the lion's share of the product and the workers get only the crumbs." The truth: "The amount of the product of all industry that goes to the workers is about 90 per cent. The amount that accrues to the owners of the tools (investors) is about 10 per cent. Yet the tools do more than 95 per cent of the work."

The source of all wealth and material welfare is production. The main reason the general standard of living now is so superior to that of the past is that science and invention, backed by the investment of huge sums of capital, have made it possible for each worker to turn out much more in the way of goods and services. If productively continues to increase, living standards will continue to rise. There is no other way. It would be good if the great labor unions took the trouble to explain this basic economic principle to their members.

A Good Idea

Some modern "scientific" tests have led to a dictum that man reaches his intelligence peak at the age of 21. This finding is reported to have been used in some phases of educational activity.

At a meeting of educators on testing problems, the theory was challenged sharply by Dr. Nancy Bayley, head of the child development section of the National Institute of Mental Health, Washington, D. C. Man reaches his mental peak at around age 50, she contended.

Dr. Bayley has made some intelligence tests herself. She finds a rising arc in most persons, though there are some who do not gain in mental grasp after 30.

A layman is inclined to go along with Dr. Bayley. Though the most notable rise in intelligence comes during childhood and early adulthood, judgment is part of intelligence. Judgment is based largely on experience. Surely an experienced human being increases his mental capacity, and that process quite often endures after 50 years.

Dr. Bayley suggests that educators reappraise their intelligence norms. It seems like a good idea.

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

The Skilled Labor Market

Why are there currently astonishing shortages of skilled professionals such as school teachers, nurses, office workers, etc.? There has been an enormous increase in our population but it is difficult in our larger cities to find household help and many of those who say that they can be stenographers and typists need first to learn how to spell or even to answer the telephone with the courtesy normal to those who are not frightened by a strange voice.

A city like New York has a difficult time getting teachers, not only good teachers, but any kind of teachers, anyone with a qualification. I was minded of that by a sentence in an address by the president of the Board of Education, Charles H. Silver, about the parochial schools of this city which provide for approximately 350,000 children. Silver said that if the city school system had to absorb these children, it would have to hire "13,000 more teachers and supervisors, if we could find them."

It is the phrase, "if we could find them" that is so startling because that seems to be the universal voice of despair. Of course, the federal government employs about 2,300,000 persons, many of whom could be dispensed with, according to the reports of the Hoover Commission. In economic terms, this means that the labor market for white collar workers is tightened sufficiently to create a shortage, to lift wages somewhat, to increase the use of mechanical devices and to force the acceptance of careless work.

I recently received a letter from a bank, an institution where the correct spelling of names may be very important; nevertheless throughout this letter my name was spelled incorrectly. If I questioned the girl's boss, he would only say, "Where can you find careful girls these days?" Of course, they are to be found among the women over 40 who have not been corrupted by the easy ways of inflated living.

Another factor in this situation is the development of new forms of earning a living. Modelling, for instance, has been expanded into a major form of employment for women and many girls, who might have been teachers or nurses or stenographers, find the compensation higher, the work more intriguing and the opportunities for personal advancement greater in modelling than in other trades. The public usually only knows of models who become "celebrities" in the night club sense, but many of these girls are in this business not to advertise themselves but to earn a living.

Television is making a place for a more limited number of women-workers, some of whom become announcers because they can pronounce words inoffensively. These enunciators are very well paid and have the additional advantage of being able to project their personalities. Such girls might be excellent teachers but probably at a tenth of the wages they now receive.

At any rate, there are so many ways of earning a living these days that the usual professions prove less attractive than they did two generations ago. From a social standpoint, however, the new professions are of little value whereas teachers, nurses, stenographers, etc., are essential to our lives and our welfare.

The difficulty is that the law of demand and supply does not work in these fields. Teachers are wanted and needed, but their wages remain low because it comes out of the taxpayer's pocket and he is already taxed beyond endurance. So he takes the second best and even worse rather than increase taxes. As regards office help, too much preparation is required—and costly preparation—for just ordinary jobs to be attractive and a girl who has spent four years at a college, even if she never learned anything, which is a possibility, regards herself as superior and deserving of high pay. Certainly, if a girl has had to spend four years to become a nurse, two years at college and two years of training, she feels that she is entitled to commensurate compensation even if she is no improvement on the old-fashioned nurse who only spent two years at nurse's training and the rest of her life learning a difficult profession.

If we ever get a 30-hour week for professionals, the shortage will be so acute that we shall have to import help from other countries, as we are actually importing nurses, when we can get them, from Canada.

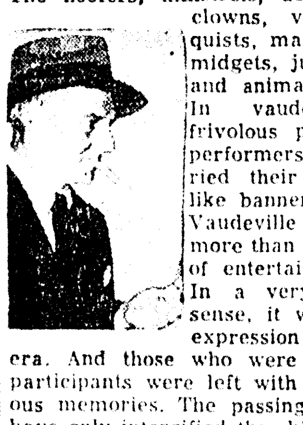
Lights Over Broadway

They sang and danced and tumbled across the American scene. The hoofers, minstrels, acrobats, clowns, ventriloquists, magicians midgets, jugglers and animal acts. In vaudeville's frivolous parade, performers carried their hopes like banners . . . Vaudeville was more than a form of entertainment. In a very real sense, it was an expression of an era. And those who were active participants were left with luminous memories. The passing years have only intensified the shimmer. Fred Allen's affectionate recapture of vaudeville memories in Life mag is a typical case in point. He accurately noted: "The vaudeville actor was part gypsy and part suitcase. With his brash manner, flashy clothes, capes and cane, and accompanied by his gaudy womenfolk, the vaudevillian brought happiness and excitement to the communities he visited. He spent his money freely and made friends easily."



It isn't all laughter and music, of course. Vaudeville, basically, was a rigorous way of life. It meant doing four or five shows a day. You arrived at the theatre at 10 ayem and often you didn't leave until midnight. You worked hard seven days a week—between lay-offs . . . Vaudeville demanded a great deal but it gave much to those willing to learn. As George M. Cohan once declared: "As a kid in vaudeville I was often on the same bill with a hoofer that I thought was the best in the world, so I spent all my time trying to match him. It was the same way with songwriting, playwrighting and acting — there was always somebody a lot better than I — and I worked to close up the gap. My notion is that a guy who thinks he's tops isn't going to do much climbing."

The climb was incredibly difficult and the descent was often dangerously swift. Nevertheless, the lure was irresistible. For every flop carried down the slope, hundreds pressed upwards, motivated by magnificent illusions. Fame, Fortune and the Palace. . . Depending on a fickle public, at the mercy of theatre managers, harassed by agents, often wounded in pride — the vaudevillian (who generally had a jaunty approach to life) expressed his disappointments with chuckles. And the consequence was a series of classic yarns and quipper-snappers: "You shoulda caught me at the matinee." . . . "They sit down front and devour their young!" . . "What do I want for bows? Applause!" . . . "When I kick the wife in the face — loud and forte till off!"

In the realm of conflict, the performer's struggle with audiences has never known a truce. Although Duffy and Sweeney were among the big-time comedy teams, they had their troubles. In one small town their fooling went over with a thud. No laughs, no applause, no nothing. Finally Duffy strode to the footlights and announced: "Ladies and gentlemen. This is one of the proudest and happiest moments of our lives. Your tumultous reception has overwhelmed us. And now, if you all will just remain seated a few moments longer, my partner, Mr. Sweeney, will pass down the aisle with t baseball bat and beat the hell outta you!"

Vaudeville's cap-and-bells jingled merrily. And the happy echoes are still heard on television. Comedy teams as well as great individual clowns flourished. Every type of nonsense had its share of success — from the sly and sunny sharp-shooters — to the noisy enormity of slapstick artists. . . . The warm honestly Will Rogers conveyed to audiences as rooted in his personality. When he introduced a new act, Rogers publicly confided: "I've been getting away with this junk for so long that I thought you woud get wise to me sooner or later, so I went and dug up a little new stuff with which to fool you a few more years."

Utica, Poughkeepsie and Kokomo were included in the ceaseless journeys of vaudevillians. However, they all dreamed of one destination: The Palace. . . . For struggling performers the theatre was a radiant vision. For those who played the Palace, it was a royal achievement. The playhouse had an almost mystical lure. Gaining the ultimate accomplishment represented real spiritual satisfaction. . . . One performer was so elated about reaching the Palace, he hired a plane to announce the news in skywriting. By the way, the finger-pointing form of entertainment ,now so common on television) was inaugurated at the Palace. Celebs in the audience were requested to stand and take bows.

In the journey from obscurity to fame, the Palace was the last stop. And for performers, it was not far from Paradise.

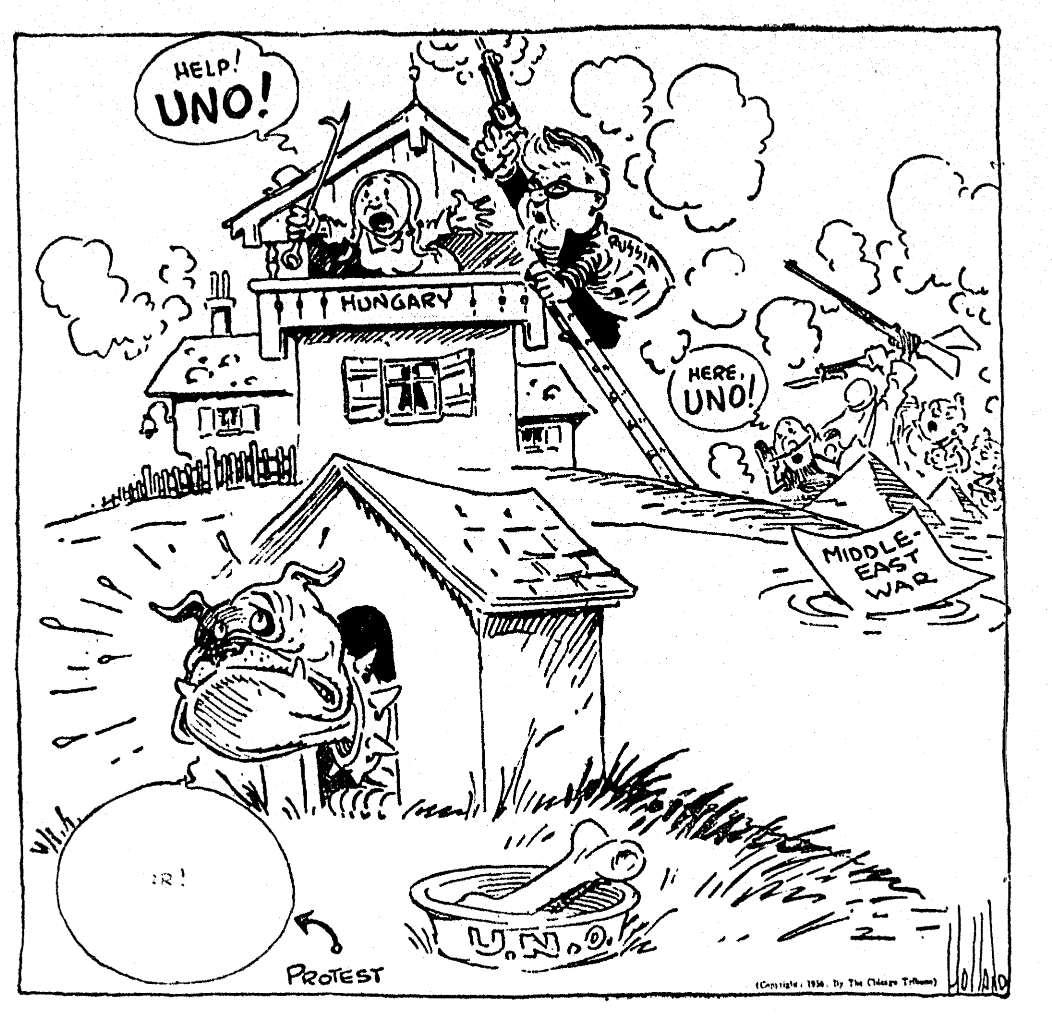
THE GUN-SHY WATCH DOG



Our Children

By Angelo Patri

On Living Children

When talking about loving the children so that they feel wanted and cherished, one must define love, say what that means to him. Judging by the letters I get about this, it is evident that some people quite mistake the whole idea.

One group think that it means giving a child anything he desires short of the moon, regardless of what that may cost other people. That is not what we mean by giving a child love.

Others say that advocating this love is to encourage the parents to spoil their children by giving them their own way, making parents afraid to teach their children the hard facts of daily life and so make them unfit for that life. This is again the wrong idea of what we mean by love.

Love is a powerful force, a strengthening force. Any attitude toward children that weakens their understanding of their place in the scheme of things, that gives them the idea that to have and to get is the aim-all, end-all of life, is not love. Quite the contrary.

A truly loving parent knows that things never make anybody happy for any lenth of time. Things do not touch the spirit of men with love, but quite the reverse. Too much getting without giving dulls the spirit and creates selfishness, breeds attitudes that can only end in unhappiness.

A loving parent shields his children from their unknowing demands. He says "No" when that is necessary for the sake of the demanding child and for the welfare of the family. That "No" once given and held fast can be a bulwark of strength to a child. He leans on it, although he may be unconscious of the attitude behind it. It is the force that gives the child confidence in the security of home and family. Underneath his seeming rebellion, there is the reliance on the strength of father and mother. They care about him.

The children of today take cars, planes, telephones, entertainment, as matters of course, and because they do not know the dangers, difficulties, entanglements these accessories of modern life bring with them, they reach for them. Wisely loving parents shorten that reach and allow their children gradually to become acquainted with these useful things, preparing them, teaching them how to use things sensibly.

A 15-year-old boy complains that his father will not buy him a car. A 13-year-old girl complains that her parents won't allow her to "go steady." A small boy cries because his mother says he cannot ride his velocipede beyond the first corner and must not under any circumstances cross the road. Such mandates come from wisely loving parents. Cheers for them.

If your child has bad eating habits, or is a food fusser, you can find the solution to your problem by following Dr. Patri's advice included in booklet No. 303, "Feeding Children." To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to him, care this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

IN WASHINGTON

United Nations Faces Its Darnest Hour

Not since its formation at San Francisco in 1945 has the United Nations faced a crisis such as now confronts it, in the opinion of specialists on foreign affairs on both sides of the Atlantic.

If its international police force, hastily recruited to prevent expansion of the hostilities between Israeli and Egypt, and to enable Britain and France to withdraw from Egypt without loss of face, should prove ineffective, as some pessimists are convinced it will, the U. N.'s function to preserve world peace will become almost academic.

Historians believe that its predecessor, the League of Nations, founded on the ideas of President Woodrow Wilson, began to disintegrate in 1933 when Germany withdrew after refusing to participate in disarmament conferences. Its final effort to preserve peace was the vote in 1935 of economic sanctions against Italy, supported by 52 nation members — and by Egypt, a non - member — because Italy had invaded Ethiopia.

The sanctions in that instance were a penalty, intended to stop international trade between the supporting nations and Italy. The record shows they had no effect in forcing Italy to withdraw from Ethiopia which was annexed by Mussolini in 1936. He began immediate colonization of the captured African territory with Italian farmers, some of whom are still there, though the government of Emperor Haile Selasse has long since been restored to full sovereignty.

Now the United Nations is talking of similar sanctions against France and Britain in the Suez affair. If they should be voted, there is a possibility that both nations would withdraw from the U. N. Also under consideration is a possible motion to expel Soviet Russia from U. N. for its brutal treatment of Hungary.

Hanging over the international group of nations "dedicated to the preservation of peace" is the motion, anticipated soon, to admit Red China to the United Nations, to which the United States has been unalterably opposed, but toward which the Eisenhower administration was reported to be softening several months ago.

It has never been denied that Soviet Russia, whose membership was deemed essential at the time, if U. N. was to be at all effective, forced the inclusion in its charter of provisions which gave the Communists a whip hand, including the veto, which could be employed by any of the major powers, and insisted that membership provisions be so drafted that the Red bloc would eventually have nine votes.

In its brief lifetime, the United States has given U. N. unfailing support, permitting the organization to direct the course of the Korean war, the first U. N. "police action," in which the armed forces of this country accepted a stalemate, considerably short of victory, in order to end the fighting.

Collapse of the League of Nations, which the United States did not join because the reservations upon its own action voted by the U. S. senate were not acceptable to the league, was blamed in Europe on the non - participation of this nation, but the present situation raises a question whether the league could have survived even with U. S. participation.

The Communists, having shaped the charter to their own convenience, stayed away when the vote on U. N. joint military action in Korea was voted, thus letting the organization take over a bloody war which cost the U. S. more than 150,000 casualties, including 53,000 dead. The war was fought by Chinese Communists with barbarism unparalleled in any modern war.

Any parliamentary group which is ineffective in its main purposes usually fails in the end. U. N.'s efforts at preventing so called "little wars," meaning localized wars, of which Korea was one, have succeeded only in a few minor instances. Though a hard core of American spokesmen have opposed it from the beginning, the United Nations has strong support in this country.

The radio - TV programing of its sessions on the Israeli - Britain - France action in Egypt, and the accompanying tongue lashing of Russia for its actions in Hungary, are said to have had the largest audiences recently of any event except the national elections.

The permanent international police force, however, was blocked at San Francisco by the Communist bloc, and the belated attempt to recruit such a force now from little nations — the big powers are prohibited from sending troops — could end in a debacle, which would leave the U. N. helpless.

Maj. General E. L. M. Burns, who will direct the force now assembling in Egypt was quoted by one correspondent as "rather like the leader of television space cadets about to land on Mars, without a guide or a manual."

Don wants to know the difference between a psychologist vs. a psychiatrist. And he desires some advice on vocational guidance. So scrapbook this case. Case T-324: Don H., aged 17, is active in church work but puzzled concerning his future.

"Dr. Crane, I want to do something worthwhile in life," he began, "but I'm not sure just what it should be.

"How much training does it take to be a psychologist? Or a psychiatrist? Is there much of a field for such specialists?

"And what about teaching? Would you advise me to become a clergyman? I like dealing with people.

"Maybe I should become a medical missionary. What do you think?"

Go on to college, even if you don't know what career you wish to pick for your life work.

It makes little difference, anyway for the first two years, since you take almost the same courses those first two years, regardless of whether you plan to become a business leader, clergyman or physician.

Each year of college broadens your outlook and whets your wits. In actual cash terms, it will bring you $25,000 more during your next 50 years of work.

For the college graduate earns an average of $103,000 more than does the high school graduate.

And the high school graduate earns an average of $49,000 more than does the fellow who quit school with only a grammar school diploma!

A psychiatrist is simply an M. D. who specializes in nervous and mental ailments after he graduates from medical school.

What most laymen don't realize is the fact that all physicians in medical college take the same courses. There is no specialization until after graduation.

A university teacher of psychology usually has at least an M.A. degree and generally a Ph.D.

Colleges are literally pleading for teachers in all departments and so are the public schools.

The teacher shortage is growing constantly more critical. Most large city school systems have openings for psychologists to test children who are behavior problems.

College enrollmens are expected to double by 1970, and we don't know where we'll get enough teachers!

The average college professor's salary nowadays is $5,000. The average grammar and high school teacher's salary in our Chicago public schools is now $5,500.

And teachers get two months vacation in summer, plus 10 days or more at Christmas, plus a Spring Vacation of a week, and a few extra days at Easter, Thanksgiving, etc.

But if you wish to select what I deem the most influential position in America nowadays, become a clergyman.

He inspires the leaders of the entire area, for in his congregation you will find the leading physicians, dentists, attorneys, engineers, school officials, bankers, business leaders, farmers, housewives and youth of the area.

He is a glorified teacher who contacts the toddlers and teenagers, as well as oldsters past 90. He thus has an unrivalled opportunity to change human lives, and to improve world conditions.

Since Uncle Sam is now holding aloft the torch of idealism for all nations, American pulpits are the most important posts in the land, far exceeding hospitals, banks and science laboratories.

Economic Highlights

"What a Country!" is the happy title of a feature article in the October issue of Fortune, written by Gilbert Burck and Sanford Parker. It has to do, primarily, with the ever-changing American market and consumer spending.

As everyone knows, this spending has increased at a great rate. It was $200 billion in 1950, and this year, the Fortune article says, it will come to $242 billion. In 1960 it is expected to reach $282 billion (in terms of constant 1956 dollars). Family cash income, after taxes, now averages $5,400—the projected 1960 figure is $6,000.

But this increase is not all of the story of "What a Country!" by any means. Equally impressive is a change in direction of the spending—toward what is called "spend better." For instance, the famous Paris fashion showings are traditionally attended only by representatives of a comparatively few high-priced specialty shops. But last summer, to the amazement of many, a representative of a leading mail-order house wes present. As Messrs. Burck and Parker write, "What it amounted to was an announcement to the world that the U. S. had achieved a living standard so high and a prosperity so widely distributed that the nation's largest purveyor to the average man, simply to keep abreast of the market, had found itself obliged to keep abreast of the latest in haute couture. . . . The vast majority of American consumers are no longer content with minimum standards, but demand the abundance, quality, and style used to differentiate the good life from ordinary living." The typical consumer is getting more and more demanding—because he can afford to be.

This is changing old concepts "saturated" markets. As an example, the Fortune article says that the electric iron market has been considered more than 90 per cent "saturated" for 25 years. Yet more and more irons are sold—sold in much greater quantity than the replacement factor alone demands. This is becoming true of all manner of commodities.

As part and parcel of the trend, a new kind of competition has appeared and become a powerful force. It is inter-industry competition, and was relatively unimportant in past times. The Burck-Parker article makes its workings plain in these words: "The new Buick competes with that vacation in Florida, the desire to move from a three-bedroom house to a four-bedroom house competes with the urge to buy a bigger power boat next spring, and in countless smaller decisions every day there is competition between better-quality food and better-quality clothes, more high-fi records and the camera, etc., etc." This advanced state of discretionary spending has led economists astray. For example, when auto sales sagged badly last spring some felt that the economy as a whole was due for a hard blow. But that did not happen—because people spent the money for other things, and total spending remained high.

All this, of course, does not mean that the American economy is nothing but sweetness and light, without a problem or a built-in danger. But it does show that the economy has grown almost beyond the wildest expectations—and that the fruits of it, as demonstrated by material living standards, are more widely shared than in any the modern world has known.

Fallacies And Truths

Reader's Digest has printed an article, prepared by the American Economic Foundation, on a number of widely held economic fallacies.

One fallacy is that "government has something to give the people which it does not first have to take away from them." The truth: "Government is never a source of goods. Everything is produced by the people, and everything that government gives the people it must first take from the people. Government benefits are raised through taxes . . . ."

Another fallacy is that ". . . the workers of any nation can improve their welfare by increasing their pay without increasing their production." The truth: "Because wages are the principal cost of everything, wage increases (without corresponding increases in production) simply increase prices and do not improve the welfare of the worker."

Still another fallacy is that "the owners of industry get the lion's share of the product and the workers get only the crumbs." The truth: "The amount of the product of all industry that goes to the workers is about 90 per cent. The amount that accrues to the owners of the tools (investors) is about 10 per cent. Yet the tools do more than 95 per cent of the work."

The source of all wealth and material welfare is production. The main reason the general standard of living now is so superior to that of the past is that science and invention, backed by the investment of huge sums of capital, have made it possible for each worker to turn out much more in the way of goods and services. If productively continues to increase, living standards will continue to rise. There is no other way. It would be good if the great labor unions took the trouble to explain this basic economic principle to their members.

A Good Idea

Some modern "scientific" tests have led to a dictum that man reaches his intelligence peak at the age of 21. This finding is reported to have been used in some phases of educational activity.

At a meeting of educators on testing problems, the theory was challenged sharply by Dr. Nancy Bayley, head of the child development section of the National Institute of Mental Health, Washington, D. C. Man reaches his mental peak at around age 50, she contended.

Dr. Bayley has made some intelligence tests herself. She finds a rising arc in most persons, though there are some who do not gain in mental grasp after 30.

A layman is inclined to go along with Dr. Bayley. Though the most notable rise in intelligence comes during childhood and early adulthood, judgment is part of intelligence. Judgment is based largely on experience. Surely an experienced human being increases his mental capacity, and that process quite often endures after 50 years.

Dr. Bayley suggests that educators reappraise their intelligence norms. It seems like a good idea.

THESE DAYS

The Skilled Labor Market

Why are there currently astonishing shortages of skilled professionals such as school teachers, nurses, office workers, etc.? There has been an enormous increase in our population but it is difficult in our larger cities to find household help and many of those who say that they can be stenographers and typists need first to learn how to spell or even to answer the telephone with the courtesy normal to those who are not frightened by a strange voice.

A city like New York has a difficult time getting teachers, not only good teachers, but any kind of teachers, anyone with a qualification. I was minded of that by a sentence in an address by the president of the Board of Education, Charles H. Silver, about the parochial schools of this city which provide for approximately 350,000 children. Silver said that if the city school system had to absorb these children, it would have to hire "13,000 more teachers and supervisors, if we could find them."

It is the phrase, "if we could find them" that is so startling because that seems to be the universal voice of despair. Of course, the federal government employs about 2,300,000 persons, many of whom could be dispensed with, according to the reports of the Hoover Commission. In economic terms, this means that the labor market for white collar workers is tightened sufficiently to create a shortage, to lift wages somewhat, to increase the use of mechanical devices and to force the acceptance of careless work.

I recently received a letter from a bank, an institution where the correct spelling of names may be very important; nevertheless throughout this letter my name was spelled incorrectly. If I questioned the girl's boss, he would only say, "Where can you find careful girls these days?" Of course, they are to be found among the women over 40 who have not been corrupted by the easy ways of inflated living.

Another factor in this situation is the development of new forms of earning a living. Modelling, for instance, has been expanded into a major form of employment for women and many girls, who might have been teachers or nurses or stenographers, find the compensation higher, the work more intriguing and the opportunities for personal advancement greater in modelling than in other trades. The public usually only knows of models who become "celebrities" in the night club sense, but many of these girls are in this business not to advertise themselves but to earn a living.

Television is making a place for a more limited number of women-workers, some of whom become announcers because they can pronounce words inoffensively. These enunciators are very well paid and have the additional advantage of being able to project their personalities. Such girls might be excellent teachers but probably at a tenth of the wages they now receive.

At any rate, there are so many ways of earning a living these days that the usual professions prove less attractive than they did two generations ago. From a social standpoint, however, the new professions are of little value whereas teachers, nurses, stenographers, etc., are essential to our lives and our welfare.

The difficulty is that the law of demand and supply does not work in these fields. Teachers are wanted and needed, but their wages remain low because it comes out of the taxpayer's pocket and he is already taxed beyond endurance. So he takes the second best and even worse rather than increase taxes. As regards office help, too much preparation is required—and costly preparation—for just ordinary jobs to be attractive and a girl who has spent four years at a college, even if she never learned anything, which is a possibility, regards herself as superior and deserving of high pay. Certainly, if a girl has had to spend four years to become a nurse, two years at college and two years of training, she feels that she is entitled to commensurate compensation even if she is no improvement on the old-fashioned nurse who only spent two years at nurse's training and the rest of her life learning a difficult profession.

If we ever get a 30-hour week for professionals, the shortage will be so acute that we shall have to import help from other countries, as we are actually importing nurses, when we can get them, from Canada.

Lights Over Broadway

They sang and danced and tumbled across the American scene. The hoofers, minstrels, acrobats, clowns, ventriloquists, magicians midgets, jugglers and animal acts. In vaudeville's frivolous parade, performers carried their hopes like banners . . . Vaudeville was more than a form of entertainment. In a very real sense, it was an expression of an era. And those who were active participants were left with luminous memories. The passing years have only intensified the shimmer. Fred Allen's affectionate recapture of vaudeville memories in Life mag is a typical case in point. He accurately noted: "The vaudeville actor was part gypsy and part suitcase. With his brash manner, flashy clothes, capes and cane, and accompanied by his gaudy womenfolk, the vaudevillian brought happiness and excitement to the communities he visited. He spent his money freely and made friends easily."

It asn't all laughter and music, of course. Vaudeville, basically, was a rigorous way of life. It meant doing four or five shows a day. You arrived at the theatre at 10 ayem and often you didn't leave until midnight. You worked hard seven days a week—between lay-offs . . . Vaudeville demanded a great deal but it gave much to those willing to learn. As George M. Cohan once declared: "As a kid in vaudeville I was often on the same bill with a hoofer that I thought was the best in the world, so I spent all my time trying to match him. It was the same way with songwriting, playwrighting and acting — there was always somebody a lot better than I — and I worked to close up the gap. My notion is that a guy who thinks he's tops isn't going to do much climbing."

The climb was incredibly difficult and the descent was often dangerously swift. Nevertheless, the lure was irresistible. For every flop carried down the slope, hundreds pressed upwards, motivated by magnificent illusions. Fame, Fortune and the Palace. . . Depending on a fickle public, at the mercy of theatre managers, harassed by agents, often wounded in pride — the vaudevillian (who generally had a jaunty approach to life) expressed his disappointments with chuckles. And the consequence was a series of classic yarns and quipper-snappers: "You shoulda caught me at the matinee." . . . "They sit down front and devour their young!" . . "What do I want for bows? Applause!" . . . "When I kick the wife in the face — loud and forte till off!"

In the realm of conflict, the performer's struggle with audiences has never known a truce. Although Duffy and Sweeney were among the big-time comedy teams, they had their troubles. In one small town their fooling went over with a thud. No laughs, no applause, no nothing. Finally Duffy strode to the footlights and announced: "Ladies and gentlemen. This is one of the proudest and happiest moments of our lives. Your tumultous reception has overwhelmed us. And now, if you all will just remain seated a few moments longer, my partner, Mr. Sweeney, will pass down the aisle with the baseball bat and beat the hell outta you!"

Vaudeville's cap-and-bells jingled merrily. And the happy echoes are still heard on television. Comedy teams as well as great individual clowns flourished. Every type of nonsense had its share of success — from the sly and sunny sharp-shooters — to the noisy enormity of slapstick artists. . . . The warm honestly Will Rogers conveyed to audiences as rooted in his personality. When he introduced a new act, Rogers publicly confided: "I've been getting away with this junk for so long that I thought you woud get wise to me sooner or later, so I went and dug up a little new stuff with which to fool you a few more years."

Utica, Poughkeepsie and Kokomo were included in the ceaseless journeys of vaudevillians. However, they all dreamed of one destination: The Palace. . . . For struggling performers the theatre was a radiant vision. For those who played the Palace, it was a royal achievement. The playhouse had an almost mystical lure. Gaining the ultimate accomplishment represented real spiritual satisfaction. . . . One performer was so elated about reaching the Palace, he hired a plane to announce the news in skywriting. By the way, the finger-pointing form of entertainment ,now so common on television) was inaugurated at the Palace. Celebs in the audience were requested to stand and take bows.

In the journey from obscurity to fame, the Palace was the last stop. And for performers, it was not far from Paradise.

Two Kinds Of Gold

THERE are two kinds of gold on earth . . . And both of them are real . . . The one we touch with fingers, and . . . The one we seem to feel . . . There is the monetary gold . . . Of our economy . . . That can secure our comfort in . . . The lap of luxury . . . And then there is the gold we have . . . That we can never spend . . . But which is far more valuable . . . THE GUN-SHY WATCH DOG

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

On Living Children

When talking about loving the children so that they feel wanted and cherished, one must define love, say what that means to him. Judging by the letters I get about this, it is evident that some people quite mistake the whole idea.

One group think that it means giving a child anything he desires short of the moon, regardless of what that may cost other people. That is not what we mean by giving a child love.

Others say that advocating this love is to encourage the parents to spoil their children by giving them their own way, making parents afraid to teach their children the hard facts of daily life and so make them unfit for that life. This is again the wrong idea of what we mean by love.

Love is a powerful force, a strengthening force. Any attitude toward children that weakens their understanding of their place in the scheme of things, that gives them the idea that to have and to get is the aim-all, end-all of life, is not love. Quite the contrary.

A truly loving parent knows that things never make anybody happy for any lenth of time. Things do not touch the spirit of men with love, but quite the reverse. Too much getting without giving dulls the spirit and creates selfishness, breeds attitudes that can only end in unhappiness.

A loving parent shields his children from their unknowing demands. He says "No" when that is necessary for the sake of the demanding child and for the welfare of the family. That "No" once given and held fast can be a bulwark of strength to a child. He leans on it, although he may be unconscious of the attitude behind it. It is the force that gives the child confidence in the security of home and family. Underneath his seeming rebellion, there is the reliance on the strength of father and mother. They care about him.

The children of today take cars, planes, telephones, entertainment, as matters of course, and because they do not know the dangers, difficulties, entanglements these accessories of modern life bring with them, they reach for them. Wisely loving parents shorten that reach and allow their children gradually to become acquainted with these useful things, preparing them, teaching them how to use things sensibly.

A 15-year-old boy complains that his father will not buy him a car. A 13-year-old girl complains that her parents won't allow her to "go steady." A small boy cries because his mother says he cannot ride his velocipede beyond the first corner and must not under any circumstances cross the road. Such mandates come from wisely loving parents. Cheers for them.

If your child has bad eating habits, or is a food fusser, you can find the solution to your problem by following Dr. Patri's advice included in booklet No. 303, "Feeding Children." To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to him, care this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

IN WASHINGTON

United Nations Faces Its Darnest Hour

Not since its formation at San Francisco in 1945 has the United Nations faced a crisis such as now confronts it, in the opinion of specialists on foreign affairs on both sides of the Atlantic.

If its international police force, hastily recruited to prevent expansion of the hostilities between Israeli and Egypt, and to enable Britain and France to withdraw from Egypt without loss of face, should prove ineffective, as some pessimists are convinced it will, the U. N.'s function to preserve world peace will become almost academic.

Historians believe that its predecessor, the League of Nations, founded on the ideas of President Woodrow Wilson, began to disintegrate in 1933 when Germany withdrew after refusing to participate in disarmament conferences. Its final effort to preserve peace was the vote in 1935 of economic sanctions against Italy, supported by 52 nation members — and by Egypt, a non - member — because Italy had invaded Ethiopia.

The sanctions in that instance were a penalty, intended to stop international trade between the supporting nations and Italy. The record shows they had no effect in forcing Italy to withdraw from Ethiopia which was annexed by Mussolini in 1936. He began immediate colonization of the captured African territory with Italian farmers, some of whom are still there, though the government of Emperor Haile Selasse has long since been restored to full sovereignty.

Now the United Nations is talking of similar sanctions against France and Britain in the Suez affair. If they should be voted, there is a possibility that both nations would withdraw from the U. N. Also under consideration is a possible motion to expel Soviet Russia from U. N. for its brutal treatment of Hungary.

Hanging over the international group of nations "dedicated to the preservation of peace" is the motion, anticipated soon, to admit Red China to the United Nations, to which the United States has been unalterably opposed, but toward which the Eisenhower administration was reported to be softening several months ago.

It has never been denied that Soviet Russia, whose membership was deemed essential at the time, if U. N. was to be at all effective, forced the inclusion in its charter of provisions which gave the Communists a whip hand, including the veto, which could be employed by any of the major powers, and insisted that membership provisions be so drafted that the Red bloc would eventually have nine votes.

In its brief lifetime, the United States has given U. N. unfailing support, permitting the organization to direct the course of the Korean war, the first U. N. Diplomats Report Hike In Disputes Among Satellites

WASHINGTON Nov. 16 (UP)—Diplomats today reported signs of intensified wrangling among Soviet leaders and among Iron Curtain officials generally over Russia's satellite policies.

The dispute centers on this question: Should Russia relax its grip on the satellites, as it has in Poland, or rule with an iron fist as it is doing in Hungary and others? The conflict promises to grow.

The State Department was watching particularly for the outcome of current talks in Moscow between Kremlin leaders and a delegation from Poland led by Communist party boss Wladyslaw Gomulka. These talks should provide the first hard evidence of whether Russia is willing to go farther toward granting its satellites more independence.

Moscow has shown in Hunary how far it will not go — it will not let a satellite spin entirely out of the Communist sphere.

New support for reports of a Kremlin split on the satellite control question was provided by a speecn of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia broke with Moscow in 1948. day.

Tito charged that "Stalinist forces" in the Kremlin are holding out against "democratization" of the satellites. He blamed them for making the "fatal error" of using Russian troops to crush the Hungarian rebellion.

Tito denied Yugoslavia was responsible for the rebellion. But he said there are those — apparently in Moscow — who are again beginning to bully Yugoslavia.

Tito named no names, but experts here believed he referred to Russia's ex-Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov, a long-time Stalinist who has been a Tito foe since Yugoslavia broke with Moscow in 1948. Molotov is believed to be the leading opponent of relaxation of Russian control of other satellites.

State Revenues Increase Above National Norm

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 16 (Special) — Louisiana's state revenues, as measured in "constant" dollars, increased more rapidly than the national average in the period 1942-54, the Public Affairs Research Council (PAR) said today.

Reporting on state and national trends, PAR said in its monthly News Analysis that Louisiana revenues increased 111 per cent from 1942 to 1954, as measured in dollars of constant value. This compares with an average increase of 51 per cent for the nation.

On a per capita basis, state revenues in Louisiana have risen even more sharply. In the period 1942-54, state government revenues rose 81 per cent in dollars of constant value. This is three times the national average increase of 27 per cent.

During the 12-year period, Louisiana's revenues exceeded expenditures while 21 states failed to achieve balanced budgets in 1954.

Louisiana, however, has reduced its debt in terms of constant dollars while the trend for othe states has been upward. Using the purchasing power of the dolla in 1947 as a basis for comparison, Louisiana decreased its state debt 40 per cent in the period 1942-54. The national average showed an increase of 50 per cent.

Building Permits

The following building permits were issued Friday by City Building Inspector Sam Awl:

Levi Walker, to move a one-story frame cabin containing three rooms to outside the city limits.

Rosa Smith, to add to a one-story frame home a bath and one room at 1413 Wood street at a cost of $1,150.

Hypnosis Used To Track Down Alleged Rapist

LOS ANGELES Nov. 16 (AP)—The use of hypnosis to probe a witness' mind for additional bits of information has been reported by the Los Angeles Police Department.

Two teen-agers who had seen the car of a suspected rapist voluntarily permitted a professional hypnotist to put them into a trance and question them, the department disclosed yesterday.

One, who had recalled part of the license number, was unable to add any more information while hypnotized, but the other added specific details on the car's interior color and equipment, the department said.

Diplomats Report Hike In Disputes Among Satellites

WASHINGTON Nov. 16 (UP)—Diplomats today reported signs of intensified wrangling among Soviet leaders and among Iron Curtain officials generally o v e r Russia's satellite policies.

The dispute centers on this question: Should Russia relax its grip on the satellites, as it has in Poland, or rule with an iron fist as it is doing in Hungary and others? The conflict promises to grow.

The State Department was watching particularly for the outcome of current talks in Moscow between Kremlin leaders and a delegation from Poland led by Communist party boss Wladyslaw Gomulka. These talks should provide the first hard evidence of whether Russia is willing to go farther toward granting its satellites more independence.

Moscow has shown in Hunary how far it will not go — it will not let a satellite spin entirely out of the Communist sphere.

New support for reports of a Kremlin split on the satellite control question was provided by a speecn of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia broke with Moscow in 1948. day.

Howard Outlines

from 50 to 40, will not save city financially but endanger it to increased crime;

8. Every city department will be cut;

The Mayor said that in spite of this "cut-expenses" operation, the city would not have enough money to function during 1957.

"I hate to see us turn the clock back 50 years and go back to a one-horse town," he said.

In reference to the hiring of an engineer to be paid $15,000 annually, Howard explained that the engineer was not hired by the City Council but by the Utilities Commission.

The Commission was appointed by the City Council following the Legislature's summer mandate to separate the power and water system from the city councils.

Howard said the new engineer would save Monroe $85,000 annually, since in the past the city has paid about $100,000 engineer's fees for services rendered.

"We have no authority whatsoever over the Utilities Commission," Howard said. "Granted, we appointed them, but we could have picked 'soft-touches' instead."

In urging the Optimists to support the sales tax, the Mayor explained that the tax would bring the city approximately $600,000 annually.

"Add that with savings we'll make in a cut operation and the city will meet the line," he said. He said the tax would not pay for a "municipal auditorium and an over-pass over town as has been rumored that I have promised," He said the tax would only enable Monroe to "break-even."

The booklet showed a cut in employees from 805 to 739, taken from June 1, 1956 to October 1, 1956; the payroll savings amounts to $84,000—$7,000 monthly.

Howard said another change in the new administration regards bus transfers, that transfers, which in the past have been used "by passenger handing them on to passenger," were done away with to find out why the city buses were losing money.

He challenged the opinion that Monroe would lose business if the sales tax passed. He said that New Orleans, Gretna, Natchez, Miss. and Vidalia, did not lose business because of a sales tax.

"If the tax fails we'll have to cut the fire department, which means that property insurance will go up; we'll have to cut the street department, which means that our already bad streets will get worse; and we'll have to cut the police department, which means that crime will increase."

"The tax is an absolute necessity that involves the future of our city and the people who live in it," he concluded.

Howard spoke to the Optimists on the last leg of a club-to-club tour that has taken him before about 25 or 30 Monroe organizations in a campaign for the sales tax.

10. It can certainly be stirring to see them STREAK across — this implying a low altitude and a great impression of speed. STREAM is less strong in this respect, since the planes may be at a very great height.

12. LEARN is best. The clue specifically mentions "students." Students are essentially persons who LEARN and this fact distinguishes them from other individuals. If they YEARN it is as individuals or aspirants rather than as students.

23. ODD is best. If he's tidy, he won't HAVE OLD papers about the office anyway; they won't be permitted to be around long enough to become OLD. He may have ODD papers here and there, but won't LEAVE them thus.

24. Not all people in the world eat BREAD — many oriental races, for example. Thus the clue does not apply. However, no one goes through life without experiencing DREAD to a greater or less degree.

25. SWELL is best. He will take NO NOTICE of the SMELL of the fish. He may take LITTLE notice of a SWELL. SHELL is not favored.

CLUES DOWN:

1. PACT is most apt. A man to whom TACT is unimportant ISN'T a diplomat. There might well be trouble if he declared a PACT to be unimportant.

2. One DEFECT means one thing (something) wrong, somewhere. A DEFEAT may well mean that MANY things have gone wrong.

3. If you TOP it you make it shorter. If you LOP it you may be just taking off a branch.

8. Any application of LEVERAGE in manual labor is using "some sort" of LEVER, so LEVER is very apt to "building worker" (a GENERAL term). Only CERTAIN workers (e.g. bricklayers, carpenters, etc.,) are likely to use a LEVEL.

14. FED links better with "well-being." Good LEADERSHIP is directed to making the expedition a success, the personal well-being of the members being a secondary consideration.

16. WOODS, yes; but it is debatable whether WORDS themselves HAVE much beauty. It is more a case of appreciating beautiful USAGE of words, as in poetry, etc.,

17. "Demand to know the reason why" suggests a belligerent attitude, as when he is TERSE or curt. If he's TENSE, her attitude may well be more sympathetic...

18. GAZE is best. A MAZE IS normally puzzling. A GAZE is not normally puzzling but it CAN be at times.

22. "Fellow - feeling" implies mutual sympathy in some sort of ADVERSITY (ILL) rather than mutual ENJOYMENT of something (ALL. Specifying "sea" also favors ILL.

General Charges Reds Threat To Hawaii Security

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (UP)—Retired Army Lt. Gen John W. (Iron Mike) O'Daniel told congressional investigators Friday that Communist activity in Hawaii poses a definite threat to U. S. military security.

About 40 more witnesses are scheduled to testify at subcommittee hearings in Honolulu, tentatively set to start Nov. 30.

O'Daniel who retired last February after 40 years of service, said the subcommittee inquiry was "very timely." A close watch on Communist activity in Hawaii is "emphatically" needed and "cannot be overdone."

O'Daniel said the Communists in Hawaii posed a "definite" threat to U. S. security while he was Army commander there. Later visits to the islands convinced him "the danger is just as great or greater now."

He told the subcommittee the Communists control the sugar workers and Hawaiian port facilities through the "Communist infested" International Longshoreman's and Warehousemen's union.

"Through causing a dock strike, they can disrupt the whole economy of the islands," he said.

O'Daniel reminded the subcommittee that next to the continental United States, Hawaii is the main U. S. military base for the whole Pacific area. He said it serves as the supply depot for the whole area as a staging point and the site of command headquarters.

Because of Hawaii's importance, he said, he conducted 24-hour practice alerts every three months while he was Pacific commander to prepare for what might happen in a Communist uprising.

He said one exercise was aimed at a possible Communist revolt within the islands simultaneously with an enemy attack from without.

17 Tons Of Tuna Caught In Gulf In Single Week

PASCAGOULA Miss., Nov. 16 (AP)—The yellowfin tuna hunting vessel Oregon left today on the heels of a report of outstanding catches by a private tuna boat.

The exploratory vessel will carry out four weeks of production fishing with long-line gear. The first half of the trip will be spent in the central and western Gulf of Mexico. After a return trip to unload, the second half will be in the northeast and north central gulf.

Harvey R. Bullis Jr., chief of the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service's office here, said the vessel Milmar returned yesterday with "the first real good commercial catch" from the gulf.

The Milmar caught 17¾ tons of prized yellowfin in seven days. The fish were caught 100-125 miles south of Mobile, Ala., and Pascagoula by long-line fishing.

The Oregon's cruise is the last of five made this year to obtain a year-round picture of potential catch rates for commercial long-liners.

Negro Reports Suicide Attempt In West Monroe

A wounded 30-year-old Negro man carrying a shotgun walked into the West Monroe police station yesterday afternoon and calmly told officers he had just tried to commit suicide.

Officers said the Negro, Johnny Wilson, Jr. of 904½ North Sixth street, West Monroe, was suffering from two shotgun wounds, one of the left big toe and the other of the right hand when he came into the office.

The Negro told police officers he lost his job around noon and was feeling despondent.

Last night the Negro was undergoing an operation at the Conway Memorial Hospital on his toe to remove some of the shotgun pellets.

The Negro told West Monroe police he attempted to take his own life in a cotton field in the rear of Brewer Haynes' house on North Seventh street about 2:30 p.m.

West Monroe officers said the Negro casually walked into police headquarters about 4:30 p.m. and related the incident.

The weapon reportedly used in the incident, a three-shot, .410 gauge shotgun, was slung under the arm of the Negro as he made his way into the police station, officers said.

The Negro told officers he fired three times, once into the ground, once into his left foot, and once into his right hand.

Wilson told police he finished paying out the final installment on the gun at a West Monroe appliance store about 1: p.m.

He said he also purchased 25 .410 shotgun shells when he made his last payment on the weapon.

As the vicinity where the Negro reportedly shot himself was out of the West Monroe city jurisdiction, police turned the case over to the parish Sheriff's department last night, along with a report on the shooting and the weapon carried by the Negro.

Auditors Begin Audit Of Auditors For Gov. Folsom

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 16 (AP)—Gov. James E. Folsom's "battle of audits" with state examiners took a new twist today.

The governor made good his promise to 'cross examine" the department of examiners of public accounts, which he once referred to as "the only state department that hadn't been audited in 10 years."

Wooser & Andrews of Anniston, a private firm of certifitd public accountants, which Folsom hired to check the books of his office, began an audit of the examiner's department.

State examiners sought to check the mansion fund books several months ago, but had to quit when the governor refused to surrender his records.

Later the governor declared it would take a state official "with bigger tanks and guns than I've got" to check his books without his permission.

Shortly afterward the governor relented when the Legislature's committee on public accounts, which supervises the examiner's department, prepared to check into the status of the audit.

Largest Non-Atom Blast Slated For Tuesday Morning

LAKESIDE, Utah, Nov. 16 (AP)—Six hundred thousand pounds of explosives have been packed into tunnels drilled into a Utah cliff and their blast next Tuesday will be one of the largest non-atomic explosions ever set off.

The purpose is to loosen rock to be used by the Southern Pacific Railroad in building a causeway for its transcontinental tracks across a portion of Great Salt Lake.

The 49-million-dollar project will replace a 12-mile-long wooden trestle that has been in use since the railroad built its short cut across the lake in 1904.

Engineers expect the blast to tear loose more than one million tons of rock. The explosion is set for about 11 a.m. (MST) Tuesday.

W. M. Jaekle, chief engineer for Southern Pacific, said seismologists think the force of the blast may be recorded on seismographs as far away as San Francisco, about 700 miles from this Southern Pacific station on the western shore of the lake.

Jaekle said records show that larger amounts of explosive have been used only twice in the United States. Both blasts occurred during construction of the Tennessee Valley Authority's South Holston dam.

On July 14, 1948, the TVA used 844,000 pounds of explosives in a single blast and on Feb. 5, 1949, touched off 1,362,000 pounds.

Construction of the causeway is expected to be completed in about 3½ years.

422,522 Bales Of Cotton Surplus Sold At Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Commodity Stabilization Service today announced the sale of 422,522 bales of cotton for export only.

The cotton was sold on bids opened Nov. 13. The average price at which the cotton was sold basis middling one inch at average locations was 26.22 cents per pound. The minimum price for middling 15-16 inch at average locations was 25.25 cents per pound.

The sales brought the total number of bales sold for export to 5,650,900.

Howard Outlines

from 50 to 40, will not save city financially but endanger it to increased crime;

8. Every city department will be cut;

The Mayor said that in spite of this "cut-expenses" operation, the city would not have enough money to function during 1957.

"I hate to see us turn the clock back 50 years and go back to a one-horse town," he said.

In reference to the hiring of an engineer to be paid $15,000 annually, Howard explained that the engineer was not hired by the City Council but by the Utilities Commission.

The Commission was appointed by the City Council following the Legislature's summer mandate to separate the power and water system from the city councils.

Howard said the new engineer would save Monroe $85,000 annually, since in the past the city has paid about $100,000 engineer's fees for services rendered.

"We have no authority whatsoever over the Utilities Commission," Howard said. "Granted, we appointed them, but we could have picked 'soft-touches' instead."

In urging the Optimists to support the sales tax, the Mayor explained that the tax would bring the city approximately $600,000 annually.

"Add that with savings we'll make in a cut operation and the city will meet the line," he said. He said the tax would not pay for a "municipal auditorium and an over-pass over town as has been rumored that I have promised," He said the tax would only enable Monroe to "break-even."

The booklet showed a cut in employees from 805 to 739, taken from June 1, 1956 to October 1, 1956; the payroll savings amounts to $84,000—$7,000 monthly.

Howard said another change in the new administration regards bus transfers, that transfers, which in the past have been used "by passenger handing them on to passenger," were done away with to find out why the city buses were losing money.

He challenged the opinion that Monroe would lose business if the sales tax passed. He said that New Orleans, Gretna, Natchez, Miss. and Vidalia, did not lose business because of a sales tax.

"If the tax fails we'll have to cut the fire department, which means that property insurance will go up; we'll have to cut the street department, which means that our already bad streets will get worse; and we'll have to cut the police department, which means that crime will increase."

"The tax is an absolute necessity that involves the future of our city and the people who live in it," he concluded.

Howard spoke to the Optimists on the last leg of a club-to-club tour that has taken him before about 25 or 30 Monroe organizations in a campaign for the sales tax.

10. It can certainly be stirring to see them STREAK across — this implying a low altitude and a great impression of speed. STREAM is less strong in this respect, since the planes may be at a very great height.

12. LEARN is best. The clue specifically mentions "students." Students are essentially persons who LEARN and this fact distinguishes them from other individuals. If they YEARN it is as individuals or aspirants rather than as students.

23. ODD is best. If he's tidy, he won't HAVE OLD papers about the office anyway; they won't be permitted to be around long enough to become OLD. He may have ODD papers here and there, but won't LEAVE them thus.

24. Not all people in the world eat BREAD — many oriental races, for example. Thus the clue does not apply. However, no one goes through life without experiencing DREAD to a greater or less degree.

25. SWELL is best. He will take NO NOTICE of the SMELL of the fish. He may take LITTLE notice of a SWELL. SHELL is not favored.

CLUES DOWN:

1. PACT is most apt. A man to whom TACT is unimportant ISN'T a diplomat. There might well be trouble if he declared a PACT to be unimportant.

2. One DEFECT means one thing (something) wrong, somewhere. A DEFEAT may well mean that MANY things have gone wrong.

3. If you TOP it you make it shorter. If you LOP it you may be just taking off a branch.

8. Any application of LEVERAGE in manual labor is using "some sort" of LEVER, so LEVER is very apt to "building worker" (a GENERAL term). Only CERTAIN workers (e.g. bricklayers, carpenters, etc.,) are likely to use a LEVEL.

14. FED links better with "well-being." Good LEADERSHIP is directed to making the expedition a success, the personal well-being of the members being a secondary consideration.

16. WOODS, yes; but it is debatable whether WORDS themselves HAVE much beauty. It is more a case of appreciating beautiful USAGE of words, as in poetry, etc.,

17. "Demand to know the reason why" suggests a belligerent attitude, as when he is TERSE or curt. If he's TENSE, her attitude may well be more sympathetic...

18. GAZE is best. A MAZE IS normally puzzling. A GAZE is not normally puzzling but it CAN be at times.

22. "Fellow - feeling" implies mutual sympathy in some sort of ADVERSITY (ILL) rather than mutual ENJOYMENT of something (ALL. Specifying "sea" also favors ILL.

General Charges Reds Threat To Hawaii Security

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (UP)—Retired Army Lt. Gen John W. (Iron Mike) O'Daniel told congressional investigators Friday that Communist activity in Hawaii poses a definite threat to U. S. military security.

About 40 more witnesses are scheduled to testify at subcommittee hearings in Honolulu, tentatively set to start Nov. 30.

O'Daniel who retired last February after 40 years of service, said the subcommittee inquiry was "very timely." A close watch on Communist activity in Hawaii is "emphatically" needed and "cannot be overdone."

O'Daniel said the Communists in Hawaii posed a "definite" threat to U. S. security while he was Army commander there. Later visits to the islands convinced him "the danger is just as great or greater now."

He told the subcommittee the Communists control the sugar workers and Hawaiian port facilities through the "Communist infested" International Longshoreman's and Warehousemen's union.

"Through causing a dock strike, they can disrupt the whole economy of the islands," he said.

O'Daniel reminded the subcommittee that next to the continental United States, Hawaii is the main U. S. military base for the whole Pacific area. He said it serves as the supply depot for the whole area as a staging point and the site of command headquarters.

Because of Hawaii's importance, he said, he conducted 24-hour practice alerts every three months while he was Pacific commander to prepare for what might happen in a Communist uprising.

He said one exercise was aimed at a possible Communist revolt within the islands simultaneously with an enemy attack from without.

17 Tons Of Tuna Caught In Gulf In Single Week

PASCAGOULA Miss., Nov. 16 (AP)—The yellowfin tuna hunting vessel Oregon left today on the heels of a report of outstanding catches by a private tuna boat.

The exploratory vessel will carry out four weeks of production fishing with long-line gear. The first half of the trip will be spent in the central and western Gulf of Mexico. After a return trip to unload, the second half will be in the northeast and north central gulf.

Harvey R. Bullis Jr., chief of the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service's office here, said the vessel Milmar returned yesterday with "the first real good commercial catch" from the gulf.

The Milmar caught 17¾ tons of prized yellowfin in seven days. The fish were caught 100-125 miles south of Mobile, Ala., and Pascagoula by long-line fishing.

The Oregon's cruise is the last of five made this year to obtain a year-round picture of potential catch rates for commercial long-liners.

Negro Reports Suicide Attempt In West Monroe

A wounded 30-year-old Negro man carrying a shotgun walked into the West Monroe police station yesterday afternoon and calmly told officers he had just tried to commit suicide.

Officers said the Negro, Johnny Wilson, Jr. of 904½ North Sixth street, West Monroe, was suffering from two shotgun wounds, one of the left big toe and the other of the right hand when he came into the office.

The Negro told police officers he lost his job around noon and was feeling despondent.

Last night the Negro was undergoing an operation at the Conway Memorial Hospital on his toe to remove some of the shotgun pellets.

The Negro told West Monroe police he attempted to take his own life in a cotton field in the rear of Brewer Haynes' house on North Seventh street about 2:30 p.m.

West Monroe officers said the Negro casually walked into police headquarters about 4:30 p.m. and related the incident.

The weapon reportedly used in the incident, a three-shot, .410 gauge shotgun, was slung under the arm of the Negro as he made his way into the police station, officers said.

The Negro told officers he fired three times, once into the ground, once into his left foot, and once into his right hand.

Wilson told police he finished paying out the final installment on the gun at a West Monroe appliance store about 1: p.m.

He said he also purchased 25 .410 shotgun shells when he made his last payment on the weapon.

As the vicinity where the Negro reportedly shot himself was out of the West Monroe city jurisdiction, police turned the case over to the parish Sheriff's department last night, along with a report on the shooting and the weapon carried by the Negro.

Auditors Begin Audit Of Auditors For Gov. Folsom

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 16 (AP)—Gov. James E. Folsom's "battle of audits" with state examiners took a new twist today.

The governor made good his promise to 'cross examine" the department of examiners of public accounts, which he once referred to as "the only state department that hadn't been audited in 10 years."

Wooser & Andrews of Anniston, a private firm of certifitd public accountants, which Folsom hired to check the books of his office, began an audit of the examiner's department.

State examiners sought to check the mansion fund books several months ago, but had to quit when the governor refused to surrender his records.

Later the governor declared it would take a state official "with bigger tanks and guns than I've got" to check his books without his permission.

Shortly afterward the governor relented when the Legislature's committee on public accounts, which supervises the examiner's department, prepared to check into the status of the audit.

Largest Non-Atom Blast Slated For Tuesday Morning

LAKESIDE, Utah, Nov. 16 (AP)—Six hundred thousand pounds of explosives have been packed into tunnels drilled into a Utah cliff and their blast next Tuesday will be one of the largest non-atomic explosions ever set off.

The purpose is to loosen rock to be used by the Southern Pacific Railroad in building a causeway for its transcontinental tracks across a portion of Great Salt Lake.

The 49-million-dollar project will replace a 12-mile-long wooden trestle that has been in use since the railroad built its short cut across the lake in 1904.

Engineers expect the blast to tear loose more than one million tons of rock. The explosion is set for about 11 a.m. (MST) Tuesday.

W. M. Jaekle, chief engineer for Southern Pacific, said seismologists think the force of the blast may be recorded on seismographs as far away as San Francisco, about 700 miles from this Southern Pacific station on the western shore of the lake.

Jaekle said records show that larger amounts of explosive have been used only twice in the United States. Both blasts occurred during construction of the Tennessee Valley Authority's South Holston dam.

On July 14, 1948, the TVA used 844,000 pounds of explosives in a single blast and on Feb. 5, 1949, touched off 1,362,000 pounds.

422,522 Bales Of Cotton Surplus Sold At Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Commodity Stabilization Service today announced the sale of 422,522 bales of cotton for export only.

The cotton was sold on bids opened Nov. 13. The average price at which the cotton was sold basis middling one inch at average locations was 26.22 cents per pound. The minimum price for middling 15-16 inch at average locations was 25.25 cents per pound.

The sales brought the total number of bales sold for export to 5,650,900.

FROM NINE TO FIVE By Jo Fischer

I'm looking for a dress two sizes too large. I've got to convince my doctor I'm really losing weight.

MONEY-MAD WIFE LOSING HER MAN

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I work for the same factory, but on different shifts. I have reason to believe that he's been entertaining the girl next door while I'm working. My brother has tried to warn me of the affair, but what I don't know won't worry me, so I prefer to be spared details.

My brother says I should give up working. We don't really need the money, but I sure like the pay check I've been getting for two years. There's something solid about money in the bank. Do you think I have anything to worry about?

Money Lover

DEAR M.L.: Apparently not, since there's no danger of bank failures at the moment. But you'll find a bank book, no matter how well filled, is a cold substitute for the love and security of a husband, or your children's devotion.

Love of money, the Bible tells us, is the root of all evil. In your case, the root is growing into a plant that will destroy everything human in your make-up. Be satisfied with what you have, and turn your thoughts to home.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm a 16-year-old, mature-looking, quite attractive girl. I'm deeply in love with a college boy. He's left for school, and I find that I'm pregnant. What can I say to him?

E.A.M.

DEAR E.A.M.: Tell him to come a-running, equipped with a wedding ring.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Every morning I ride on a bus with a girl I would like to know better. Could I ask her for a date on the bus, or pick her up in my car some morning, then ask her?

Steve

DEAR STEVE: I assume you've already struck up a smiling-speaking acquaintance with her. Don't worry too much about where you ask for the date; the poor girl is probably wondering why you're so slow.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: The fellow I love is 15 years older than I. He's a very quiet person, doesn't like to go dancing or anywhere in a crowd. I like people, and enjoy being among them. Another obstacle is his mother, who tells me frankly she doesn't like me. Yet he expects to live with her when he's married. Do you think there's a chance of happiness under the circumstances?

Patty

DEAR PATTY: Living under the same roof with a woman who definitely resents you is certainly no future to look forward to. That, coupled with the difference in age and temperament, makes your chance of happiness slight.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I've been going with a widow for two years. Recently her daughter took an apartment near her, and things have changed drastically.

Her daughter and the children have taken over. Whenever I call, she's feeding a mob; if I ask her out, she's promised to baby-sit. I know we love each other but I'm afraid I'll have to call it quits.

Royal B.

DEAR ROYAL: Guess you'll have to use caveman tactics. Grab the lady and hasten to the license bureau, then on to a parson. If she acquires other obligations, the pressure of the younger family will let up.

Send your problem to Dorothy Dix. Or write for her free leaflet D-36, "Guidance to Gracious Living." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

NOTICE

This is to notify the public that it is unlawful to ride, drive or haul upon the public levees of the State of Louisiana and it is also unlawful to allow hogs to root the levees.

REFERENCE: The Revised Statutes 38-213 forbids any person to ride, drive or haul upon public levees unless permission is given to the public. Penalty for violating this section is a fine of not more than $50.00 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days.

Revised Statutes 38 Section 225 provides that it is an offense to scrape or wear away the surface of any levee or its surfacing of sod by any form of abuse. The penalty for violating any provision of this Section shall be a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment of not more than 6 months or both.

The public is hereby warned that the above provisions of the Revised Statutes will be strictly enforced and that any person caught violating the hauling, driving and riding provisions of the Statutes as well as any persons found allowing livestock to graze levee sod too short, or hogs to root on the levees of the Tensas Basin Levee District will be vigorously prosecuted.

Ben-Gurion Not Intimidated By Bulganin Threat

JERUSALEM, Israel Nov. 16 (UP) —Premier David Ben-Gurion refuses to be intimidated by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's latest note threatening the existence of Israel, informed sources said today.

The note was relayed to Ben-Gurion late Thursday night by a foreign ministry official who said the Israeli premier would reply at his leisure. In it Bulganin, according to dispatches from Moscow, said Israel had endangered its international position by attacking Egypt.

Many sources here believed Bulganin's latest messages to Israel and to France and Britain were chiefly calculated to win Arab sympathies.

It was also believed here the notes may be Bulganin's reply to a recent statement by outgoing NATO head Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther that a nation starting an atomic war would be destroyed "as certainly as day follows night."

Moscow could hardly remain silent without possibly losing 'face" in the Arab Mideast, the sources said. Failure to react, it was said, would have seemed to the Arabs as though Russia had backed down from its earlier threats.

Her daughter and the children have taken over. Whenever I call, she's feeding a mob; if I ask her out, she's promised to baby-sit. I know we love each other but I'm afraid I'll have to call it quits.

NOTICE

This is to notify the public that it is unlawful to ride, drive or haul upon the public levees of the State of Louisiana and it is also unlawful to allow hogs to root the levees.

REFERENCE: The Revised Statutes 38-213 forbids any person to ride, drive or haul upon public levees unless permission is given to the public. Penalty for violating this section is a fine of not more than $50.00 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days.

Revised Statutes 38 Section 225 provides that it is an offense to scrape or wear away the surface of any levee or its surfacing of sod by any form of abuse. The penalty for violating any provision of this Section shall be a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment of not more than 6 months or both.

The public is hereby warned that the above provisions of the Revised Statutes will be strictly enforced and that any person caught violating the hauling, driving and riding provisions of the Statutes as well as any persons found allowing livestock to graze levee sod too short, or hogs to root on the levees of the Tensas Basin Levee District will be vigorously prosecuted.

Ben-Gurion Not Intimidated By Bulganin Threat

JERUSALEM, Israel Nov. 16 (UP) —Premier David Ben-Gurion refuses to be intimidated by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's latest note threatening the existence of Israel, informed sources said today.

The note was relayed to Ben-Gurion late Thursday night by a foreign ministry official who said the Israeli premier would reply at his leisure. In it Bulganin, according to dispatches from Moscow, said Israel had endangered its international position by attacking Egypt.

Many sources here believed Bulganin's latest messages to Israel and to France and Britain were chiefly calculated to win Arab sympathies.

It was also believed here the notes may be Bulganin's reply to a recent statement by outgoing NATO head Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther that a nation starting an atomic war would be destroyed "as certainly as day follows night."

Moscow could hardly remain silent without possibly losing 'face" in the Arab Mideast, the sources said. Failure to react, it was said, would have seemed to the Arabs as though Russia had backed down from its earlier threats.

Afternoon Tea Compliments Miss Dorothy Whittington

TALLULAH — Miss Dorothy Whittington, a bride-elect, whose wedding will take place December 30 in Amite, was delightfully complimented with a tea given by Mrs. C. W. Kennedy and Mrs. James Ellis. The event took place at the home of Mrs. Kennedy on Ashley Plantation on Satur-

A green and white color scheme was effectively carried out with arrangements of chrysanthemums and snapdragons and white candles placed at vantage points throughout the reception rooms.

In the receiving line to greet the guests were Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Whittington, lovely in a beige lace dress and wearing a shoulder corsage of deep pink chrysanthemums, her mother, Mrs. J. P. Whittington of Amite, Mrs. H. S. Weigel Jr., also of Amite, mother of the bridegroom-elect and Mrs. Ellis.

The tea table, with its white cut work cloth held a large bouquet of chrysanthemums, snapdragons and fern flanked by white candles in silver holders of graduated lengths. At each end there was a handsome silver service where Mrs. James Ellis Jr., Mrs. Robert Cagnolatti, Miss Lucy Currier of Baton Rouge and Miss Maria Maggio alternated serving tea and coffee.

Little Becky Kennedy had charge of the registration in the Bride's book and Mrs. William Clark played the piano during the afternoon.

Among the guests in attendance were Mrs. J. Roy Medlin, Mrs. W. H. Erickson, Miss Jane Vernon Sevier, Mrs. John Sevier, Mrs. H. D. Morton, Mrs. Dorothy Bray, Mrs. J. M. Yeates, Mrs. H. B. Ivy, Mrs. J. W. Huckabay, Mrs. M. P. LeBlanc, Miss Anne Ward, Mrs. R. L. Farr, Mrs. R. F. Stephenson, Mrs. R. L. Moncrief, Mrs. Carroll Crow, Mrs. R. G. Long, Mrs. Mary G. Claughton, Mrs. Lucy E. The guests included Rob, Mack and Jennefer Lancaster of St. Joseph, Frank Bracket, Ronald Fiske, James Berry Dumas, Jimmy Melton, Johnnie Butler, Tom Pollard, Joe Chatman, Sandra Tatum, Carolyn Sawyer, Bertha Roundtree, Leah Rush, Carolyn Crenshaw, Cherrel and Davis East, Brenda Sullivan and Valerie Hester, of Lake Providence.

Parties In Lake Providence Of Interest

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Dr. and Mrs. George Wright entertained this week with a cocktail party at the American Legion Home honoring Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Paris.

The hosts and the honor guests formed a receiving line at the door to the lounge to greet the guests who called. Decorations of large chrysanthemums were used throughout the reception rooms and on the serving tables.

Assisting Dr. and Mrs. Wright with the courtesies of the evening was Mrs. Malcolm Cognolatti, of Tallulah.

About 95 guests called during the party hours.

Out of town guests who attended were Dr. and Mrs. William Morris, Dr. and Mrs. George Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harkey and Mr. and Mrs. White, all of Tallulah, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bledsoe, of Greenville, Mississippi.

Mrs. H. H. Howington, of Lepanto, Arkansas, was honoree at a tea given by Mrs H. H. Howington, Jr., at her home on Bayou Tensas this week, from three until five in the afternoon.

The Howington home was decorated for the occasion with chrysanthemums in varying shades of bronze, yellow and pink. The tea table was overlaid with a white cutwork linen cloth, and centered with bronze mums in a green bowl.

Assisting Mrs. Howington were Mrs. J. E. Howington and Mrs. Frank A. Cain.

MR. AND MRS. MAX KULCKE and Dr. and Mrs. Bert Heinberg are pictured at garden party held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lealis Hale to make plans for the current membership drive of the Twin City Symphony. The first concert to be held December 13 under the direction of Dr. Harry Lemert and will feature a 200 voice children's chorus from the Twin City schools.

Two Hostesses Entertain Book Club

LaTertulia Book Club held its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Carl Riggin, with Mrs. J. Howard Williams co-hostess.

Sheriff Bailey Grant was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Fay Jackson. Mr. Grant gave a most interesting talk on juvenile delinquency.

During the social hour Mrs. Jack Webb was welcomed as a new member.

The president, Mrs. Eugene Lutz presided during the business session and plans were made for the December meeting.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Fred Brownlee Jr., Mrs. Maude Brownlee, Mrs. L. G. Cook, Mrs. Margie DeLee, Mrs. Earl Hamm, Mrs. Kenneth Holt, Mrs. Carl Jackson, Mrs. Fay Jackson, Miss Clara Johnston, Mrs. Eugene Lutz, Mrs. Tom McClain, Mrs. Jennette Mahaffey, Mrs. R. C. Pittard, Mrs. Carl Riggin, Mrs. Richard Watkins, Mrs. Jack Webb and Mrs. J. Howard Williams.

Mrs. Dodgen Hosts Meeting Of Bridge Club

The Monroe Duplicate Club held its regular Thursday meeting in the home of Mrs. C. W. Dodgen.

First place was won by Mrs. Otto Passman and Mrs. Dorothy Fuller. In second place were Mrs. Stewart Scott and Mrs. H. McDonald.

Other playing were Mrs. John Harper, Mrs. Thomas Youngblood, Mrs. D. F. Burkhalter, Mrs. L. W. Weynand, Mrs. Tom Inskeep, Miss Marion Mayor, Mrs. Vincent Zagone, Mrs. Hugh E. Milligan, Mrs. C. W. Dodgen, Mrs. J. D. Naremor Mrs. J. H. Lary and Mrs. Tom McCue.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

This is a simple exercise to strengthen your arches. Point the toes hard, hold and relax. Continue.

If Your Feet Trouble You, Here's What You Can Do

Our feet fall heir to many conditions which may cause us discomfort. Sometimes these can be very painful. Even tired feet can make us weary just as eye strain can.

Weak arches give many people trouble. Sometimes a person is born with these but often originally strong arches are sabotaged because of overweight, incorrectly fitted shoes or an occupation which keeps you on your feet most of the day. These are the main offenders.

You may be able to avoid the penalties of weak arches if you take special arch exercises, use more care in the selection of your shoes, lose overweight, and rest with your feet up whenever possible. If the condition is severe you should see a podiatrist or chiropodist. The following is a splendid exercise for the arches.

Sit on the floor with your legs resting on the floor in front of you, knees stiff. Lean back on your hands. Point both toes HARD. Hold for a few moments and relax. Continue.

Bunions make many folks miserable. This is an inflammation of the sac around the joint of the big toe. You should see a podiatrist since this requires skilled care. Shoes which are too short or too pointed will cause bunions.

Perspiring feet are another source of discomfort. Diseased sweat glands, illness, nervousness or emotional tensions may be the reason. This can be most annoying since excessive perspiration irritates the skin and may cause tenderness.

If you have this trouble you should bath your feet twice a day. You will find cool foot baths helpful. If you add a tablespoon of alum to the foot bath it will discourage perspiration. Always dust the feet with powder before putting on your stockings or socks. Of course it is important to try to remedy, or control, the factors which cause this unhappy state.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 14 which gives exercises for the arches, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

United Givers' Receipts Mount To $117,949.14

The third report meeting of the United Givers fund campaign Friday at noon tabulated a total of $117,949.14 toward the goal of $189,000. This represents 62.4 per cent of the goal.

Walter Kellogg, general chairman of the drive, expressed concern over the slowness of the progress of the drive. He said that although early returns were excellent, those which have been turned in during the past week have fallen down considerably.

He urged all workers in the drive to be sure that the purpose of the Give Once ... For All campaign be explained to all givers, and that they secure pledges large enough to finance all the agencies in this one drive. Many people, he said, are apparently not aware that this is not "just another drive," but that it is an attempt to wrap all major campaigns up into one. In order to be successful, he added givers must pledge enough for all agencies in this one contact.

Unless the drive is put over the top this first time, Kellogg stated, we may find ourselves again faced with a multitude of drives, one following upon the heels of another.

The reports by divisions were: Special gifts, Clifford Strauss, chairman, $75,491.00 or 82.1 per cent of their goal.

Large firms, C. D. McAdams, chairman, $24,840.41 or 50.4 per cent of the goal.

Commerce and industry, Fred Meyer chairman, $2,934.04 or 19.7 per cent of the division's goal.

Business division, $4,123.75 or 24.3 per cent of the goal. George Moses, chairman.

Home Builders Back Sales Tax

A third local organization has formally endorsed Monroe's proposed one per cent sales tax.

The Home Builders Association Thursday night by majority vote joined two other groups in endorsing the proposal which goes before the people Nov. 27.

Previously sanctioning the sales tax were the Monroe beautification board and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A fourth organization, the Monroe-West Monroe Board of Realtors, is conducting a poll to determine if its members will unanimously okay the sales tax. The vote will be taken at the next regular meeting Tuesday.

E. A. Porter, Jr., stated that all of the members contacted have voiced approval of the tax.

Dollar is a word which came from "thaler," a town known as Thal in Bohemia. A legitimate coin made in that town was the origin of the "dollar." The first use of the word was about 1518.

Fluor Corp. Gets Miss. Contract

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP) — Fluor Corp. of Los Angeles, Calif., has been awarded a contract for construction of a phosphoric acid plant and granulating units at the Coastal Chemical Corp. fertilizer plant at Pascagoula.

C. S. Whittington of Greenwood, president of the corporation, said construction would begin next year.

Jackson County approved a $750,-bond issue last week for construction of the plant under the state's balance agriculture with industry program.

Earlier, Jackson County Port Authority awarded a contract for dredging the deep water channel on which the plant would be located.

American Legion Meeting Arranged

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion will be held 8 p.m. Monday at the Legion home on Forsythe Avenue, it was announced by commander Sam Rubin, Jr.

A special film has been sent from the national headquarters of the Legion in Indianapolis entitled "Self-preservation in an Atomic Attack." This film will outline action to be taken by the military as well civilians in case of such a bombing. This is not a "scare film" but a picture concerning preparation and education of the public, Rubin added.

Commander Rubin also announced that Gordon Gibson and Milton Ford had arranged to serve free barbecue beef with all the trimmings to all Legionnaires attending this meeting. The free meal will be served to all those members who have signed up for 1957 cards.

Vice - commander A. O. Ware repeated the voting of the last meeting, "that the L. B. Faulk Post would absorb the dues increase which will take effect on December 1, 1956." After December 1, the post must pay an additional 25 cents to the national organization.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 60 cents lower today.

Only December showed a gain where trade covering met limited spot house liquidation. Other nearby deliveries received fair support through spot house covering.

Commission house buying in distant months, which had been active in two previous sessions, was lacking today and those deliveries sagged as profit taking developed.

Traders watched shipping developments closely, following the closing down of Atlantic and Gulf ports by the strike of longshoremen. United States cotton exports have been at a rate far above levels of a year ago.

The Census Bureau reported October consumption at 732,319 running bales which was a little better than trade expectations. Consumption so far this season, August - October, was 2,240,771 bales, or 86,939 bales smaller than the like period a year earlier. The bureau reported that end of October mill stocks of raw cotton were 1,153,875 bales, against 899,280 a month previously and 1,358,885 at the end of October a year ago.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 60 cents lower than the previous close.

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular here today. Trade buying and short covering supported near months while the distant positions were under mild pressure of long realizing and hedge selling.

Closing prices were steady, 50 cents a bale lower to 15 cents higher.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—The average price of one inch spot cotton at 14 designated southern spot markets today was unchanged at 33.25 cents a pound; previous day 33.25; week ago 33.19; month ago 33.17; year ago 34.85. Average for the past 30 market days 33.09; middling 15-16ths inch average 32.11. Sales 87,865.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Spot cotton closed steady and unchanged. Sales 1,754; low middling 27.25; middling 33.50; good middling 34.25; receipts 4,771; stock 556,-821.

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

Air Force contracts totaling more than $25 million were announced. The largest went to United Aircraft, Pratt and Whitney Division, for $8,750,000; Douglas Aircraft, $3,419,933; Shaw and Estes, $2.7 million; and Curtiss Wright, $2.5 million.

DuPont sales in October picked up to around $165 million, $10 million above third quarter monthly average, said Lammont DuPont Copeland, chairman of the finance committee. Volume for final three months of year is expected to exceed $480 million, compared with $465 million in third quarter. For all 1956, total net income of the top chemical producer should be in the neighborhood of $8 a common share, compared with $9.26 in 1955.

Western Europe felt the first effects of an oil shortage caused by the Middle East crisis today when the French government ordered a temporary reduction of long distance passenger train runs.

Albert Ehlers announced a four cents a pound wholesale price cut on carload lots of its Ehlers vacuum packed coffee effective immediately.

Stockholders of American Tractor at special meetings Thursday approved a plan to merge with J. E. Case. Under the terms of the tentative merger agreement, which has met active opposition from some Case shareholders, the plan can still be abandoned by Case directors if the number of shares dissenting is so substantial as to render the merger inadvisable.

Production workers at the Anaconda copper mine at Chuquicamata have decided to continue working overtime holidays and every other Sunday, the company said. The worker's decision reversed an earlier one which would have curtailed production. It followed a similar one adopted by white collar workers.

Loans to business by leading New York banks in the last week rose $11,000,000 the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported. This brought the total to $11,144,-000,000—a new record.

Auto output this week rose eight per cent over last week, but remained substantially below the year earlier level. Assemblies amounted to 412,773 cars, 10,686 above the preceding week, 36,974 under the like 1955 period.

After opening barely steady New York cotton futures traded in a narrow range throughout the day with Clayton's brokers liquidating about 30 December contracts and also showing a willingness to sell March at 34.25. In general, the distant months were neglected with some price fixing appearing in the near months. As of November 9th unfixed call sales totaled 1,055,-200 bales compared to 769,900 a year ago. Unfixed call purchases totalled 36,200 bales versus 68,500 last year. Trading in the gray goods market continues slow with sales mostly through second hands at prices ranging from 18¾ to 19 cents for 80 squares.

It was reported that exports today totalled 27,250 bales which brings the season total to 1,587,352 bales compared to 442,227 bales a year ago. It was reported that some cotton has been accumulated at various gulf ports with the cotton trade uncertain regarding export movement as a result of the dock strike.

Less Than 1,000 Accept U. S. Visas Offered Hungary

VIENNA, Nov. 16 (AP) — There have been fewer than 1,000 takers for the 5,000 visas President Eisenhower has especially provided for entry of refugees from Hungary into the United States.

Such visas usually are highly prized in central Europe.

Officials offered a variety of explanations today for the lack of demand at consulates for the visas.

The main one was that most of the 30,000 refugees in Austria are being held at transit camps and cannot reach consulates to make their applications.

Another was that Sweden, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and other west European countries are eagerly recruiting immigrants and the Americans don't want to interfere.

Many of the refugees are skilled workers, eagerly sought by west European countries where there is an acute labor shortage.

A large part of the refugees do not want to go too far away from home, cherishing what seems now an unfounded hope that Hungary may throw off the Russian yoke.

Still others want to join relatives in western Europe, mainly in Austria and West Germany.

Market Falters On Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP) — Steels paced the stock market to a fair advance most of today but toward the end of the session profit-taking left the general pattern irregular.

Gains went from fractions to around a point or so and losses ran to a range of about 2.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, which was up 30 cents at noon, closed unchanged at $177.90 with the industrials up 10 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,157 issues traced, declines outnumbered advances by 501 to 380. There were 70 new lows for the year as against 25 new highs.

Volume totaled 1,820,000 shares compared with 2,210,000 yesterday.

Corporate bonds were lower in active trading.

U. S. government bonds were higher in over the counter dealings.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 60 cents lower today.

Only December showed a gain where trade covering met limited spot house liquidation. Other nearby deliveries received fair support through spot house covering.

Commission house buying in distant months, which had been active in two previous sessions, was lacking today and those deliveries sagged as profit taking developed.

Traders watched shipping developments closely, following the closing down of Atlantic and Gulf ports by the strike of longshoremen. United States cotton exports have been at a rate far above levels of a year ago.

The Census Bureau reported October consumption at 732,319 running bales which was a little better than trade expectations. Consumption so far this season, August - October, was 2,240,774 bales, or 86,939 bales smaller than the like period a year earlier. The bureau reported that end of October mill stocks of raw cotton were 1,153,875 bales, against 899,280 a month previously and 1,358,885 at the end of October a year ago.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 60 cents lower than the previous close.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP)—The average price of one inch spot cotton at 14 designated southern spot markets today was unchanged at 33.25 cents a pound; previous day 33.25; week ago 33.19; month ago 33.17; year ago 34.85. Average for the past 30 market days 33.09; middling 15-16ths inch average 32.11. Sales 87,865.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Spot cotton closed steady and unchanged. Sales 1,754; low middling 27.25; middling 33.50; good middling 34.25; receipts 4,771; stock 556,-121.

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

Air Force contracts totaling more than $25 million were announced. The largest went to United Aircraft, Pratt and Whitney Division, for $8,750,000; Douglas Aircraft, $3,419,933; Shaw and Estes, $2.7 million; and Curtiss Wright, $2.5 million.

DuPont sales in October picked up to around $165 million, $10 million above third quarter monthly average, said Lammont DuPont Copeland, chairman of the finance committee. Volume for final three months of year is expected to exceed $480 million, compared with $465 million in third quarter. For all 1956, total net income of the top chemical producer should be in the neighborhood of $8 a common share, compared with $9.26 in 1955.

Western Europe felt the first effects of an oil shortage caused by the Middle East crisis today when the French government ordered a temporary reduction of long distance passenger train runs.

Albert Ehlers announced a four cents a pound wholesale price cut on carload lots of its Ehlers vacuum packed coffee effective immediately.

Stockholders of American Tractor at special meetings Thursday approved a plan to merge with J. E. Case. Under the terms of the tentative merger agreement, which has met active opposition from some Case shareholders, the plan can still be abandoned by Case directors if the number of shares dissenting is so substantial as to render the merger inadvisable.

Production workers at the Anaconda copper mine at Chuquicamata have decided to continue working overtime holidays and every other Sunday, the company said. The worker's decision reversed an earlier one which would have curtailed production. It followed a similar one adopted by white collar workers.

Loans to business by leading New York banks in the last week rose $11,000,000 the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported. This brought the total to $11,144,-000,000—a new record.

Auto output this week rose eight per cent over last week, but remained substantially below the year earlier level. Assemblies amounted to 412,773 cars, 10,686 above the preceding week, 36,974 under the like 1955 period.

After opening barely steady New York cotton futures traded in a narrow range throughout the day with Clayton's brokers liquidating about 30 December contracts and also showing a willingness to sell March at 34.25. In general, the distant months were neglected with some price fixing appearing in the near months. As of November 9th unfixed call sales totaled 1,055,-200 bales compared to 769,900 a year ago. Unfixed call purchases totalled 36,200 bales versus 68,500 last year. Trading in the gray goods market continues slow with sales mostly through second hands at prices ranging from 18¾ to 19 cents for 80 squares.

It was reported that exports today totalled 27,250 bales which brings the season total to 1,587,352 bales compared to 442,227 bales a year ago. It was reported that some cotton has been accumulated at various gulf ports with the cotton trade uncertain regarding export movement as a result of the dock strike.

Less Than 1,000 Accept U. S. Visas Offered Hungary

VIENNA, Nov. 16 (AP) — There have been fewer than 1,000 takers for the 5,000 visas President Eisenhower has especially provided for entry of refugees from Hungary into the United States.

Such visas usually are highly prized in central Europe.

Officials offered a variety of explanations today for the lack of demand at consulates for the visas.

The main one was that most of the 30,000 refugees in Austria are being held at transit camps and cannot reach consulates to make their applications.

Another was that Sweden, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and other west European countries are eagerly recruiting immigrants and the Americans don't want to interfere.

Many of the refugees are skilled workers, eagerly sought by west European countries where there is an acute labor shortage.

A large part of the refugees do not want to go too far away from home, cherishing what seems now an unfounded hope that Hungary may throw off the Russian yoke.

Still others want to join relatives in western Europe, mainly in Austria and West Germany.

Market Falters On Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP) — Steels paced the stock market to a fair advance most of today but toward the end of the session profit-taking left the general pattern irregular.

Gains went from fractions to around a point or so and losses ran to a range of about 2.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, which was up 30 cents at noon, closed unchanged at $177.90 with the industrials up 10 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,157 issues traced, declines outnumbered advances by 501 to 380. There were 70 new lows for the year as against 25 new highs.

Volume totaled 1,820,000 shares compared with 2,210,000 yesterday.

Corporate bonds were lower in active trading.

U. S. government bonds were higher in over the counter dealings.

Pupil's Ouster For 'Elvis' Haircut Upheld By Court

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Nov. 16 (UP)—Circuit Judge Alton Noe Friday upheld the right of a school board to expel a teen-aged boy for wearing an Elvis Pfesley haircut.

In denying a writ compelling the board at nearby Romeo to re-admit 16-year-old Robert Phernetton, the judge said:

"The court does not quarrel with the right of the individual to be as ridiculous as he chooses to be. However, the school board has the responsibility to maintain discipline."

Robert's mother, Mrs. Alice Phernetton, had asked Macomb circuit court to order high school Principal Harold F. Barr of Romeo to show cause why her son shouldn't be readmitted — side-burns and all.

After hearing Judge Noe's ruling, she hinted she may take further legal action.

"I still definitely am not going to have my boy's hair cut," she said. "I'm going to talk to my attorney further."

Her attorney, James C. Daner, maintained throughout Friday's hearing that, it was the principle of the thing, not the haircut.

"I may not like the haircut the court may not like the haircut, but I defend his right to wear it that way," Daner said as he summed up his case.

Daner and the attorney for the school board, William Nunneley, exchanged hot words during the proceedings about whether there is a direct connection between the way students wear their hair and how they perform in the class-room.

Daner produced a 1954 year-book, showing a photograph of Robert with short hair.

"Look," he told Noe, "in 1954 he had short hair and he failed a subject."

With that, Nunnelly jumped to his feet and said: "Look at him this year. He has long hair and has failed all his subjects."

Nunnelly said the school board told him Robert received four E's and one D on his report card so far this year.

"He got the D in physical education, which I understand is mighty hard to flunk," said Nunnelley.

Youth Sentenced To Angola On 3 Buglary Counts

A 17-year-old Negro youth was sentenced to one year in the Louisiana State Penitentiary yesterday after pleading guilty to three counts of burglary before Fourth District Court Judge David I. Garrett.

Judge Garrett who sentenced the youth to one year on each count said that the sentences would run concurrently.

Edward Richard Rozell, 17, who escaped from a Navy brig at San Diego, Calif., early this month and admitted a rash of thefts and burglaries here Thursday, was remanded for sentencing on charges of auto theft and simple burglary.

The youth pleaded guilty in court to the Nov. 13 theft of an auto theft here and simple burglary of another auto.

Entering pleas of not guilty were persons charged with offenses ranging from disturbing the peace to drunk driving and burglary.

T. M. Mangrum, Negro Monroe minister, pleaded not guilty to four counts of theft ranging from $50 to $125 each. He also pleaded not guilty to practicing medicine without a license.

Kenneth Arnold Johnson, charged with two counts of forgery and one of theft, pleaded not guilty. His trial was not set.

Four persons pleaded not guilty to theft of antifreeze valued at $158.40. They were Henry Thomas, Clarence Newton, John Canady, and Edell Canady. A fifth person involved, Willie Frank Coulbertson, pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence.

Mrs. James DeCorte pleaded not guilty to issuing worthless check for $35. She had previously been arraigned on a theft charge and entered a similar plea.

In the misdemeanor cases, Mrs. Edna Green pleaded not guilty to one count of illegal registration and another of illegal voting. Robin Green also pleaded not guilty to one count of illegal registration. Their trials were set for January 18.

James Sharp, Jr., Negro attorney of Monroe, pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving. His trial was set for January 18.

HELPED FROM PLANE — Wounded shrimp boat captain Tom Wilson is helped from the airplane at Brownsville, Tex., that flew him from Tampico, Mex., by U. S. Customs and Health officials. Wilson, who required the support of two men to walk, said his shoes and other personal belongings were left on his boat. He was admitted to Mercy Hospital at Brownsville. (AP Wirephoto)

Brownell Okays Oil Aid To Allies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (UP)—The United States probably will go ahead with emergency plans to help Western Europe meet its oil deficit once the United Nations police force stabilizes the situation in the Middle East, it was learned Thursday night.

The disclosure came as Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. "reluctantly" approved provisions of the plan under which 15 American oil companies would pool their resources to help meet British, French and other Allied needs.

Brownell said the pool plan contained features which "I might well deem objectionable in other circumstances." But he said there are not enough tankers in the free world fleet to meet Western Europe's needs without it.

"I have given full consideration to these anti-competitive possibilities as against the urgency of defense considerations," the attorney general said, "and I reluctantly concluded that this plan of action should be approved."

Officials said the plan would not involve rationing of gasoline or heating fuel in this country. They said the United States would give the western Allies only as much oil as it can spare without stinting itself.

The plan, previously announced by the Interior Department and the Office of Defense Mobilization, was submitted to Brownell for a study of its anti-trust implications in connection with the pooling of oil production and tranport facilities.

Robert's mother, Mrs. Alice Phernetton, had asked Macomb circuit court to order high school Principal Harold F. Barr of Romeo to show cause why her son shouldn't be readmitted — sideburns and all.

After hearing Judge Noe's ruling, she hinted she may take further legal action.

"I still definitely am not going to have my boy's hair cut," she said. "I'm going to talk to my attorney further."

Her attorney, James C. Daner, maintained throughout Friday's hearing that, it was the principle of the thing, not the haircut.

"I may not like the haircut the court may not like the haircut, but I defend his right to wear it that way," Daner said as he summed up his case.

Daner and the attorney for the school board, William Nunneley, exchanged hot words during the proceedings about whether there is a direct connection between the way students wear their hair and how they perform in the classroom.

Daner produced a 1954 yearbook, showing a photograph of Robert with short hair.

"Look," he told Noe, "in 1954 he had short hair and he failed a subject."

With that, Nunnelly jumped to his feet and said: "Look at him this year. He has long hair and has failed all his subjects."

Nunnelly said the school board told him Robert received four E's and one D on his report card so far this year.

"He got the D in physical education, which I understand is mighty hard to flunk," said Nunnelley.

Youth Sentenced To Angola On 3 Buglary Counts

A 17-year-old Negro youth was sentenced to one year in the Louisiana State Penitentiary yesterday after pleading guilty to three counts of burglary before Fourth District Court Judge David I. Garrett.

Judge Garrett who sentenced the youth to one year on each count said that the sentences would run concurrently.

Edward Richard Rozell, 17, who escaped from a Navy brig at San Diego, Calif., early this month and admitted a rash of thefts and burglaries here Thursday, was remanded for sentencing on charges of auto theft and simple burglary.

The youth pleaded guilty in court to the Nov. 13 theft of an auto theft here and simple burglary of another auto.

Entering pleas of not guilty were persons charged with offenses ranging from disturbing the peace to drunk driving and burglary.

T. M. Mangrum, Negro Monroe minister, pleaded not guilty to four counts of theft ranging from $50 to $125 each. He also pleaded not guilty to practicing medicine without a license.

Kenneth Arnold Johnson, charged with two counts of forgery and one of theft, pleaded not guilty. His trial was not set.

Four persons pleaded not guilty to theft of antifreeze valued at $158.40. They were Henry Thomas, Clarence Newton, John Canady, and Edell Canady. A fifth person involved, Willie Frank Coulbertson, pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence.

Mrs. James DeCorte pleaded not guilty to issuing worthless check for $35. She had previously been arraigned on a theft charge and entered a similar plea.

In the misdemeanor cases, Mrs. Edna Green pleaded not guilty to one count of illegal registration and another of illegal voting. Robin Green also pleaded not guilty to one count of illegal registration. Their trials were set for January 18.

James Sharp, Jr., Negro attorney of Monroe, pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving. His trial was set for January 18.

HELPED FROM PLANE — Wounded shrimp boat captain Tom Wilson is helped from the airplane at Brownsville, Tex., that flew him from Tampico, Mex., by U. S. Customs and Health officials. Wilson, who required the support of two men to walk, said his shoes and other personal belongings were left on his boat. He was admitted to Mercy Hospital at Brownsville. (AP Wirephoto)

Brownell Okays Oil Aid To Allies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (UP)—The United States probably will go ahead with emergency plans to help Western Europe meet its oil deficit once the United Nations police force stabilizes the situation in the Middle East, it was learned Thursday night.

The disclosure came as Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. "reluctantly" approved provisions of the plan under which 15 American oil companies would pool their resources to help meet British, French and other Allied needs.

Brownell said the pool plan contained features which "I might well deem objectionable in other circumstances." But he said there are not enough tankers in the free world fleet to meet Western Europe's needs without it.

"I have given full consideration to these anti-competitive possibilities as against the urgency of defense considerations," the attorney general said, "and I reluctantly concluded that this plan of action should be approved."

Officials said the plan would not involve rationing of gasoline or heating fuel in this country. They said the United States would give the western Allies only as much oil as it can spare without stinting itself.

The plan, previously announced by the Interior Department and the Office of Defense Mobilization, was submitted to Brownell for a study of its anti-trust implications in connection with the pooling of oil production and tranport facilities.

Polish Workers Express Fear For Gomulka's Party

WARSAW, Nov. 16 (UP)—Polish workers expressed fear Friday that something might happen to "liberal" Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka during his current mission to Moscow.

The talks in Moscow were reported going smoothly between Gomulka and such Kremlin leaders as Soviet Party First Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev.

But workers delegations from the Danzig and Gdynia areas of northern Poland said Gomulka took undue risks traveling to the Russian capital.

Their protests coincided with spreading rumors that old-line Stalinists might try to seize the opportunity afforded by Gomulka's absence to depose him and Minister Konstantin Rokossovsky in his place.

The workers' fears, expressed at Communist Party headquarters, were not published.

Sources said, however, that the workers delegations voiced open worry that something might happen to the popular Gomulka.

(When Khrushchev went to Warsaw Oct. 18, two days before Gomulka took over, the Soviet party chief was reported in a towering rage over the sudden rise of the once-disgraced Titoist.)

Polish Communist leaders believe his statement will strengthen Gomulka's hand in Moscow.

Ark.-La. Gas Plans Stock Sale

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., Shreveport, La., today asked the Security Exchange Commission to register for public sale 840,000 shares of its outstanding common stock, $5 par.

The SEC said the shares to be sold would be offered by present holders and that the company would receive no part of the proceeds.

The stock is owned by W. R. Stephens Investment Co., Inc., Little Rock, Ark., and Thompson Bros. Investment Co.

Stephens proposes to sell 669,235 shares to underwriters and would continue to hold 49,598 shares.

Thompson, which holds an option on 341,537 shares, would sell an option to 170,765 of those shares.

An underwriting group headed by Eastman Dillon Union Securities & Co., New York, will handle the sales.

The public offering price and underwriting terms have not yet been filed with the SEC.

and above board. I never resort to closed door tactics."

"Hump," snorted Banker Morgan, "Thats what doors are for."

The commanding officer, seeing one of his privates leaving the camp in England for a week-end outing, wished him a happy time. He was amazed to see him drive off in a limousine with a smartly dressed woman at his side.

Later next Monday, he asked the man whose car he had been driving.

"It's mine," said the private, "I own ten street barrows in London."

The commanding officer asked this man why with so much worldly goods he was in the Army at all.

"Well," said the barrow boy, "where else do they feed and clothe you while they're teaching you to read and write"

Banks of Monroe and West Monroe are issuing to individuals personalized checks, each depositor having his name printed on each check. These are being mailed out to all concerned and are a gesture of commendable nature.

We are sure "JOHN SMITH," like all other depositors, will appreciate seeing his name in print in his check book.

Banking, like all lines of business, has undergone tremendous changes. Once it was difficult unless one had a good endorser, for a little fellow to borrow a loan of a few hundred dolars at a bank. Now these small loans are in high favor with bankers. Houses are bought through small down payments today, often the initial sum coming from a bank, and as to automobiles, well a local preacher hit the mark pretty accurately. He was asked if he owned a car, and his response was: "Well I am' hiring' my car by the month, but it is outright owned by the bank!"

An emergency appropriation for Church World Service relief to Hungary has been voted by the Board of World Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., meeting in Nashville. Announcement of a $1,000.00 emergency gift to be used by the Protestant relief organization was made today by the Rev. Paul B. Freeland, Presbyterian secretary for Overseas Relief and Inter-Church Aid. The fund is supplementary to nearly $120,000 the denomination has already committed to the world-wide relief program of CWS.

The action was taken in an effort to maintain the flow of relief which has been moving into Hungary and to Hungarian refugees in Austria since the second day of the revolt against Communist oppression, Mr. Freeland explained.

'When the rebellion was one day old, and the frontier between Austria and Hungary was open to Church World Service for the first time since 1948, all available supplies of food, clothing and blankets in CWS stores in Vienna were shipped for distribution in Hungary," Mr. Freeland stated. "More than 10 tons of food valued at $100,000, and vitamins, penicillin and other medical supplies, were moved through the open frontier between Oct. 30 and Nov. 5, when the Russians attacked the Hungarian people."

It is not often that opportunity is presented to hear a highly talented English woman deliver a lecture here sponsored by the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Such an opportunity will be given the public Sunday at 3:30 p.m. when at the West Monroe High School auditorium, Georgiana Tennant, C.S.B., of London, England will discuss "Christian Science: The Science of Spiritual Healing."

This lecture is open to the public and is said to throw an entirely different light on successful conquering of diseases with which mankind is afflicted.

Japanese Assail Actions Of Reds, Britain, France

TOKYO, Nov. 16 (AP) — Japan sharply condemned today the British-French attack on Egypt and accused the Soviet Union of violating Hungarian independence.

It was this nation's most strongly worded foreign policy statement since World War II. With one vital exception, it followed the tack India has been pursuing in international affairs, a line restated today by Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi.

"The Suez dispute," Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu told a special session of the Diet (Parliament), "is not a question merely of a canal. To Britain, loss of her foothold in Egypt would mean the downfall of British power and prestige in the world. ... To France a complete victory of Arab nationalism under leadership of Egypt would spell the ruin of the French empire in North Africa.

"But Britain and France. . . by . . . resorting to force against the wishes of the United States and other member countries acted in utter disregard to the . . . universally accepted idea of not using war as an instrument of policy. This was a wilful betrayal of the spirit of the United Nations."

Without elaboration, he said Japan was "prepared to cooperate with other nations to insure free passage of the Suez Canal. He praised the "timely and effective action" of the U.N. in sending police troops to the Middle East and urged settlement of the whole Suez problem in the U.N.

Turning to Hungary, the one-legged foreign minister declared Soviet armed forces had intervened against a movement for "freedom and independence" and "thousands upon thousands of Hungarians were slaughtered.

"The independence of Hungary is recognized by all countries," he went on, "including the Soviet Union. Racial self-determination is a principle long recognized among nations.

"To the leaders of the Soviet government . . . I wish to appeal that they listen to the voice of the Hungarians and take measures to ease the situation in line with resolutions of the U. N."

He expressed "deep sympathy" for the Hungarian people.

Polish Workers Express Fear For Gomulka's Party

WARSAW, Nov. 16 (UP)—Polish workers expressed fear Friday that something might happen to "liberal" Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka during his current mission to Moscow.

The talks in Moscow were reported going smoothly between Gomulka and such Kremlin leaders as Soviet Party First Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev.

But workers delegations from the Danzig and Gdynia areas of northern Poland said Gomulka took undue risks traveling to the Russian capital.

Their protests coincided with spreading rumors that old-line Stalinists might try to seize the opportunity afforded by Gomulka's absence to depose him and Minister Konstantin Rokossovsky in his place.

The workers' fears, expressed at Communist Party headquarters, were not published.

Sources said, however, that the workers delegations voiced open worry that something might happen to the popular Gomulka.

(When Khrushchev went to Warsaw Oct. 18, two days before Gomulka took over, the Soviet party chief was reported in a towering rage over the sudden rise of the once-disgraced Titoist.)

Polish Communist leaders believe his statement will strengthen Gomulka's hand in Moscow.

Ark.-La. Gas Plans Stock Sale

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., Shreveport, La., today asked the Security Exchange Commission to register for public sale 840,000 shares of its outstanding common stock, $5 par.

The SEC said the shares to be sold would be offered by present holders and that the company would receive no part of the proceeds.

The stock is owned by W. R. Stephens Investment Co., Inc., Little Rock, Ark., and Thompson Bros. Investment Co.

Stephens proposes to sell 669,235 shares to underwriters and would continue to hold 49,598 shares.

Thompson, which holds an option on 341,537 shares, would sell an option to 170,765 of those shares.

An underwriting group headed by Eastman Dillon Union Securities & Co., New York, will handle the sales.

The public offering price and underwriting terms have not yet been filed with the SEC.

"Hump," snorted Banker Morgan, "Thats what doors are for."

The commanding officer, seeing one of his privates leaving the camp in England for a week-end outing, wished him a happy time. He was amazed to see him drive off in a limousine with a smartly dressed woman at his side.

Later next Monday, he asked the man whose car he had been driving.

"It's mine," said the private, "I own ten street barrows in London."

The commanding officer asked this man why with so much worldly goods he was in the Army at all.

"Well," said the barrow boy, "where else do they feed and clothe you while they're teaching you to read and write"

Banks of Monroe and West Monroe are issuing to individuals personalized checks, each depositor having his name printed on each check. These are being mailed out to all concerned and are a gesture of commendable nature.

We are sure "JOHN SMITH," like all other depositors, will appreciate seeing his name in print in his check book.

Banking, like all lines of business, has undergone tremendous changes. Once it was difficult unless one had a good endorser, for a little fellow to borrow a loan of a few hundred dolars at a bank. Now these small loans are in high favor with bankers. Houses are bought through small down payments today, often the initial sum coming from a bank, and as to automobiles, well a local preacher hit the mark pretty accurately. He was asked if he owned a car, and his response was: "Well I am' hiring' my car by the month, but it is outright owned by the bank!"

An emergency appropriation for Church World Service relief to Hungary has been voted by the Board of World Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., meeting in Nashville. Announcement of a $1,000.00 emergency gift to be used by the Protestant relief organization was made today by the Rev. Paul B. Freeland, Presbyterian secretary for Overseas Relief and Inter-Church Aid. The fund is supplementary to nearly $120,000 the denomination has already committed to the world-wide relief program of CWS.

The action was taken in an effort to maintain the flow of relief which has been moving into Hungary and to Hungarian refugees in Austria since the second day of the revolt against Communist oppression, Mr. Freeland explained.

'When the rebellion was one day old, and the frontier between Austria and Hungary was open to Church World Service for the first time since 1948, all available supplies of food, clothing and blankets in CWS stores in Vienna were shipped for distribution in Hungary," Mr. Freeland stated. "More than 10 tons of food valued at $100,000, and vitamins, penicillin and other medical supplies, were moved through the open frontier between Oct. 30 and Nov. 5, when the Russians attacked the Hungarian people."

It is not often that opportunity is presented to hear a highly talented English woman deliver a lecture here sponsored by the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Such an opportunity will be given the public Sunday at 3:30 p.m. when at the West Monroe High School auditorium, Georgiana Tennant, C.S.B., of London, England will discuss "Christian Science: The Science of Spiritual Healing."

This lecture is open to the public and is said to throw an entirely different light on successful conquering of diseases with which mankind is afflicted.

Japanese Assail Actions Of Reds, Britain, France

TOKYO, Nov. 16 (AP) — Japan sharply condemned today the British-French attack on Egypt and accused the Soviet Union of violating Hungarian independence.

It was this nation's most strongly worded foreign policy statement since World War II. With one vital exception, it followed the tack India has been pursuing in international affairs, a line restated today by Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi.

"The Suez dispute," Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu told a special session of the Diet (Parliament), "is not a question merely of a canal. To Britain, loss of her foothold in Egypt would mean the downfall of British power and prestige in the world. . . . To France a complete victory of Arab nationalism under leadership of Egypt would spell the ruin of the French empire in North Africa.

"But Britain and France. . . by . . . resorting to force against the wishes of the United States and other member countries acted in utter disregard to the . . . universally accepted idea of not using war as an instrument of policy. This was a wilful betrayal of the spirit of the United Nations."

Without elaboration, he said Japan was "prepared to cooperate with other nations to insure free passage of the Suez Canal. He praised the "timely and effective action" of the U.N. in sending police troops to the Middle East and urged settlement of the whole Suez problem in the U.N.

Turning to Hungary, the one-legged foreign minister declared Soviet armed forces had intervened against a movement for "freedom and independence" and "thousands upon thousands of Hungarians were slaughtered.

"The independence of Hungary is recognized by all countries," he went on, "including the Soviet Union. Racial self-determination is a principle long recognized among nations.

"To the leaders of the Soviet government . . . I wish to appeal that they listen to the voice of the Hungarians and take measures to ease the situation in line with resolutions of the U. N."

He expressed "deep sympathy" for the Hungarian people.

Russia, Egypt Pictured As Stronger Following British-French Invasion

LONDON Nov. 16 (AP) — The British French invasion of Egypt will change the course of history, but only time can show just how. Some new factors on the scene have still to be evaluated. That is the general belief in London.

On the face of it, the Russians now look stronger in the Middle East. The Arab world has seen two Western nations, long distrusted by many Arabs, invade a lead... state. And Russia has pictured itself as the big brother ... brought the attack to a quick halt.

But most Arab leaders have an ingrained hatred of communism. Some have kept a wary eye on Gamal Abdel Nasser, the dynamic young Egyptian president who dreams of leading an Arab empire. Will these powerful men accept the British claim that the invasion uncovered a Red plot to win control of the Middle East with Nasser as a tool? As the closure of the Suez Canal and the destruction of oil pipelines eats into their revenues, will they look longingly for better trade and better relations with their traditional Western customers?

Nasser on the surface seems stronger. In Arab eyes, he stood up to Western invaders and their attack was called off. But he also losing the Gaza Strip to an Israeli army. If Arab leaders can be convinced that to further his own political ambitions he exposed the entire Middle East to the threat of Soviet domination, his prestige could wither and die.

Has the attack weakened British ties with the free world, including members of the British Commonwealth members — India, Pakistan and Ceylon — reacted sharply against the assault. But British leaders hope the decision to attack soon will be accepted as fully justified. There have already been signs of some shift of American opinion.

In many quarters, however, doubts persist that Anthony Eden can survive long as prime minister. Even if his policies bear fruit, even if they lead to a general settlement in the Middle East and satisfactory arrangements for international control of the canal, Eden will still be seen as a man who took a grave and dangerous step without consulting his American allies or his friends in the commonwealth.

PARIS (AP)—Leading French politicians and journalists believe Egypt's President Nasser stands in a slightly stronger position today than before the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The main reason, from a French point of view, is that the two Western allies failed to achieve their chief objective: to damage the prestige of the Egyptian President enough to cost him all influence in the Arab world and topple him from power at home.

This has been France's overriding purpose from the beginning. The French blame Nasser and his propaganda for most of their troubles in North Africa. The Suez operation was viewed as a shortcut to ending the two-year-old rebellion in Algeria.

But Nasser still is very much in power in Cairo, despite all that the allies and the Israelis threw at him. On the other hand he has suffered a crushing military reverse in the Sinai Peninsula, he no longer has exclusive control of the Suez Canal and he has been charged with being the spearhead for Soviet penentration into the Middle East.

Because of the presence of the U. N. police force in Egypt and the General Assembly resolutions early this month, the French feel there is now a greater chance that the canal eventually will be put under international control. They base this on the clause in the police force resolution providing that one function of this force will be to see that the canal is reopend and maintained for all nations on equal terms.

Tax Collector Warns Not To Expect 'Vast Floods' Of New Income From Oil

BATON ROUGE Nov. 16 UP—James S. Reily, collector of state revenue, warns against expecting "vast floods" of new income because Louisiana's oil production allowable has been increased.

Reily said yesterday "considerable caution" should be used in anticipating any state revenue increase due to the Middle East oil crisis.

Recent Arab world unrest has caused oil producers to fear for the safety of Anglo-American mineral holdings in the Middle East.

Louisiana oil allowables were increased this week by 75,000 barrels of crude a day for November. By December the gain will be 100,000 barrels a day.

Reily said the $25,000-a-day increase in state severance tax income expected in December was "most welcome." But it might end at any time, he said.

Some legislators and nearly every major teachers group in the state are searching for a new source of income so teachers pay can be increased $32 million a year.

The Louisiana Tax Safeguard committee yesterday pointed to increased allowables as a possible $6 million bonanza the teachers can share by next July. The legislative committee, opposed to Gov. Earl Long and to tax raises, said additional revenues and not new taxes should be given to teachers.

But Reily warned:

"Even the oil industry, with its many contacts in the Middle East area, seems uncertain as to just what the situation there is from day to day. So certainly we cannot sit here and count on getting the $750,000 a month for more than a month at a time."

He said it was possible the new income might come in for six months, which would mean a $4.5 million increase in state revenues from the severance tax.

"But even officials of National Petroleum Associations are urging that we not go overboard in production" he said. "And I believe we should exercise considerable caution before we start counting any of these particular eggs prior to uncertain hatching."

Formula Sought

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP)—State Auditor Boyd Golding today planned a trip to Knoxville, Tenn., Monday to determine proper distribution of TVA payments to nine northeast Mississippi counties.

Golding said the nine counties were added to TVA service since 1940 and they have not been receiving their funds "in lieu of taxes" provided for in a TVA amendment in 1940.

Colmer Predicts Schools Will Have To Be Cut Off From Support By Public

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP)—Rep. W. M. Colmer (D-Miss) predicted today Mississippi will have to cut off public funds from schools to prevent their integration.

"Desegregation is going to be faced in the schools of Mississippi, despite all our plans," he told the Jackson Lions Club. "When it comes, we are going to be forced to cut off the funds for the operation of the public schools."

Mississippi's new laws to defend segregation include authority for the Legislature to abolish public schools if necessary.

The South must set itself up as a militant minority group, go united to the next Democratic National Convention and demand a price for its support, if it is to expect a voice in national party affairs, Colmer said.

Colmer also declared this is no time to boast of the laws we have enacted nor any other steps taken toward maintaining segregation in the South and in Mississippi.

The congressman said the South once held the balance of power, but that surrender of the two-thirds rule had relegated the South to "in the bag" status in national elections.

"Why, in the elections just held, Mississippi was on the blackboard even before the votes started to be counted," he said. "We politicians don't pay any attention to those votes we know we are going to get. It is high time we let the Democratic Party know that we have just as many electoral votes and more to peddle from the South as have other minority groups. Then we will get some recognition."

Colmer said he has no bias toward the Negro.

"My position is that you can't take people who were three or four generations ago savages and cannibals in Africa and two generations ago in serfdom and expect them to attain overnight by congressional, executive or judicial edict the status of the white man.

"If you can, then the world has played a dirty trick on the white man. He had to evolve from the cave man status through thousands of years to attain his present degree of civilization, and there was never a court nor Congress to lift him up."

Decision Delayed On Cargo Vessels Contract Awards

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP) — The Maritime Administration said today it will be 10 days to two weeks before a decision can be made as to the successful bidders for eight Mariner dry cargo vessels the government has up for sale. The bids were opened yesterday.

A maritime spokesman said he could not comment as to what may be done about the highest bid made for two of the Mariners by Durok J. Hebert of Cutoff, La.

Hebert bid $6,638,875 which was the highest offer, for the Magnolia Mariner. He also was high bidder on the Old Colony Mariner with more than six million dollars.

Hebert, however, did not accompany his bids with the required five per cent payment of the amount bid to guarantee his offer.

A maritime spokesman said it will have to be determined whether his offer will be accepted if he provides the guarantee.

A spokesman said Hebert sent along a letter saying he did not have the money to put up the guarantee but said he thought the government should give consideration to his "youth, enthusiasm, experience and integrity" and should consider his ability to operate the vessels.

The spokesman said maritime has little information on Hebert's qualifications as an operator.

Syria Denies Soviet Forces Have Arrived

BEIRUT, Lebanon Nov. 16 (UP)—Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Al Bitar today denied reports that Soviet jet planes, pilots and "volunteers" have arrived in Syria.

Such reports may have been started to stir up anti-Arab feeling in the United States, Bitar suggested in an interview with United Press.

As he left for home after attending the three-day "summit" conference of Arab leaders, the Syrian official said leaders of Arab pact nations agreed to follow a neutral policy between the Soviet bloc and the West.

And, he added, "the United States should forbid Anglo-French intervention in Egypt."

He said British and French planes have appeared almost daily over Syrian airfields and have been fired upon by Syrian antiaircraft guns.

But, he said, "it is not true there are 125 Soviet Migs in Syria; there are no Soviet planes nor Soviet pilots in Syria, and I have told that to the American ambassador."

The foreign minister also denied reports that a flight of Soviet planes accompanied Syrian President Shukri El Kuwatly on his return trip to Damascus after conferring with Soviet officials in Moscow nearly two weeks ago. He said the Soviet planes turned back at the Black Sea and did not fly over Turkey.

U. S. Farm Policy Hit By Merchant

INVERNESS, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP)—Caffey Robertson, Memphis, Tenn., cotton merchant, said last night the federal government's agricultural policy "has lost sight of the sales department of the American farmer."

Addressing the annual Inverness Rotary Club banquet, Robertson said he has become convinced that "so-called compensatory payment plan is the one that would most equitably and effectively serve our needs for a prosperous, lasting and free cotton economy."

This plan, he continued, "would free our cotton to go again into the market place and compete with synthetics at home and with other cottons and synthetics abroad for the recovery of its full share of those markets."

Russia, Egypt Pictured As Stronger Following British-French Invasion

LONDON Nov. 16 (AP) — The British French invasion of Egypt will change the course of history, but only time can show just how. Some new factors on the scene have still to be evaluated. That is the general belief in London.

On the face of it, the Russians now look stronger in the Middle East. The Arab world has seen two Western nations, long distrusted by many Arabs, invade a lead... state. And Russia has pictured itself as the big brother ... brought the attack to a quick halt.

But most Arab leaders have an ingrained hatred of communism. Some have kept a wary eye on Gamal Abdel Nasser, the dynamic young Egyptian president who dreams of leading an Arab empire. Will these powerful men accept the British claim that the invasion uncovered a Red plot to win control of the Middle East with Nasser as a tool? As the closure of the Suez Canal and the destruction of oil pipelines eats into their revenues, will they look longingly for better trade and better relations with their traditional Western customers?

Nasser on the surface seems stronger. In Arab eyes, he stood up to Western invaders and their attack was called off. But he also losing the Gaza Strip to an Israeli army. If Arab leaders can be convinced that to further his own political ambitions he exposed the entire Middle East to the threat of Soviet domination, his prestige could wither and die.

Has the attack weakened British ties with the free world, including members of the British Commonwealth members — India, Pakistan and Ceylon — reacted sharply against the assault. But British leaders hope the decision to attack soon will be accepted as fully justified. There have already been signs of some shift of American opinion.

In many quarters, however, doubts persist that Anthony Eden can survive long as prime minister. Even if his policies bear fruit, even if they lead to a general settlement in the Middle East and satisfactory arrangements for international control of the canal, Eden will still be seen as a man who took a grave and dangerous step without consulting his American allies or his friends in the commonwealth.

PARIS (AP)—Leading French politicians and journalists believe Egypt's President Nasser stands in a slightly stronger position today than before the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The main reason, from a French point of view, is that the two Western allies failed to achieve their chief objective: to damage the prestige of the Egyptian President enough to cost him all influence in the Arab world and topple him from power at home.

This has been France's overriding purpose from the beginning. The French blame Nasser and his propaganda for most of their troubles in North Africa. The Suez operation was viewed as a shortcut to ending the two-year-old rebellion in Algeria.

But Nasser still is very much in power in Cairo, despite all that the allies and the Israelis threw at him. On the other hand he has suffered a crushing military reverse in the Sinai Peninsula, he no longer has exclusive control of the Suez Canal and he has been charged with being the spearhead for Soviet penentration into the Middle East.

Because of the presence of the U. N. police force in Egypt and the General Assembly resolutions early this month, the French feel there is now a greater chance that the canal eventually will be put under international control. They base this on the clause in the police force resolution providing that one function of this force will be to see that the canal is reopened and maintained for all nations on equal terms.

Neville Conquers Ouachita Rivals, 28-13

Monroe's Bengals End First Regular Unbeaten Season

By LEMMIE HIGHTOWER

The fired-up Ouachita Lions took advantage of almost every break that came their way last night but found their cross-town rivals, the powerful Neville Tigers, too much to handle and were forced to drop a hard fought 28-13 decision.

The victory carried the Bengals to the first undefeated regular season for the Forsythe avenue school and sent them into a district playoff with the Golden Tornado of Haynesville, who tripped Bossier City, 19-7, last night. The games were AA conference for Neville and Haynesville.

Making good use of fumbles and interceptions and gambling on first downs throughout the duel, the Lionsters gave the red-hot Tigers their roughest fight of the year.

Pre-game estimations placed the O.P.H.S. organization in the underdog's role and coach Bill Rupie's Tigers wasted no time in letting their opponents know that they would have an uphill battle if they intended to pull out a win.

Neville's Upshaw and Co. opened with their usual vigor to score in less than four minutes. Fullback Mickey Yerger took the initial kickoff and almost galloped to a touchdown, going through the Lion defenders to the Ouachita 49. Only nine plays later quarterback Elton Upshaw plunged one-half yard to put N.H.S. out front, 6-0.

Ouachita was forced to play the odds for their initial first down which came on their 35. But when quarterback Dickie Crowe tried to open the Lion's passing attack, end Joel Kirby was ready to halt the affair with an interception and the Bengals were ready to roll again from the Lion 47-yard stripe.

Halfback Willie Ragan covered all but two yards of the touchdown journey that required three plays. Terry Reeves carried once for a two yard pick-up before Ragan cut loose with a sprint of 35 yards to set up his 10-yard payoff roll around right tackle. Reeves added his second of four conversions for the evening and the Black and Golds led, 14-0.

Ouachita fans were almost ready to settle down for a miserable game when their first big break presented itself in the opening seconds of the second period.

The Lions foun dtheir attack stalled and were forced to punt from their 30. Ragan received the boot on about his 30-yard line, but the ball slipped away and into the hands of Lion end Billy Roach who appeared to have a clear field to the end zone. Roach spirted away but was brought down on the five-yard chalking by Reeves.

Neville's defensive line fought bitterly to prevent the almost certain tally but halfback Dale Spence plunged over from the one on the fourth down.

A Ouachita fumble on Neville's 35 set the stage for the Tigers third stanza score. Reeves got away on a 39-yard sweep of left end that carried the Bengals to the touchdown door on the Lion's 18. Upshaw elbowed his way from the four for the six points.

Crowe unloaded his passing ability in the final round and pushed the Ouachita machine 53 yards to paydirt. Fred Peters received Crow's 15-yard pitch in the end zone for the actual score. Wayne Van took a toss for the conversion. Neville led, 21-13.

Feeling that the score wos too close to represent their true power the Nevillists took Ouachita's kickoff back for a touchdown. Upshaw found his way through right tackle to the cash-in with only 15 seconds remaining in the game.

The lineups:

Ruston Tags West Monroe

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16 (Special) — With senior halfback Pat Garrett collecting three touchdowns in closing out his high school football career here tonight the Ruston High Bearcats shut out the West Monroe Rebels, 32 to 0.

Roland Jackson accounted for one Ruston touchdown, and "Bud" Alexander got another plus two extra points.

Johnny Murphy set up the first Ruston touchdown early in the first quarter when he pounced on a Rebel fumble on West Monroe's 24. Two plays later Garett plunged over guard from the one.

Jackson, 18-pound Bearcat fullback, slashed through the middle from the 12 for the next touchdown, also in the first quarter, and Alexander followed with the first of his conversions.

A penalty that shook the Rebels back to their one in the second quarter set up a second plunge for Garrett. Alexander made the point.

Alexander opened the second half by blocking a West Monroe punt which he covered in the end zone for a touchdown, and Garrett capped the Ruston touchdown production in the third quarter when he scored from nine yards out.

The Bearcats substituted freely in the final period.

Haynesville Tags Bossier Bearcats In 19-7 Scramble

HAYNESVILLE, Nov. 16 (Special)—Haynesville's Golden Tornado struck with fury here this chilly night to blow past Bossier City, 19-7, and move into the co-championship of district 2-AA.

With a big, rugged line that held the Bearcats to only seven yards gained and one first down in the second half, the Tornado scored twice in the second quarter and once in the finale on drives of 55, 72 and 78 yards respectively.

Bossier's lone score upset Haynesville's playoff ideas with only five minutes of the game gone by. The 'Cats capitalized on a quarterback-keeper to score. John Mercer converted.

Haynesville first broke into the scoring march with two and a half minutes gone in the second period. Fullback Eugene Ash climaxed a 55-yard drive to go 12 yards into the end zone. Don Sherman picked up a bad pass from center and ran over the point.

To go out in front 13-7 at the half, Haynesville, getting possession of the pigskin again, rolled on a sustained 72 yard drive that came to pause on the one yarder, from where Charles Wadlington plunged in to score.

Midway the fourth quarter the Tornado moved again, this time drive downfield for 78 yards with Richard Garrett carrying into the end zone from the 12.

Haynesville completely dominated the contest, notching 15 first downs to the visitors' four. Bossier was able to garner but 83 yards on the ground, 76 of those coming in the first half.

The Tornado gained 279 yards rushing and only 12 through the airways. Bossier passed for 14 yards, completing two out of six. Haynesville threw three, hit on two.

Baskin's Cagers Take Pair From Fort Necessity

FORT NECESSITY, La., Nov. 16 (Special) — Baskin High School basketball teams defeated Fort Necessity in both ends of a double header tonight, the boys notching a 52-39 win after the girls had triumphed, 69-25.

Raymond Norris hooped 17 points to lead Baskin's quintet, while Grady Jones was high scorer for "The Fort" with 11.

Linda Lord, Baskin's all-state, swished the nets for 24 points in the girls' game, and Shirley Guthrie got 14 for Fort Necessity.

The host team, which downed Quitman 55-42 will meet Minden in one half of the semi-finals Saurday afternoon at 3:15. Gibsland, victors over Choudrant 59-56, will meet Jonesboro-Hodge in the other semi-final at 2 p.m. The winners will collide at 8:30 for the tournament crown.

Max Lewis lead the Simsboro aggregation with 16 points, while Duck of Quitman hit for 13. Woodard lead the Gibsland team with 25 points. Choudrant's high score was Williams with 23 points.

In other games today, Quitman defeated Athens 57-55, and Choudrant topped Athens 77-71.

Six-foot forward Boatner of Athens put on a fine scoring show in the two losing efforts, bucketing 31 and 46 points. Overshadowing this scoring spree was one turned in by Lowe of Choudrant, who in three games now has hit 40, 18 and 44 points.

Other games on tomorrow's slate pit Ruston against Arcadia at 9 a.m.; Neville against Quitman at 10:15 a.m.; Springhill against Choudrant at 12:45 p.m.; the winners of the two morning games will meet at 2 p.m.

The consolation finals will be decided at 7 p.m.

Miami Wallops Clemson Tigers To Tune Of 21-0

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16 (AP) — Miami's Hurricanes, smarting under the NCAA decision to bar them from a bowl game for the third straight year, gained sweet satisfaction tonight by smearing the Clemson Tigers, one of the probable Orange Bowl teams, 21-0.

Sicily Island Cops 3rd 'B' Crown, Downs Block

JONESVILLE, La., Nov. 16 (Special) — The Sicily Island High School Tigers notched their third straight district three Class B championship here tonight by defeating the Block High Bears of Jonesville, 12 to 0.

The Islanders and Block had entered the game with undefeated conference records with the district title going to the winner. It was a battle of defenses for three quarters of scoreless ball, before a penalty broke the back of the Bears and started the Tigers on the way to victory.

Block got off a play for an apparent first down, but it was nullified by a penalty that set the Bears back to their ten. Forced to punt, the Bruins kicked out to their 37, and from there the Islanders came storming in a drive to the Block two.

High - scoring Billy Wiggins plunged over for the game's first touchdown, and later in the period he skirted end for eight yards to wrap up the championship delivery to Coach Raymond Peace.

The victory qualified Sicily Island to face Academy of Immaculate Conception of Opelousas, titlist in district four, in a bi-district playoff.

A.I.C. in many quarters, is rated as the team to beat in the state championship race. The Sicily Island-A.I.C. winner will meet Mangham's unbeaten Dragons, winners of 12 straight this year, in a state semi-final playoff. Mangham won its bi-district at Ruston last night by sacking Coushatta, 6-0.

Crowville Defeats Wisner In Battle Of Bulldogs, 27-0

WISNER, La., Nov. 16 (Special) —Crowville recaptured the "rag bulldog" from Wisner here tonight by sweeping a 27-0 victory in the traditional Franklin parish "Battle of the Bulldogs."

In taking its third win of the season against seven losses, Crowville's Bulldogs punched across touchdowns in the first, second and third quarters for their first win over their kinfolk Bulldogs from Wisner in five years.

Although putting up a stubborn and gallant fight to the end, Wisner fell to end an unsuccessful season, failing to notch a single win in nine starts.

The victory returned the "Bulldog" a toy-stuffed replica, to Crowville's trophy case. Wisner relinquished it having holding it for four years.

Crowville's scoring was divided equally by backs Vernon Guy, Bobby Joe Allen, J. T. Johnston and Bobby Caldwell. Big Stanley Hodge converted three times.

Fullback Guy smashed through the Wisner line in the first quarter from the five and halfback Allen ewnt over from the two, also in the initial period. Hodge converted both times.

Another five yard gallop, this one by Johnston, spelled touchdown for the Oliver Poole coached club from Crowville in the second period. Hodge missed his boot from placement.

And in the third stanza, a snappy quarterback-keep by field general Caldwell gave Crowville their final score from the one. Again Hodge kicked good.

Wisner fought hard throughout the contest, but was unable to cope with Crowville's bigger, more experienced line. Wisner halfbacks Grady Stephens and Jerry Childress were outstanding.

Ferriday Romps Over Winnsboro In 45 To 12 Tilt

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 16 (Special) — Ferriday's championship-minded Bulldogs moved closer to another title here tonight by grounding under Winnsboro's Wildcats, 45-12.

Ferriday jumped to a 6-0 first quarter lead, moved on to a 25-0 margin at the half and was leading 39-0 before the lighter Wildcats could tally in the third period.

The victory put Ferriday in a do-or-die district battle with Tallulah's Trojans here Thanksgiving Day at 2 p.m. Tallulah was idle this week.

Ferriday's touchdowns were scored by Tony Brocato (2), Donny Dave (2), Ronnie Magoun, Dave Dollar and Tommy Brasher. Quarterback Jimmy Marks threw for three and Brasher converted all three of Ferriday's extra points.

The Bulldogs rolled early in the game when Marks passed to Brocato, who traveled 16 yards for the score. The kick failed. Marks passed to Brocato, this time in the second period, for the second touchdown, the passing covering 16 yards and Brocato, 25. Brasher booted good.

Day's first score followed when he swept left end for 30 yards with the conversion failing. Magoun plunged in from the three to end

Ferriday's partisan crowd had no sooner settled back in the cold night when Brasher took Jesse Walker's opening second half kickoff, gathered it in his own 30 and went all the way for the touchdown. The kick failed.

But Daye was not to be denied, scampering around left end again, this time going into the end zone on a 40-yard line. Brasher dropped back, split the uprights and Ferriday led, 39-0.

And then came the Wildcat's bid to glory as little Tommy Earl hit the Ferriday line and went in from the five. The score was set up by quarterback Pete Moore's effective passing.

Vols, Sooners Offer Bad Day For Rebels, Bengals

By HUGH FULERTON JR.
The Associated Press

The plaintive moans of college football coaches seem to indicate that most of today's big games will be played by teams so crippled it will be hard for them to field 11 sound players. But you don't hear any such sounds from Tennessee and Oklahoma, the teams fighting it out for the top ranking.

The sound condition of those squads protends no good for Mississippi and Missouri, the teams they face today. Tennessee wound up just two points ahead of Oklahoma, the former leader, in this week's balloting of sports writers and broadcasters in The Associated Press ranking poll. Both teams obviously will be out to make impressive showings to improve their places in this duel.

Mississippi has the best defensive record—in statistics—of any major college team, but off its losses to Tulane and Arkansas, Ole Miss hardly looks strong enough to stop Tennessee's Johnny Majors & Co. Mississippi still is in the running for a bowl invitation.

Missouri hasn't won a game on Oklahoma's Owen Field in 20 years and, even with the upset incentive of Don Faurot's last game as coach against the Sooners, the Missouri team that has lost four games and tied one hardly seems to have the stuff to stop mighty Oklahoma.

On the other side of the injury picture there's third-ranked Michigan State, which faces Minnesota with three of its top-line players sidelined for the season and three more who may not play today. This is one of two "must" games in the struggle for the Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl bid —which aren't necessarily the same. The other brings together Ohio State and Iowa, currently rated sixth and seventh nationally.

The Big Ten standings show Ohio State in front with four victories and no losses. Michigan State and Iowa, each 4-1, are tied for second with Minnesota (3-1-1) right behind. Defending champion Ohio State is ineligible for the Rose Bowl because of probation and Michigan State because it went there last January. Iowa and Minnesota are eligible, which may add a little to their desire.

Fourth-rated Georgia Tech, also very much in the bowl picture, meets Alabama, a two-game winner this season which shouldn't make much trouble. Texas A&M apparently heading for the Southwest Conference title but ineligible for the Cotton Bowl, takes on Rice, next-to-last in its league. Texas Christian and Southern Methodist, leading bowl candidates in the Southwest, play Texas and Arkansas, respectively.

The other Top Ten teams playing today, Syracuse (9) and Michigan (10) could run into trouble against Colgate and Indiana. Pass-minded Colgate, with versatile Guy Martin throwing, might even knock Syracuse off the top of the Eastern independent list if Pittsburgh can roll over Army in another big one in this group.

The title in the Ivy League probably is at stake when Yale meets Princeton in the 7th game of football's oldest continuous rivalry although each will have one more league game. Texas Western and West Texas State have a similar scrap for the Border Conference lead.

On the Pacific Coast, Rose Bowl-eligible Oregon State figures to edge ahead of non-eligible UCLA at Idaho's expense. UCLA has an intersectional tilt with Kansas.

Bastrop Trounces Jonesboro-Hodge Machine, 25 To 0

JONESBORO, La., Nov. 16 (Special)—The Bastrop Rams closed out their season by whipping Jonesboro-Hodge 25-0 here tonight before approximately 500 fans.

It was the local team's final game also, giving them a 1-9 record for the year. The Rams have won three, lost seven and tied one.

A four-yard pass from Frank Naff to Pat Weldon opened the Ram scoring Robert Harper scored the second TD on a two yard plunge. Jimmy Life's extra point run was good making the halftime score: Bastrop 13, Jonesboro-Hodge 0.

Life tallied once in the third quarter and once again in the final period on runs of 9 and 10 yards.

Neville Conquers Ouachita Rivals, 28-13

Monroe's Bengals End First Regular Unbeaten Season

By LEMMIE HIGHTOWER

The fired-up Ouachita Lions took advantage of almost every break that came their way last night but found their cross-town rivals, the powerful Neville Tigers, too much to handle and were forced to drop a hard fought 28-13 decision.

The victory carried the Bengals to the first undefeated regular season for the Forsythe avenue school and sent them into a district playoff with the Golden Tornado of Haynesville, who tripped Bossier City, 19-7, last night. The games were AA conference for Neville and Haynesville.

Making good use of fumbles and interceptions and gambling on first downs throughout the duel, the Lionsters gave the red-hot Tigers their roughest fight of the year.

Pre-game estimations placed the O.P.H.S. organization in the underdog's role and coach Bill Ruple's Tigers wasted no time in letting their opponents know that they would have an uphill battle if they intended to pull out a win.

Neville's Upshaw and Co. opened with their usual vigor to score in less than four minutes. Fullback Mickey Yerger took the initial kickoff and almost galloped to a touchdown, going through the Lion defenders to the Ouachita 49. Only nine plays later quarterback Elton Upshaw plunged over one-half yard to put N.H.S. out front, 6-0.

Ouachita was forced to play the ball after their initial first down which came on their 35. But when quarterback Dickie Crowe tried to open the Lion's passing attack, end Joel Kirby was ready to halt the affair with an interception and the Bengals were ready to roll again from the Lion 47-yard stripe.

Halfback Willie Ragan covered all but two yards of the touchdown journey that required three plays. Terry Reeves carried once for a two yard pick-up before Ragan cut loose with a sprint of 35 yards to set up his 10-yard payoff roll around right tackle. Reeves added his second of four conversions for the evening and the Black and Golds led, 14-0.

Ouachita fans were almost ready to settle down for a miserable game when their first big break presented itself in the opening seconds of the second period.

The Lions foun dtheir attack stalled and were forced to punt from their 30. Ragan received the boot on about his 30-yard line, but the ball slipped away and into the hands of Lion end Billy Roach who appeared to have a clear field to the end zone. Roach spirted away but was brought down on the five-yard chalking by Reeves.

Neville's defensive line fought bitterly to prevent the almost certain tally but halfback Dale Spence plunged over from the one on the fourth down.

A Ouachita fumble on Neville's 35 set the stage for the Tigers third stanza score. Reeves got away on a 39-yard sweep of left end that carried the Bengals to the touchdown door on the Lion's 18. Upshaw elbowed his way from the four for the six points.

Crowe unloaded his passing ability in the final round and pushed the Ouachita machine 53 yards to paydirt. Fred Peters received Crow's 15-yard pitch in the end zone for the actual score. Wayne Van took a toss for the conversion. Neville led, 21-13.

Feeling that the score wos too close to represent their true power the Nevillists took Ouachita's kickoff back for a touchdown. Upshaw found his way through right tackle to the cash-in with only 15 seconds remaining in the game.

The lineups:

Haynesville Tags Bossier Bearcats In 19-7 Scramble

HAYNESVILLE, Nov. 16 (Special)—Haynesville's Golden Tornado struck with fury here this chilly night to blow past Bossier City, 19-7, and move into the co-championship of district 2-AA.

With a big, rugged line that held the Bearcats to only seven yards gained and one first down in the second half, the Tornado scored twice in the second quarter and once in the finale on drives of 55, 72 and 78 yards respectively.

Bossier's lone score upset Haynesville's playoff ideas with only five minutes of the game gone by. The 'Cats capitalized on a quarterback-keeper to score. John Mercer converted.

Haynesville first broke into the scoring march with two and a half minutes gone in the second period. Fullback Eugene Ash climaxed a 55-yard drive to go 12 yards into the end zone. Don Sherman picked up a bad pass from center and ran over the point.

To go out in front 13-7 at the half, Haynesville, getting possession of the pigskin again, rolled on a sustained 72 yard drive that came to pause on the one yarder, from where Charles Wadlington plunged in to score.

Midway the fourth quarter the Tornado moved again, this time drive downfield for 78 yards with Richard Garrett carrying into the end zone from the 12.

Haynesville completely dominated the contest, notching 15 first downs to the visitors' four. Bossier was able to garner but 83 yards on the ground, 76 of those coming in the first half.

The Tornado gained 279 yards rushing and only 12 through the airways. Bossier passed for 14 yards, completing two out of six. Haynesville threw three, hit on two.

Some 4,000 chilled fans watched the Tornado grab the co-title. Haynesville meets Homer here Thanksgiving Day in the Tornado's annual homecoming in the traditional Homer rivalry.

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16 (Special) — With senior halfback Pat Garrett collecting three touchdowns in closing out his high school football career here tonight the Ruston High Bearcats shut out the West Monroe Rebels, 32 to 0.

Roland Jackson accounted for one Ruston touchdown, and "Bud" Alexander got another plus two extra points.

Johnny Murphy set up the first Ruston touchdown early in the first quarter when he pounced on a Rebel fumble on West Monroe's 24. Two plays later Garett plunged over guard from the one.

Jackson, 18-pound Bearcat fullback, slashed through the middle from the 12 for the next touchdown, also in the first quarter, and Alexander followed with the first of his conversions.

A penalty that shook the Rebels back to their one in the second quarter set up a second plunge for Garrett. Alexander made the point.

Alexander opened the second half by blocking a West Monroe punt which he covered in the end zone for a touchdown, and Garrett capped the Ruston touchdown production in the third quarter when he scored from nine yards out.

The three touchdowns ran Garrett's point total for the season to 84.

The Bearcats substituted freely in the final period.

Sicily Island Cops 3rd 'B' Crown, Downs Block

JONESVILLE, La., Nov. 16 (Special) — The Sicily Island High School Tigers notched their third straight district three Class B championship here tonight by defeating the Block High Bears of Jonesville, 12 to 0.

The Islanders and Block had entered the game with undefeated conference records with the district title going to the winner. It was a battle of defenses for three quarters of scoreless ball, before a penalty broke the back of the Bears and started the Tigers on the way to victory.

Block got off a play for an apparent first down, but it was nullified by a penalty that set the Bears back to their ten. Forced to punt, the Bruins kicked out to their 37, and from there the Islanders came storming in a drive to the Block two.

High - scoring Billy Wiggins plunged over for the game's first touchdown, and later in the period he skirted end for eight yards to wrap up the championship delivery to Coach Raymond Peace.

The victory qualified Sicily Island to face Academy of Immaculate Conception of Opelousas, titlist in district four, in a bi-district playoff.

A.I.C. in many quarters, is rated as the team to beat in the state championship race. The Sicily Island-A.I.C. winner will meet Mangham's unbeaten Dragons, winners of 12 straight this year, in a state semi-final playoff. Mangham won its bi-district at Ruston last night by sacking Coushatta, 6-0.

Crowville Defeats Wisner In Battle Of Bulldogs, 27-0

WISNER, La., Nov. 16 (Special) —Crowville recaptured the "rag bulldog" from Wisner here tonight by sweeping a 27-0 victory in the traditional Franklin parish "Battle of the Bulldogs."

In taking its third win of the season against seven losses, Crowville's Bulldogs punched across touchdowns in the first, second and third quarters for their first win over their kinfolk Bulldogs from Wisner in five years.

Although putting up a stubborn and gallant fight to the end, Wisner fell to end an unsuccessful season, failing to notch a single win in nine starts.

The victory returned the "Bulldog" a toy-stuffed replica, to Crowville's trophy case. Wisner relinquished it having holding it for four years.

Crowville's scoring was divided equally by backs Vernon Guy, Bobby Joe Allen, J. T. Johnston and Bobby Caldwell. Big Stanley Hodge converted three times.

Fullback Guy smashed through the Wisner line in the first quarter from the five and halfback Allen ewnt over from the two, also in the initial period. Hodge converted both times.

Another five yard gallop, this one by Johnston, spelled touchdown for the Oliver Poole coached club from Crowville in the second period. Hodge missed his boot from placement.

And in the third stanza, a snappy quarterback-keep by field general Caldwell gave Crowville their final score from the one. Again Hodge kicked good.

Wisner fought hard throughout the contest, but was unable to cope with Crowville's bigger, more experienced line. Wisner halfbacks Grady Stephens and Jerry Childress were outstanding.

Ferriday Romps Over Winnsboro In 45 To 12 Tilt

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 16 (Special) — Ferriday's championship-minded Bulldogs moved closer to another title here tonight by ground ing under Winnsboro's Wildcats, 45-12.

Ferriday jumped to a 6-0 first quarter lead, moved on to a 25-0 margin at the half and was leading 39-0 before the lighter Wildcats could tally in the third period.

The victory put Ferriday in a do-or-die district battle with Tallulah's Trojans here Thanksgiving Day at 2 p.m. Tallulah was idle this week.

Ferriday's touchdowns were scored by Tony Brocato (2), Donny Dave (2), Ronnie Magoun, Dave Dollar and Tommy Brasher. Quarterback Jimmy Marks threw for three and Brasher converted all three of Ferriday's extra points.

The Bulldogs rolled early in the game when Marks passed to Brocato, who traveled 16 yards for the score. The kick failed. Marks passed to Brocato, this time in the second period, for the second touchdown, the passing covering 16 yards and Brocato, 25. Brasher booted good.

Day's first score followed when he swept left end for 30 yards with the conversion failing. Magoun plunged in from the three to end

Ferriday's partisan crowd had no sooner settled back in the cold night when Brasher took Jesse Walker's opening second half kickoff, gathered it in his own 30 and went all the way for the touchdown. The kick failed.

But Daye was not to be denied, scampering around left end again, this time going into the end zone on a 40-yard line. Brasher dropped back, split the uprights and Ferriday led, 39-0.

And then came the Wildcat's bid to glory as little Tommy Earl hit the Ferriday line and went in from the five. The score was set up by quarterback Pete Moore's effective passing.

Vols, Sooners Offer Bad Day For Rebels, Bengals

By HUGH FULERTON JR.
The Associated Press

The plaintive moans of college football coaches seem to indicate that most of today's big games will be played by teams so crippled it will be hard for them to field 11 sound players. But you don't hear any such sounds from Tennessee and Oklahoma, the teams fighting it out for the top ranking.

The sound condition of those squads portends no good for Mississippi and Missouri, the teams they face today. Tennessee wound up just two points ahead of Oklahoma, the former leader, in this week's balloting of sports writers and broadcasters in The Associated Press ranking poll. Both teams obviously will be out to make impressive showings to improve their places in this duel.

Mississippi has the best defensive record—in statistics—of any major college team, but off its losses to Tulane and Arkansas, Ole Miss hardly looks strong enough to stop Tennessee's Johnny Majors & Co. Mississippi still is in the running for a bowl invitation.

Missouri hasn't won a game on Oklahoma's Owen Field in 20 years and, even with the upset incentive of Don Faurot's last game as coach against the Sooners, the Missouri team that has lost four games and tied one hardly seems to have the stuff to stop mighty Oklahoma.

On the other side of the injury picture there's third-ranked Michigan State, which faces Minnesota with three of its top-line players sidelined for the season and three more who may not play today. This is one of two "must" games in the struggle for the Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl bid —which aren't necessarily the same. The other brings together Ohio State and Iowa, currently rated sixth and seventh nationally.

The Big Ten standings show Ohio State in front with four victories and no losses. Michigan State and Iowa, each 4-1, are tied for second with Minnesota (3-1-1) right behind. Defending champion Ohio State is ineligible for the Rose Bowl because of probation and Michigan State because it went there last January. Iowa and Minnesota are eligible, which may add a little to their desire.

Fourth-rated Georgia Tech, also very much in the bowl picture, meets Alabama, a two-game winner this season which shouldn't make much trouble. Texas A&M apparently heading for the Southwest Conference title but ineligible for the Cotton Bowl, takes on Rice, next-to-last in its league. Texas Christian and Southern Methodist, leading bowl candidates in the Southwest, play Texas and Arkansas, respectively.

The other Top Ten teams playing today, Syracuse (9) and Michigan (10) could run into trouble against Colgate and Indiana. Pass-minded Colgate, with versatile Guy Martin throwing, might even knock Syracuse off the top of the Eastern independent list if Pittsburgh can roll over Army in another big one in this group.

The title in the Ivy League probably is at stake when Yale meets Princeton in the 7th game of football's oldest continuous rivalry although each will have one more league game. Texas Western and West Texas State have a similar scrap for the Border Conference lead.

On the Pacific Coast, Rose Bowl-eligible Oregon State figures to edge ahead of non-eligible UCLA at Idaho's expense. UCLA has an intersectional tilt with Kansas.

Bastrop Trounces Jonesboro-Hodge Machine, 25 To 0

JONESBORO La., Nov. 16 (Special)—The Bastrop Rams closed out their season by whipping Jonesboro-Hodge 25-0 here tonight before approximately 500 fans.

It was the local team's final game also, giving them a 1-9 record for the year. The Rams have won three, lost seven and tied one.

A four-yard pass from Frank Naff to Pat Weldon opened the Ram scoring Robert Harper scored the second TD on a two yard plunge. Jimmy Life's extra point run was good making the halftime score: Bastrop 13, Jonesboro-Hodge 0.

Life tallied once in the third quarter and once again in the final period on runs of 9 and 10 yards.

Score by quarters:

Bastrop	0	13	6	6—25

Tech Seeks To Sack Gulf Title Against Northeast

Indians, Bulldogs, In Scrap Tonight On Brown Field

With the Gulf States Conference championship as the prize, the Louisiana Tech gridmen will be going all out to win their season closer here tonight against the Indians of Northeast State.

Undefeated in G.S.C. competition to date, the Techmen are sporting a 3-0-1 loop record and can clinch the coveted conference crown with a victory over the Northeast crew that also will be playing the last game of the 1956 season.

Kickoff time is slated for 8 p.m. at Brown Field and many Tech students and other Bulldog fans are planning to make the trip here for the important contest. Tech's marching band, majorettes, and Blue Jackets, the girls' pep squad, will be on hand to help cheer for the Canines and will give a performance at halftime.

Grid fans are expecting the tussle to turn into a battle of Northeast's strong offense against the stout defense shown all season by the Techmen. Latest G.S.C. statistics show the Redskins leading the loop in rushing offense while the Bulldogs sport the top rushing defense in the league.

Although Tech holds a better won-loss record in conference competition, Northeast's Indians have racked up more victories in all games played.

Coach Devone Payne's Braves have downed Stephen F. Austin, Delta State, Southwestern Louisiana, Southern (Ark.) State, Livingston, and Louisiana College. Only losses were to Southeastern Louisiana, Northwestern Louisiana and McNeese State. However, McNeese has offered to forfeit its win over Northeast because of an ineligible Cowboy player used in the tilt.

The two clubs have met six common foes this season. Tech defeated Southeastern by a 12-6 count and Northeast fell to S.L.C. 0-35. Both elevens whipped Stephen F. Austin, Tech by a 37-14 score and Northeast to the tune of 21-7.

Southwestern Louisiana fell, 33-6 to the Techmen and 45-19 to Indians. Tech beat McNeese in a 6-0 contest while McNeese dumped Northeast, 0-12. The Canines played Northwestern to a scoreless tie and the same N.S.C. squad rolled up a 7-24 win over the Redmen. The Tech-Louisiana College bout was another scoreless tie affair. Northeast outscored the Wildcats, 34-32.

Eleven senior members of the Tech squad will close out their collegiate grid careers in the Saturday night battle. They are: quarterback Bobby Anderson, San Augustine, Tex.; halfback A. L. Williams, Shreveport; fullbacks Gene Jantz, DeRidder, and Jerry Adams Ruston; center Charles Glover, Shreveport; guard Bobby Stone, Tifton, Ga.; tackles Ken Fountain, Shreveport, Jimmy Mardis, Bastrop, and Pat Hinton, Ruston; ends Pat Patterson, Delhi and Billy White, Fitzgerald, Ga.

Northeast's senior roster is slim but includes co-captains Aubrey Wade, Laurel, Miss., and Jimmy Berry, Monroe; Billy Laird, Crowville; Jimmy Childress, Ruston; and Tommy Leos, Monroe, the latter completing his season Oct. 27 against Livingston when he suffered a fractured collarbone.

Tennessee Team Picked To Play In Refrigerator

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 16 (UP) — Middle Tennessee State College of Murfreesboro will meet undefeated Sam Houston State of Huntsville, Tex., in the eighth annual Refrigerator Bowl football game here Dec. 1.

The Tennessee team, which has won 6 of 8 starts this season and still has one game to go, was named late Thursday, a few hours after Sam Houston State was picked.

Middle Tennesse is a member of the Ohio Valley Conference. It plays Tennessee Tech on Thanksgiving day in its last regularly scheduled game of the season.

It will be the Tennesseeans' first appearance in Indiana's only traditional bowl game. Houston played in the classic three years ago and beat College of Idaho 14-12.

Winter Duck Population Hunting Protected Areas

BY SAM HANNA

Some 25,000 mallards are among 80,000 ducks currently finding refuge in Northeast Louisiana's gun-noisy lakes, bayous and potholes, according to the latest check by the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries.

Waterfowl biologist R. K. Yancey at Ferriday reports that second to mallards in game birds now winging through the area are gadwall and green wing teal, numbering to a total of 8,000 each.

Unfortunately (for the hunters), the greatest concentrations of mallards in this area are on the Coulee Refugee, where 5,000 were estimated by Yancey on his recent tour.

But any nimrod who has fought the mosquitoes and ill-odored slush of Wham has learned already that most ducks have flown the verbial coop to more isolated and protected grounds, preferrably the sandbars along the Mississippi river.

Yancey's survey was made by flying the state, north to south, revealing a healthy concentration of 318,000 mallards now offering waterfowl's most choice target to Louisiana gunners.

(Aerial photos taken are projected to reveal the almost exact number of ducks and geese on the target waterway).

Locally, wild life district supervisor Joe L. Herring reports a good first leg season on Wham and Black Bayou. Some local hunters are ranking the latter for best shooting in the Monroe area.

Only traces of blue wing teal and redheads have made the bayou state home and the pesky wood duck is here in great number—18,000 in this area alone.

Baldpates and pintails have flown in by groups of 2,000 respectively while some 500 blue geese and 100 snow geese have been counted.

The greatest majority of teal is on Catahoula lake, Herring said, but numerous Monroe hunters have bagged the pot-ideal frequently on Wham and Black Bayou.

The over-all Louisiana picture shows 1,847,000 ducks, 416,300 geese and 113,000 coots compared to last year at this time of 1,610,000 ducks, 434,000 geese and 122,000 coots.

Only in southeast Louisiana, where 85,000 mallards were found, has the hunting held up in the favorite shooting spots. But the popular marshes of the southwest area can still claim the most, a total of 175,000 mallards.

Brundage Blasts Nations Pulling Out Of Olympics

MELBOURNE, Nov. 16 (AP) — Avery Brundage, militant president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), came to Melbourne tonight with praise for Olympic preparations and a sharp blast at countries which pulled out of the games.

He also said he doubted there would be any successful protests aainst aggressor nations, such as Russia, because "the Olympic Games belong to the people. They are contests for individuals and not of nations."

Brundage said he had heard rumors of possible protests but none had come officially to his attention. Supporters of Hungary were reported ready to ask the IOC to bar Russia from the games because of military intercession in Hungary.

Brundage said: "Every civilized person should be appalled by the savage slaughter in Hungary, but that is no reason to destroy the nucleus of the good will of this great festival."

Then he added: "If we called off the games every time politicians got the world in a mess, we never would have the games."

Brundage said he was keenly disappointed at the withdrawal of six nations and was particularly shocked by the action of Switzerland, 'the seat of our Olympic headquarters." The Swiss had reconsidered their original decision to withdrawal, but then stayed home anyway after announcing they had been unable to find air transportation to Melbourne.

Russell Will Take Care Of Russia's Towering Center

MELBOURNE, Nov. 16 (UP)—Coach Gerald Tucker predicted Friday that All-America center Bill Russell "will take good care" of Russia's seven-foot, two-inch Yanis Kruminish in the Olympic basketball competition.

"We're not cocky" the 34-year old coach of the United States squad said. "But we've never lost the Olympic basketball championship and we're not going to start now."

The Russians have issued a direct challenve to the United States Olympic basketball superiority this year and point to Krumish as their answer to the height advantage America usually enjoys in their games. Krumish starred in a practice game with a weak Australian team here, scoring so many points that the Aussies lost count of the total.

But the prospect of handling the towering Russian isn't worrying Tucker.

"I haven't seen this fellow Kruminish," he admitted. "But I'll bet he doesn't outjump our Russell."

Russell, the two-time All-America who led San Francisco University to a record 58 consecutive victories during the last two seasons, stands "only" six feet, nine and 5-8ths inches. But the 200-pound Negro has high-jumped 6 feet, 9 3-4 inches (the Olympic record is 6 feet, 8 1-4 inches) and has handled even bigger opponents than the Russians' pride and joy.

Chief among these was Swede Halbrook, 7-foot, 3-inch center for Oregon State whom Russell stopped twice during the 1954-55 season. In the NCAA regional at Corvallis that year, Russell outscored Halbrook, 29-18, and handled him with ease under both backboards.

U. S. basketball experts figure that Kruminish will turn out to be in just about Halbrook's class.

Russell, the two-time All-America who led San Francisco University to a record 58 consecutive victories during the last two seasons, stands "only" six feet, nine and 5-8ths inches. But the 200-pound Negro has high-jumped 6 feet, 9 3-4 inches (the Olympic record is 6 feet, 8 1-4 inches) and has handled even bigger opponents than the Russians' pride and joy.

Chief among these was Swede Halbrook, 7-foot, 3-inch center for Oregon State whom Russell stopped twice during the 1954-55 season. In the NCAA regional at Corvallis that year, Russell outscored Halbrook, 29-18, and handled him with ease under both backboards.

U. S. basketball experts figure that Kruminish will turn out to be in just about Halbrook's class.

Tennessee Team Picked To Play In Refrigerator

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 16 (UP) — Middle Tennessee State College of Murfreesboro will meet undefeated Sam Houston State of Huntsville, Tex., in the eighth annual Refrigerator Bowl football game here Dec. 1.

The Tennessee team, which has won 6 of 8 starts this season and still has one game to go, was named late Thursday, a few hours after Sam Houston State was picked.

Middle Tennesse is a member of the Ohio Valley Conference. It plays Tennessee Tech on Thanksgiving day in its last regularly scheduled game of the season.

It will be the Tennesseeans' first appearance in Indiana's only traditional bowl game. Houston played in the classic three years ago and beat College of Idaho 14-12.

Million Dollar Structure Begun At Grambling

GRAMBLING, Nov. 16 (Special)—Contractors have started work on a one million dollar science building at Grambling College.

Modern in concept and colorful in character, the structure is being described by state education leaders as possibly the most outstanding facility of its kind among Negro educational institutions in the country.

It will enable Grambling to offer a wide range of science courses made impossible in the past because of limited space and facilities.

The structure was designed by Van Os and Flaxman, Shreveport architects, and will be erected by Baton Rouge Contractor George A. Caldwell.

Caldwell's contract calls for completion of the structure in 400 working days.

Designers of the project said the building, the exterior of which will be brick veneer and steel construction, was drawn to harmonize with the architectural style currently existing on the campus.

The first floor of the 60,000 square-feet two-story project will consist of botany, physiology, bacteriology, embryology, zoology, entomology, micro-technique and general biology laboratories. An animal room will complement the physiology laboratory and a greenhouse is planned in connection with the botany laboratory.

Organic chemistry, analytical chemistry, food chemistry, physical chemistry, general physics, heat, optics, constant temperature and two large general chemistry laboratories will be situated on the second floor.

In addition, four research laboratories, 10 lecture demonstration rooms, a library and reading rooms, staff and administrative offices and a science lecture hall accommodating 325 are included in architect's drawings.

Mechanically ventilated throughout, the science hall will be air conditioned. The building will be constructed of concrete frame and floors.

Walls of the building will be fully insulated. Floors of the laboratories consist of acid-resistant materials, and terrazzo floors will cover lobbies and corridors. A general masonry finish will be placed on interiors.

Elgart Orchestra Slated To Appear At Tech Dec. 6

RUSTON, Nov. 16 (Special)—Les Elgart and his orchestra will appear at Louisiana Tech Dec. 6 for the annual Christmas formal sponsored by the Louisiana Tech Student Union. The orchestra will be featured in a concert at Howard Auditorium from 8 until 9 p.m. and will play at the dance from 9:30 until 12 p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium.

Ticket prices are $3 per couple for the concert and dance, $2 per couple for the dance and $1 per person for the concert.

The dance will be semi-formal.

Officials Of VA And FHA To Talk Before Realtors

Officials of the veterans administration and the federal housing administration will address the members of the Monroe - West Monroe Board of Realtors at the regular meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Lotus Club.

E. H. Lyon, chief underwriter of the FHA, J. Wayne Medley, appraiser for the Monroe office of the FHA, T. H. Tullos and George Pylant, will discuss what is taking place in the VA and FHA.

Those Employed At Higher Total In Monroe Area

Total employment "marked up' another gain as it increased in October to 25,250 gainfully employed workers, thus more or less conforming to the establishes seasonal trend for the Monroe area. Employment continues to have a margin of 900 over the comparable month of 1955, when the level of employment was 24,350. Workers have been added throughout the year to take care of expansions and increased production in various industries. New industries have been influencing factors also.

The small increase in lumber and wood products, resulting from the addition of workers in new industries as they increase production was not sufficient to offset losses in other industries in the manufacturing group, which resulted from seasonal changes. Manufacturing has netted a gain of 75 workers over the comparable month of 1955.

In non - manufacturing the increase of major significance was in contract construction. Residential construction continues at a high level throughout the area. Expansions in the schools, industry, and in various facilities of the Twin Cities have been favorable for the constructional group.

Employment in firms engaged in oil and gas production reported a minor loss, as workers hired for the summer months for temporary work were laid off. Wholesale trade and service reflected a slight increase with other industries remaining stable.

There were approximately 4,900 engaged in the cotton harvest and various other harvesting activities on October 15, but there was a noticeable decline in the number employed by the latter part of the month. The advanced season in the cotton harvest and automation in agriculture has resulted in the harvest being about 8 per cent complete. This has not had a significant affect on unemployment as many of the workers who engage in seasonal agricultural work return to their household duties, or enter other types of employment and are soon absorbed in the employed segment of the labor force.

Real Estate Transfers

The following real estate transfers were recorded in the office of the Ouachita parish clerk of court Friday:

Tech Management Students Visit Shreveport Firm

RUSTON, Nov. 16 (Special)—Louisiana Tech's class in office management, with the instructor, Mrs. Fairy C. McBride, visited the offices of United Gas Company in Shreveport recently. While the tour was under the leadership of V. E. Rasch, personnel manager, the students were presented to other officials of the company including W. D. Parker, Joe Sullivan, H. Frazier, and Don MacRoberts.

The following members of the class made the trip:

New Members Are Added By Civitan Club's Efforts

Three new members were inducted into the Civitan at the meeting Thursday night at La Casa tearoom. They were M. Spain, E. F. Nolan and B. Frank Maxwell. David C. Carter and Kenneth E. Griswold, who will be inducted into membership at the next meeting, were present as guests of H. H. Brinsmade.

Interest centered in the new memberships, as a lively contest has been held for two months and will end November 30, with two rival teams in the contest.

If five new members are obtained the club will receive an honorable mention award for success in the contest.

Kenneth Griswold, director of the Cerebral Palsy school in Selman field, told of some features of the work. He was introduced as speaker by Capt. J. W. Faler.

The closing feature of the program was an interesting Thanksgiving talk by the club's chaplain, Rev. Ralph Cain. He told of the experiences in a new land of the Pilgrims in their settlement at Plymouth, Mass.

MISS MARY FAULKNER

Miss Mary Faulkner, 52, formerly of West Monroe, died at 3 a. m. Friday in a New Orleans hospital, following a lingering illness. She was a resident of New Orleans at the time of her death.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Kilpatrick Funeral Home chapel in West Monroe with the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Choudrant cemetery under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral Home.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Faulkner of West Monroe; one sister, Mrs. Sam W. Haile of Monroe; four brothers, C. L. Faulkner of Ruston, C. C. Faulkner of Charleston, S. C., O. E. Faulkner of El Dorado, Ark., and C. R. Faulkner of Longview, Tex.; and a number of nieces and nephews.

The body will lie in state at the Kilpatrick Funeral Home until the time of the funeral.

PATRICK M. RAWLES

WINNSBORO, Nov. 16 (Special)—Patrick Milton Rawles, 63, a resident of Winnsboro, died in a Monroe hospital Friday morning after a lengthy illness.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel H. Rawles of Winnsboro; four sons, Rev. W. L. Rawles of Winnsboro, Avery Rawles, Natchez, Miss., Ray Rawles of Modesto, Calif., and A-1C Jessie Rawles of Langley AFB, Va.; three daughters, Mrs. Marie Temple of Winnsboro, Mrs. Ethel Lee Jackson of Bastrop, Mrs. Wannette Everett of Riverbank, Calif.; two brothers, John Rawles and Archie Rawles both of Laurel, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. E. J. Clark of Laurel, Miss., and Mrs. Epsie Hankins of Ellisville, Miss.; and 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Liberty Baptist Church near Crowville with the Rev. Clarence Welch officiating, assisted by Rev. Dave Wynn. Arrangements for burial are incomplete, but will be under the direction of the First National Funeral Home.

The body will lie in state at the Rawles home in the Swampers community until the time of the services.

EDWARD EUGENE LACAR

RAYVILLE, Nov. 16 (Special) — Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Zebedee Baptist church for Edward Eugene LaCar, who was killed in a fall from the motor vessel Sarah Kate, which was docked for minor repairs in Memphis, Tenn.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Thelma Cheek LaCar, four sons, Wayman, Harvey, Glyn and James and one daughter, Patricia, all of Rayville; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis J. LaCar of Winnfield; three brothers, Earnest and Willis LaCar of Pensacola, Fla., and Melvin LaCar of the U. S. Naval station, San Diego, Calif.; five sisters, Mrs. Paul Scott of Georgetown; Mrs. N. C. Nugent and Mrs. C. C. Maxie of Monroe; Mrs. E. G. Snead of Lillian, Ala., and Mrs. James Johnson of Greenwich, R. I.; his paternal grandparents in Winnfield and a number of nieces and nephews.

Interment was in the Zebedee cemetery.

Fire Damage To House Is $1,000

A fire originating in a floor furnace in the home of Calvin Perritt, 1104 Arkansas, in West Monroe Friday morning, caused about $1,000 damage, West Monroe firemen estimated.

Fire consumed the floor near the furnace and burned a partition. The family was absent when the fire was discovered. Neighbors telephoned in the alarm.

Companies two, three, seven and eight answered the call.

MISS MARY FAULKNER

Miss Mary Faulkner, 52, formerly of West Monroe, died at 3 a. m. Friday in a New Orleans hospital, following a lingering illness. She was a resident of New Orleans at the time of her death.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Kilpatrick Funeral Home chapel in West Monroe with the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Choudrant cemetery under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral Home.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Faulkner of West Monroe; one sister, Mrs. Sam W. Haile of Monroe; four brothers, C. L. Faulkner of Ruston, C. C. Faulkner of Charleston, S. C., O. E. Faulkner of El Dorado, Ark., and C. R. Faulkner of Longview, Tex.; and a number of nieces and nephews.

The body will lie in state at the Kilpatrick Funeral Home until the time of the funeral.

PATRICK M. RAWLES

WINNSBORO, Nov. 16 (Special) —Patrick Milton Rawles, 63, a resident of Winnsboro, died in a Monroe hospital Friday morning after a lengthy illness.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel H. Rawles of Winnsboro; four sons, Rev. W. L. Rawles of Winnsboro, Avery Rawles, Natchez, Miss., Ray Rawles of Modesto, Calif., and A-1C Jessie Rawles of Langley AFB, Va.; three daughters, Mrs. Marie Temple of Winnsboro, Mrs. Ethel Lee Jackson of Bastrop, Mrs. Wannette Everett of Riverbank, Calif.; two brothers, John Rawles and Archie Rawles both of Laurel, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. E. J. Clark of Laurel, Miss., and Mrs. Epsie Hankins of Ellisville, Miss.; and 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be helo Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Liberty Baptist Church near Crowville with the Rev. Clarence Welch officiating, assisted by Rev. Dave Wynn. Arrangements for burial are incomplete, but will be under the direction of the First National Funeral Home.

The body will lie in state at the Rawles home in the Swampers community until the time of the services.

EDWARD EUGENE LACAR

RAYVILLE, Nov. 16 (Special) — Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Zebedee Baptist church for Edward Eugene LaCar, who was killed in a fall from the motor vessel Sarah Kate, which was docked for minor repairs in Memphis, Tenn.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Thelma Cheek LaCar, four sons, Wayman, Harvey, Glyn and James and one daughter, Patricia, all of Rayville; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis J. LaCar of Winnfield; three brothers, Earnest and Willis LaCar of Pensacola, Fla., and Melvin LaCar of the U. S. Naval station, San Diego, Calif.; five sisters, Mrs. Paul Scott of Georgetown; Mrs. N. C. Nugent and Mrs. C. C. Maxie of Monroe; Mrs. E. G. Snead of Lillian, Ala., and Mrs. James Johnson of Greenwich, R. I.; his paternal grandparents in Winnfield and a number of nieces and nephews.

Interment was in the Zebedee cemetery.

Fire Damage To House Is $1,000

A fire originating in a floor furnace in the home of Calvin Perritt, 1104 Arkansas, in West Monroe Friday morning, caused about $1,000 damage, West Monroe firemen estimated.

Fire consumed the floor near the furnace and burned a partition. The family was absent when the fire was discovered. Neighbors telephoned in the alarm.

Companies two, three, seven and eight answered the call.

German Escapee Now In Jackson With Two Uncles

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 16 (AP)—A 20-year-old German woman, recently freed from a Russian prison camp where her father remains, arrived in Jackson today after a 31-hour flight to freedom.

Miss Johanna Conrad, niece of Fritz and Franz Schluetter who met her at the airport, flashed a bright smile as she stepped off of the airplane into the arms of her uncles.

She told reporters that Russian police arrived at her home in East Germany last February and arrested her and her parents. She did not know the charge.

After a month in jail, she and her mother were released and they immediately made plans to flee.

A few weeks ago, they slipped over the border into Frankfurt. Her mother remained while she boarded a plane for the United States.

Her uncles plan to keep her in Jackson for a while and then send her to visit an aunt, Mrs. Hedwig Schluetter, in Detroit, Mich.

'Voice' Contest Winner Named At Lake Providence

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 16 (Special) — Miss Linda Gail Oswalt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brady Oswalt, was the winner in the "Voice of Democracy" contest sponsored by the Lake Providence Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Seven finalists were presented to the student body on Tuesday morning, when the final judging was done. Serving as judges were Mrs. Georgia Payne Pinkston, Mrs. Helen Hyde and Frank Voelker, Jr.

L. E. Townsend, Jr., president of the Lake Providence Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented Miss Oswalt with a cash award of $15.00 for winning first place. The other six contestants, Lummie Jenkins, Elizabeth Davis, Dick Muirhead, Deanna Haggard, Ernest Davenport, and Shirley Johnson, all received $5.00 each.

Mrs. Lloyd Clement, faculty member of the Lake Providence High school, worked with the contestants during the time they were preparing their speeches and when the elimination contests were held. The seven finalists were chosen from a field of 20, and were all members or former members of Mrs. Clements' speech class.

As an added attraction to the morning's program, a pantomine of "Playmates" was presented by Linda Vickery, Jeane Earle and Linda Davidson.

Spanish War Aux. Chooses Officers For Coming Year

The United Spanish War Veterans' Auxiliary, Thompson Wood Lee chapter, met with Mrs. Anna Trousdale, with President Mary Hood presiding. Reports were rendered, and the charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Stella Courtney, who died last month.

Upon report of the nominating committee, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. H. L. Morrow, president; Mrs. Odis Davis, senior president; Mrs. Evie Johnson, junior president; Mrs. Ida Hawkins, chaplain; Mrs. Alma McKee, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Eula Morgan, historian; Anna Trousdale, conductor; Mary Bowles, assistant; Mrs. Laura Slator, guard; Dell Robinson, assistant; Mamie Arnette, secretary-treasurer.

After the closing of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Minnie Maugham. The installation of the new officers will take place in Decemoer.

Cast Selected For Tech Threater Comedy Production

RUSTON, Nov. 16 (Special)—Eight students of Louisiana Tech have been selected for the cast of "Arms and a Man," the major production of the fall semester by the Tech Theater Players. The three-act comedy by George Bernard Shaw, will run for four nights, Dec. 11-14, in the Little Theater at the college.

Named to the cast are the following: Charis Wedgeworth, Hammond, as Catherine Petkoff; Virginia Russell, Castor, as Raina Petkoff; Theresa McMichael, Shreveport, as Louka; Alan Brown, Baton Rouge, as Captain Bluntschle; Kenneth Cummings, Arcadia, as the Russian officer; Gary Young, Ruston, as Nicola; James Lyon, Ruston, as Major Paul Petkoff; and Phillip Osborne, Carthage, Tex., as Major Sergius Saranoff.

Scene of the play is Hungary in 1885 during wartime, but the incidents could apply to any people involved in warfare.

"Arms and a Man" has proven popular in the past, and the well-known operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier," was taken from the play.

Rebelaire Gives Selection Of 24 Staff Members

The selection of 24 staff members to head activities for the 1957 West Monroe High school yearbook, the Rebelaire, was announced Friday following a meeting of the Rebelaire workers.

Spearheading the editorial staff is Rose Hibbard, editor. Others to be working with her are Ann Colvin, associate editor; Anita Dell Allen, feature editor; Freddy Webb and Thomas Vessel, co-sports editors; Frances Phillips, Angelia Richie and Ruth McCullough, club editors; Sue Weir, Carolyn Hancock and Nancy Kelly, class editors; Jesse Bergeron, Spiller Milton Kenneth Barkley and Houston Roark, circulation managers, and Mary Nell Averett and Tistie Wiggins, art editors.

Those on the business staff are Patsy Brown, business manager Gwen Dunn, advertising manager, and Beverly Halsell, Gladys Halsell, Marilyn Curtis, Carolyn Curtis, and Glenda Owens, advertising agents.

The publication of the Rebelaire is an annual project of the senior class of W. M. H. S. The editorial work is done by a staff of seniors carefully selected according to dependability, service, scholarship and leadership.

Finances for the yearbook are handled by the business staff, whose members are chosen from those collecting the most money from the sale of ads.

The members of both the editorial and business staffs are striving, with the aid of their sponsors, to produce an annual that reflects student life at West Monroe, and one that will recall memories in the future.
